

PLANE

L.T. - Cds. July 11, 1961.

The United Airlines jet that crashed at Denver-was enroute from ~~Chicago~~ ^{Philadelphia} to Los Angeles. Apparently one of the tires gave way - as the ~~air~~ airliner hit the runway.
The big plane, spinning - skidding. Slamming into a truck - bursting into flames. An inferno - with a-hundred-and-sixteen people inside. Many scrambled out - in a panic.
The rest of the survivors, pulled out - by rescue squads.
The toll - around twenty dead. ^{More than that} ~~About the same~~ number - injured.

PAKISTAN

The reception in Washington for the ~~Prime Minister~~^{President} of Pakistan - has a special meaning. Naturally ~~Gen.~~^{Gen.} Mohammed Ayub Khan would get the red carpet treatment - as the representative of a great nation. Bands, flags, honor guard, twenty-one gun salute - and so on.

But there^{are} international problems, involved in this visit. For one thing, Ayub Khan is a strong ally - of the West. And his nation is located - in a sensitive part of the globe. Bordering - the Soviet Union. Secondly, there's that dispute - between Pakistan and India. The ~~isn~~ issue - Kashmir.

So there'll be a lot of political talk - in the White House. Tonight? Ah, that's something else. President Kennedy and the First Lady, holding a state dinner - on the lawn at Mount Vernon. Guest of honor - our Visitor from Pakistan.

AID

There seems to be a difference of opinion on Capitol Hill - as to whether the administration foreign aid bill is going ~~to~~ through. Democratic leaders who talked with President Kennedy at the White House today - predicted quick passage of the bill. As Speaker Sam Rayburn put it - "I think the American people are willing to pay for freedom."

But the chairman of the House Appropriations sub-committee - feels differently, Otto Passman, objecting to - the long - term clauses in the aid bill.

EISENHOWER

At his Gettysburg news conference, today - Dwight D. Eisenhower warned Americans not to become hysterical. Our former Chief Executive, pointing out - that the Berlin situation is indeed explosive, ^{with} ~~causing~~ a real danger - of a major war. But ^{Gen.} ~~Mr.~~ Eisenhower added quickly - that all of us should realize how strong America is. Which would put a stop to those who keep asking - whether ~~we~~ we can defend ourselves, and the free world, against Communist aggression.

What about President Kennedy's handling - of the Berlin crisis? Mr. Eisenhower simply advised the entire country - to stand behind the man who has to deal with the ~~xi~~ crisis. Give President Kennedy the support he needs - in a perilous period of history. That's the Eisenhower advice.

GENERAL

The most decorated man in the French army - has been sentenced to ~~his~~ death. General Raoul Salan - once the idol of France. Graduate - of the Saint Cyr military academy, Rising rapidly through the grades - during and after World War Two. Salan, ^{was} Commander in Chief - when the French made ~~xxxxxx~~ their bid to hold Indo-China. After the defeat, he was assigned - to Algeria, ~~and that - tells the story.~~ where Salan, ~~becoming~~ a ring leader of the rebellion - against DeGaulle. Fleeing - after the movement collapsed. Still - in hiding. ^{he is} Sentenced to death - in absentia. ~~The~~ ~~end of the trail - for~~ "The most decorated man in the French Army."

COSMONAUT

Today's mob scenes in London surprised everybody - including the Prime Minister. A staid reception had been planned for - Soviet Cosmonaut, Yuri Gagarin. No one thought the British public would go wild - over the first man to orbit the earth. Still - that's what happened. ^{Tens of} Thousands of Londoners, crowding around Gagarin - shouting, pushing, trampling one another. It took a flying wedge of bobbies - to get him through.

Tonight - Yuri Gagarin is Britain's man of the hour. In his pocket, an invitation to tea - at Buckingham Palace.

MACARTHUR

There's an ironic twist in today's events - in Manila. No, not the fact that General MacArthur received - an honorary degree. The old soldier has ~~an closet full of~~ a long string of degrees - from many institutions. The irony is - the place that ~~is~~ gave him the degree. The lyceum of the Philippines - founded by his greatest enemies. The institute, set up by the Japanese occupation government - during World War II, ~~After~~ MacArthur had left - Corregidor. After all of the Philippine Islands - had fallen to the enemy.

So you might say it was because of his early defeats in World War II -- that Douglas MacArthur can now call himself a doctor of the lyceum.

TRILBY,

A dispatch from Genoa sounds like something out of the novel - "Trilby." That business of Svengali hypnotizing Trilby - controlling her will.

Actually, the Genoa story is more fantastic - because the victim belongs to one of Europe's most aristocratic families. Princess Eliza Caseratto - Borghese. Her family, prominent in Italy - since the renaissance. They built the famous Borghese Palace - in Rome.

For the past ten years Princess Eliza has been living - in a Genoese palace. Today the Carabinieri produced - an explanation. The Princess - a prisoner all the time. Not physically - but mentally.

Her Svengali - well, there are a couple of them. Vladimir Von Hoynigen and Louisa Zanetti. The accusation is that they used hypnotism - to dominate the Borghese Princess. Controlling - her will. Making her want - what they wanted. The sinister pair, persuading her - to stay strictly secluded in her palace. Refusing - visitors.

Giving them power of attorney - over her estate, her money, and her valuables.

The scheme, working for - ten years. Vladimer and Louisa, doing a lot better with Princess Elisa Borghese - than Svengali ever did with Trilby.

DESSERT

Here's a warning against ever taking a short cut - in the Mojave Desert. Raymond Miller of Fresno, California - was driving home from Arizona. In the car with him - "Gretchen" his big Weimaraner.

Miller was in a hurry - so he turned off the main road, and drove deep into the Mojave with the temperature at a hundred and twenty. Inevitably, he ran out of gas in a desolate spot - with not a sign of life anywhere around.

He realized that he'd have to make it - on foot. So off he started - with his dog trotting along side. They kept slogging ahead for six hours, and Miller was growing desperate - when suddenly he spotted a sign pointing to an oasis.

It looked like - safety at last. But as night fell - the oasis turned out to be - a water hole for coyotes. They came snarling out of the desert in search of water - and Miller ~~was~~ says they would have killed him if it hadn't been for his Weimaraner. "Gretchen" spent every night - fighting the coyotes. Killing several - driving the rest off.

Keeping watch over her master - until help arrived. Two inspectors, arriving at the oasis - finding ~~an~~ man and dog in fair shape after almost a week in the desert. Both,

Dick - finally overjoyed - at the thought of getting out of the Mojave.

BASEBALL

The all star game out in San Francisco's Candlestick Park - proves at least one thing. Yankee Southpaw Whitey Ford is still suffering from - that all star hex. The Yankee ace has never been able to win - a clash between the two leagues. He had lost twice - going into today's game. Since he's won more games than any other pitcher ~~in~~ this season - he thought the time had come for his all star break-through.

What happened? Whitey Ford gave up - only one run. The trouble was that Warren Spahn - didn't allow any. So when Ford left at the end of the third inning, according to the all star rules - he was behind, one to nothing. Meaning - he couldn't win the game. But - he could ~~lose~~ lose it. The 9th was a wild inning, with the Amer. League getting off the hook. As for the final result - I'm sure you all know that.
