PACIFIC Standard Tuesday, Merch 31, 1944.

The latest from the southwest Pacific pictures giant American battleships hurling a deluge of shells against the Japanese base at Kavieng in New Ireland.

A hundred tons of high explosive missixes hit the Japs

At the same time, American forces have seized a couple of islands in the St. Mathias group. Only slight resistance encountered, and the capture of the islands seems to be connected with ponderous naval bombardment of Kavieng. The new American acquisitions in the St. Mathias group are north of Kavieng, and outflank both that base and also Rabaul - cutting off the Japanese lines of reinforcement.

The Navy Department in Washington announces the sinking of fifteen more Japanese ships by American submarines. And in London the word today is - seven Jap vessels destroyed by British subs.

General MacArthur announces the wiping out of an enemy convoy of five ships off New Guinea, Snited States benders and that job.

All of which adds up to a total of twenty-seven more Jap ships consigned to the bottom of the Pacification with Secretary of the Mary Frank Know telling us today that our Far Bastern enemies face an acute supply problem, because of their loss of ships.

F.C.C. Chairman, lases h. Fly, one replied by entling

In Congress today it was charged that a Navy task force was trapped by the Japs in Alaskan waters, because of what is called - "bungling." The bungling is blanced on is said to have been to blassed the Federal communications Commission. Representative Louis Miller of Missouri made the accusation, but gave no details of what happened when the Navy task force was trapped - some time ago, it is said. The only naval engagement that would correspondent to the alleged event was one in which our forces sustained what was described as - minor damage.

The charge of bungling was answered by the F.C.C. Chairman, James L. Fly, who replied by calling the story - "irresponsible. Throwing a sneak-punch."

And he said the allegation by the Congressman was made in the hopes of catching a headline with what the Chairman called "his, daily booby trap."

The news from Burma is not good - with word today that the Japs now are within fifteen miles of the border of India. This is stated in a communique from the headquarters of Lord Louis Mountbatten, a communique which explains that the Japs have surged across the Chindwin River in upper Burma, and are continuing what the Mountbatten bulletin calls - "a general westward movement."

SERFIER.

The latest is an enemy claim that the Japs have crossed the frontier into India, penetrating

Indian territory in the western part of the Valley of the Chindwin River.

and in almost at classifying the confuctor versupaine duried walteles toward the war in Europe and it has low extention to essure then their Seriel Sonnie is playing discount to The seventeen point program calls for a

Willows soif, and that the Sorieta and the British 190 would evetes embodying a good-neighbor policy, and a role of jurise, corridty and law - a relevable succession

are departing from the principles of the helentic

Tonight the State Department makes public a declaration by Secretary Hull, who sets forth an outline of American foreign policy - including a restatement of our adherence to the Atlantic Charter. The summary given out is aimed at clarifying the confusion concerning our policies toward the war in Europe and it has its relation to assumptions that Soviet Russia is playing the part of a lone wolf, and that the Soviets and the British too are departing from the principles of the Atlantic Charter.

The seventeen point program calls for a world system embodying a good-neighbor policy, and a rule of justice, morality and law - a rule with adequate force to suppress aggressors. He proposes an international court to dispose of justice between nations and he declares that agreements between the United States, Great Britain and the Soviets have laid the foundations of a cooperative effort whereby small peace-loving nations will be enabled to live in peace and security.

The Secretary of State argues that the American, British, Russian discussions, eliminate the need of spheres of influence, alliances and balance-ofpower arrangements. He decries the sort of set-up through which, as Secretary Hull says, "in the unhappy past the nations strove to safeguard the security and promote their interests. " A watch must be kept on aggressors until such war-making nations demonstrate their good-will and ability to live at peace. And economic measures must be taken to see that the raw materials and markets of the world are fairly open to all.

Secretary Hull, in his Seventeen Points,

Posffirms the pledge of the Atlantic Charter, according

Physical Com

The latest from the Balkans pictures the Nazis as seizing xxxxxxx all vital communications, not only in Hungary but also in Rumania and Bulgaria.

pro-Cardia tractalions, are asset to the story of age place to set up a passet where The former house of the Buddeout reside ore althor to tast estimate to factions. Supartuburant Locant Admiral Borths, White big days of their state of the contract of the temperature in the con-

terior of local class, while the topoge temperature

Eraples the reserved to have find to a compre district.

Just how much opposition the havin have eacountered in their among prompation of Stagery to make Sungarden patriots and Jast traces, while ather recommend

Delicate application or service the country with little

Roote he in organizing a fight equinat the Germann.

Clear, I have someone woment without alastes between

In Hungary, newly seized by the Nazis, the Hitler people are trying to set up a Quisling government. Various Hungarian politicians and military officers with pro-German reputations, are named in the story of Nazi plans to set up a puppet state. The former heads of the Budapest regime are either in Nazi captivity or figitives. RuguatxHarthy Regent Admiral Horthy, the big shot of them all, is said to be imprisoned in the First city of Koenigsberg, while the former Hungarian Premier is reported to have fled to a country district, where he is organizing a fight against the Germans.

Just how much opposition the Nazis have encountered in their sudden occupation of Hungary is not clear. Some sources report violent clashes between Hungarian patriots and Nazi troops, while other accounts indicate that Hitler grabbed the country with little trouble. In any case, Hungary, after having been a

Nazi satellite, is now in the condition of a conquered local - with a hundred thousand German troops in full control.

We hear that the purpose of the Hitler move was partly to persuade Rumania to stay in line -Rumania already invaded by the triumphant forces of the Soviet. Admiral Horthy's government in Hungary seems to have had ideas of getting out of the war, and the Hasis seted to check that. And the other Backen satellites have jittery notions about the possibility. discouraged by what happened to Hungary. Apparently. noving is an offert to show that they still hosp the underdege under foot.

FOLLOW HUNGARY

One late story is that Hungarian deputies, who escaped from the Nazi occupation of Budapest last night, are trying to form a new independent government - anti-Hitler.

which wife, and is rolling our of top opened. And appro-branch have but the last retired him jeft to then

Language Signer of the contract of the contract of the termething Mountains, and that her a seemd to every reflections. There has been a good seal of surgine after their loss as all their conquests to Rusers, wanted by clone the Corpettioner a mateer and reggest that the new line which the devance sight top to formal

Moreover, the Suspisor gov within might of the Sangtone-ig-northway Decomposition universe within rooter but very beamerable in a lamine property

Tonight a Soviet troops have driven nineteen miles into the Rumanian Province of Bessarabia.

They are that far beyond the frontier of the Dniester.
The Soviet advance into Bessarabia is on a front fifty miles wide, and is rolling on at top speed.

Red army.

troops have cut the last railroad line left to the Germans in northern Bessarabia, and are within twenty-five miles of the Prut River, which is the border between Bessarabia and Rumania proper.

Moreover, the Russians are within sight of the Carpathian Mountains, and that has a sound to evoke reflections. There has been a good deal of surmise that the new line which the Germans might try to form after their loss of all their conquests in Russia, would be along the Carpathians - a steep and rugged range. Russia is a vast flat plain, and the Carpathians are the first chain of mountains to be encountered all the way west from the Urals, which border Siberia.

RUSSIA

The locate front farming and selection but already

Mittery C. aleman

the state of the s

The A laten Discretion with a Distant Lynna and the second of the second of the second of County to provide the provide the second

April of the second of the Contract Section 18 and

Here is something about the Second Front from an officer who should know - General Montgomery, the British leader of victories, who is to command the Allied ground forces in the invasion.

sail he.

begun, A It is now going on."

In an interview with a United Press wer Monty of El Alemein Gorrespondent Edward Beattie, personners stated that the bombers that blast Nazi Germany and its armament have already begun a second front.

"When the Germans have been sufficiently then well stunned," he added, invade them."

and coted - would be Haw-See and the other British tenegroup in Included in the caregory of our criminals.

Today, in the London Parillement, the negation

The French execution of Pierre Pucheu. former Minister of the Vichy Government, on charges of pro-Nazi treason - is followed by a British declaration concerning British traitors. Foremost among them is Lord Haw-Haw who in Berlin shoots Nazi radio propaganda. in the direction of Britain. He is William Joyce, farmer Serverly known in London literary circles, whose executed top lofty English accent has won the jouring mickname of "Lord Haw-Haw. And then there are other Britishers too, who are doing Hitler's work on the German radio - not forgetting some Americans who are bikewise playing the traitor part.

Today in the London Parliament, the question was asked - would Lord Haw-Haw and the other British renegades be included in the category of war criminals, and be tried along with Nazi misercants? The answer is No, they will be tried for treesome.

And The violence of war was, in Italy,

mesonry that was once the town of Cassino, the situation there seems to be none too good for the New Zealand coldiers, who occupy most of the town after the cataclysmic Allied bombardment a week ago. Not only are the Germans hanging on to their corner of Cassino, but they have been reinforced again - and that represents a surprise for the Allied command.

The enemy reinforcements crept forward through deep gulleys, where they were protected from American and British fire. - But that was the least astonishing part of it. German troops made their way likewise through an ancient tunnel built by the Benedictine monks centuries ago. The peoples of antiquity and the Middle Ages had a fancy for subterranean passages, and it appears that the old time monks of Monte Cassino drove a tunnel from their historic monastery toward the town, a tunnel threequarters of a mile - ending & an ancient Roman amphitheatre. This relic of classic antiquity presents the usual ruins of the circular kind of area that the Romans built. And today into the amphitheatre, German soldiers emerged from underground, coming through the monastic tunnel. The arena is half a mile south of Cassino, and the Nazi garrison there constitutes a flanking threat to the New Zealand troops within the town. And that makes a menacing situation.

Meanwhile, the New Zealanders have lost the wreckage of the hotel in Cassino which they seized yesterday. The enemy has recaptured it, though the Australians later made a comeback and tonight were cuttured around to the rear of what once was the Continental Hotel.

ITALY FOLLOW VESUVIUS - 3

allist

Tonight's bulletin reads: "The struggle for Cassine continues. The enemy is reinforced in Read strong points, and is fighting stubbornly. The enemy," adds the communique, "has the advantage of Bhasrustion and Sal shelling of the Cassino-town has increased."

Once again the old story - the Germans hold the high ground. They occupy the ruins of the Monastery, and they are perched on top of other hills.
This enables them to observe every move of the allies, and gives their guns the great advantage of firing downward.

Meanwhile, the battle, hitherto concentrated at the point of Cassino, has spread somewhat along the fighting front, and artillery duels and battles between patrols are reported along the rivers on which the front is hared.

YESUVIUS

There has been there was another

stupendous blast from the inferno near Naples, another giant explosion of Vesuvius. It occurred at half past five, and all traffic in the streets of Naples halted. Everybody stopped and stared - as new huge clouds of smoke darkened the sky, smoke pouring from the fiery crater many only a few miles away. Native citizens and American soldiers gaped in awe at the upsurge of volcanic violence, which hurled flame and smoke and rocks more than five thousand feet into the air.

And with that climax this afternoon, the present series of eruptions of Vesuvius are now rated as the greatest since the Year Seventy-Nine A.D., when the volcanc in its most historic cruption buried the cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum.

Fantastic descriptions come - especially from American soldiers who are doing relief work in the sections where the rivers of burning lava are pouring over the land. They tell how sizzling walls of molten stone, rising sixty to eventy feet high, push down the slopes and engulf one village, after another. The tremendous heat of the lava, estimated at more than two thousand degrees Fahrenheit, sets fire to things before it touches them. As it draws near, houses, fences and trees burst into flame. And then the thrusting river of incandescent rock pushes over stone structures, which are pulverized like eggshells.

United Press Correspondent Eleanor Packard

describes a particularly fantastic scene: - "One of

she wite

the most terrifying spectacles was when the lava flow reached a well of water. - she write I saw the fiery stream coze up around the well and finally spill over and down. In the blink of an eye, " she adds, "the water turned into steam and shot to the sky with a spine-tingling whosh."

Today the Allied military government reports that fourteen thousand people are fleeing homeless in addition to the seventy-five hundred reported yesterday as fugitives from the volcano. (And more villages are being evacuated by American and British troops and Italian carabinieri. The roads near Vesuvius are clogged with refugees The story for months in Italy has told of refugees from war, and now it's the pity of people fleeing with their poor belongings, from an elemental force of Nature, volcanic fire which makes the violence of mankind and its war seem puny

The sensational polygamy trial at Salt Lake is producing some interesting testimony. Seven of the accused polygamists, who belong to a sect opposed by the official Mormon Church, have confessed to the practice of plural marriage. And the evidence discloses stories like the following:

It is related that H eber K. Cleveland. forty-two years old, promised his six-day-old daughter was then in marriage to David B. Darger, who se forty-one the marriage to occur when the baby became fourteen. Fourteen plus forty-one equals fifty-five. So the marriage was to have been between a fifty-five year old bridegroom and a fourteen year old bride. According to the testimony, the bridegroom, when he was engaged to the six day old fiance, was already the husband of one legal and two plural wives. A letter of his was quoted

today, a letter from him to his presumptive father-in-law. Speaking of the baby, he wrote:

"I often drop in and see angel-blue-eyes. She loves me and lets me know it. And I do I love her! She is a very gay joy to look forward to having some day."

In another case, a fourteen year old girl is said to have been kidnapped by a father of thirty-three children, his plural wife, a seventy-one year old bridegroom. The bridegroom is accused of having entered into a marriage with the fourteen year old girl -"a celestial or plural marriage", as the indictment phrases it. It is further stated that the seventy-one year old bridegroom, aided by the persuasion of a sixty year old woman, convinced the fourteen year old bride that - "celestial marriage was essential to her salvation", as the statement was made today. children were born of the plural marriage.

In another case, the legal wife of a polygamist did the wooing in behalf of her husband. She, in the words of the legal indictment, "proposed plural marriage to Mary Ford." The courtship worked okay, and the husband of the wife who made the proposal married Mary Ford in EXERT a secret ceremony at Salt Lake City.

In still another instance, a polygamist married a fifteen year old girl under circumstances which the legal testimony describes as follows: "openly before his wife and children, thereby causing some domestic difficulties." I should think there would have been domestic difficulties, but the story goes on to allege that the husband violated the Mann Act by taking the fifteen year old plural wife from Utah across to Arizona, to his legal wife's home.

I suppose that few of us will pretend to understand the profound wantities subtleties of marriage, and all this pluralistic business as described in the propert at least

Salt Lake trial will leave us a bit baffled and bewildered, if not obfuscated and non-plussed.

and Roger, if you are not too obfuscated, let's hear. From you.

the Russians call . "all the responsibling for future

Mojeh would seem to indicate that light about significating from the sar are out, for the

Here's a late bulletin - from Moscow. The Soviet Information Bureau states that Finland has rejected the terms of peace advanced by the Soviets, the conditions for an armistice. And therefore Finland assumes what the Russians call - "all the responsibility for future events."

Which would seem to indicate that ideas about Finland withdrawing from the war are out, for the present at least.

ADD FINLAND

Previously in the day, the Finns had explained their side, saying the terms of the Soviet offer were so hard as to be unacceptable.

The author came my refere a senate Committee.

With Begany Price Indianat-ster, Colobel Srice Beeston, southered for the juryous of knoping Britain warm sext windows. Two Sensions area appearanced baybank of South

Carelling decisions that he will not harrive this company had appose coal to fill it, own needs not those of thems

British on well. Bl rouner how much me one afford to obt

CONTRACTOR STORY OF THE STORY O

Paramed to the english to the Police of the Pales only attorney and said

They have tree trees or styll but the term heren't they be to and his consist over of tolerary populations when appearing to a withouth, and for other was note to staries that american coal retioning is below

A question of coal rationing was brought up in Washington today. The question - shall this country ration coal so that we'll be able to send supplies to Britain?

The matter came up before a Senate Committee, with Deputy Price Administrator, Colonel bryan Houston, appearing as a witness. And reference was made to stories that American coal rationing is being considered for the purpose of keeping Britain warm next winter. Two Senators and object Maybank of South Carolina declared that he did not believe this country had enough coal to fill its own needs and those of the British as well. "I wonder how much we can afford to shift said he. Senator Buck of Delaware sointed out the have been running short of coal in this country. And he the British are short. referred to the walkout of the Welch coal miners and said:

"They have been on strike all winter, haven't they? We've wage wilepake.

got to make up for that."

The Deputy Price Administrato replied that Britain is faced with difficulties concerning coal, and he conceded that some of this had to do with strikes.

"They have had a labor problem," said he.

He passed along the opinion that we over here are not likely to have rationing, so far as the coal users are concerned, but thought that it might be necessary to ration dealers - by allocating to them limited supplies of coal.

walked out and closed e she stars with a complicated

Board that the rationing of coal will not be necessary next winter. The present system will continue - a system of distribution by dealers under Production Board control. And there will be no substantial reduction in the supplies of coal released to the people who

And still another bulletin, just in tonight,

*************** tells us that there is a new coal strike in Britain. Today in Yorkshire, fifteen thousand miners walked out and closed eight mines - in a complicated wage dispute.

where they delivered four hundred letters from members of the National Maritime Union - the crew of an American transport. They read the President to run for a fourth term. The letters were in seven different languages, one of which was English, I hope. English the tongue of Shabespeare and Hugh James.

The State Department in Washington today was angry, and issued a wrathful denial. The indignation of our diplomatic office is hardly to be wondered at, when you consider the kind of story that was denied. Reports have been circulating that when France is liberated, the United States intends to deal with Vichy. That is - do business with the Petain outfit which, now actively headed by pro-Nazi Laval, is obediently doing dirty work for Hitler. The State Department roundly denies these tales as absurd, and intimates they are being put out by someone for a purpose. "Evidently inspired, " says the State Department.

By whom? - the question asks itself.

Well, the stories that the United States plans to deal with Vichy and liberated France come to us from Algiers, and originate in French circles there. The State Department does not make the charge in so many words, but the supposition is that the yarns are being circulated by some French officials - their purpose being to put pressure on the United States Government. They were The Vichy canard is put out in an effort to push the United States into a position more favorable to DeGaulle's Committee of National Liberation, which seeks a greater degree of American recognition. In any case, Such are the inferences drawn from today's blunt denial in Washington.