

DEFENSE

L.T.-Olds. Wed. Oct. 10-'62,

McNamara

~~Mr~~ Secretary of Defense chose an appropriate audience - for his toughest speech, since he has been at the Pentagon. That is, he was ~~Secretary McNamara~~, addressing - the Association of the United States Army. Telling his listeners that America has - an immense superiority in nuclear weapons, and that we will not hesitate to use them - if we have to. He ~~McNamara~~ scoffed at what he termed - ~~McNamara~~ - "The empty gesture of rocket rattling in Moscow."

The President, of course, already has that power. But Congress wants a display of solidarity - to give Khrushchev a specific warning. That is a show of Solidarity between Capitol Hill - and the White House.

RESOLUTION

The Congressional resolution on Berlin ^{today} passed the Senate in record time. Little debate - no balloting. ~~The measure~~ ^{Going} carried through by a voice vote ^{with} Every Senator, shouting - "Aye!" ~~The entire operation, consuming exactly~~ ^{all done in just} three minutes.

This ^e resolution states that President Kennedy may use any means necessary - to safeguard our position in West Berlin, ^{access/} and along the ~~axia~~ routes across East Germany - to the beleaguered city.

The President, ~~of course~~ already has that power. But Congress wants a display of solidarity - ^{That is a show of} to give Khrushchev a specific warning. ^{Solidarity} between Capitol Hill - and the White House.

ATTACHE

The United States has spelled out the meaning of
- "physically assaulted." The reference, to the Naval Attache at our Moscow Embassy - who has been expelled by the Soviet government. Washington calls the charges - All rigged as trumped up. Reprisal for - the two Soviet spies we caught. Hence, our protest - to the Kremlin.

Part of the protest - the behavior of the Leningrad police toward Commander Raymond Smith. The note, saying explicitly that - "an armlock was applied to Commander Smith, and his shirt was ripped open."

As for the instruments that Smith was using in Leningrad - binoculars, camera, tape recorder - they are termed "routine". Standard equipment - for Embassy Attache^{es} everywhere, *X*ncluding - the Russians in Washington.

POLITICS

President Kennedy, flew by helicopter this evening - from Washington to Baltimore to deliver a speech urging voters in that area to send Democrats to Capitol Hill. Give the Administration more strength in Congress.

While former President Eisenhower, was in Omaha, speaking in behalf of Fred Seaton - his old Secretary of the Interior, who hopes to become governor of Nebraska. During one address, Mr. Eisenhower accused the Administration of working for a one-party system. Then General Ike added - "we want some darn good Republicans to stop this."

INDIA

Peking reports that the Battle of the Che-Jao Bridge - is ^{on} ~~raging~~ again. The struggle along the Ladakh border, near Che-Dong in Western Tibet - erupting with renewed violence. According to the Chinese Reds, the Indian army has started a campaign - to drive Mao Tse-tung's men back into Tibet. Peking, warning - that Mao is bringing up reinforcements of his own. A shooting war, closer than ever - in the high Himalayas.

The word from Rome tonight - "expectation."

Long-range expectation - about the effects of the Vatican Council. Short range expectation - about the opening tomorrow. The Eternal City, full of excitement - with crowds milling through the streets near St. Peters. Hundreds of prelates - from every corner of the globe. All, waiting for the moment tomorrow - when Pope John gets the Council under way.

~~The American contingent is led by Cardinal Spellman. But we are reminded of one American Bishop - who won't be there. Bishop James Walsh, of Cumberland, Maryland - who went to China as a missionary. Not caught in the Red conquest - and was sentenced to twenty years, and is still in a Chinese prison. Bishop Walsh is in a Shanghai jail tonight.~~

SPACE

The fact that Mariner Two will miss the planet Venus by an extra Twenty thousand miles - ~~has almost~~ we are told will have no bearing on the scientific achievement. ~~But~~ The scientists ^{had} allowed for a maximum and a minimum distance - in the fly-past, ^{Venus,} And Mariner Two - will stay well within those limits. Sending back information as clear and precise - as ~~we could have~~ hoped for. ~~But the distance will be Twenty thousand, nine hundred miles instead of Nine thousand.~~

Meanwhile, our space agency has scheduled experiments on - nuclear engines for space ships. Chairman Glenn Seaborg, estimating - that some forty reactors will have to be tested. That many, to develop one - that will be reliable for exploration across the solar system.

BASEBALL

Today's fifth game of the World Series - a thriller - was decided by - the younger generation - maybe. By Tom Tresh, whose father was once a big league ballplayer. And Ralph Terry Jr. - who has never been a ballgame, because he's only five days old.

Yankee pitcher Ralph Terry vowed this one for his brand new son. He gave up three runs - but stopped Willie May's and Co., when he had to.

As for Tom Tresh; Tom, a rookie - hit that three run homer in the seventh. Giving his father a thrill - and the Yanks the margin they needed. Five to Three.

The Giants put up a noble battle, and I'd sure like to see that next in San Francisco.

FASHION

Kremlinologists have long predicted that Russia will have a real revolution - when Paris fashions arrive in the workers paradise. So, consider the case of Olga Tesova, of Odessa, as reported by Izvestia.

Olga didn't wait - for Paris fashions to arrive. She cut a pattern out of a French magazine - and made a stylish gown for herself. Bare shoulders, plunging neckline, short skirt - the latest thing on the banks of Seine.

Ah, but Odessa is on - the Black Sea; where the city forbids that much exposure. A Red policeman told Olga to go home, and change. Whereupon Olga hauled off - and gave him a black eye. Whereupon they took her to a Black Sea lockup.

But - Izvestia is for Olga Tesova Skivar. Says Izvestia - and this is new:- "Fashion is a private matter."

Does sound like a Russian revolution, Dick, a revolution led by Odessa Olga in that plunging neckline

SPORTS

~~A number of light pieces in the news tonight, - relating to the great outdoors.~~

From Plymouth, England - ~~the biggest~~^a fish story; - ~~of them all~~ A British trawler was out after herring - when the net trapped something too big to haul in.

After some twenty minutes of pulling and straining - the catch suddenly popped to the surface. ^{They had actually netted a} Danish submarine, ~~taking part in Hato exercises.~~

In London, Sir Vivian Fuchs complains - that his geological specimens haven't arrived. Sir Vivian brought them back - from ^{that} his historic trek to the South Pole. ^{Sir Vivian brought some} ~~carrying~~ them safely ^{same} Nine thousand miles - to Southampton. Then, the truck driver got lost on ^{the} ~~the~~ ^{135 mile} run to London, - ~~One hundred and thirty five miles.~~

~~Finally~~ In Stockholm - Hunter Erik Mirlund is being prosecuted ^{for} ~~his~~ shooting a brown bear, out of season. He says it was ~~a case of~~ self defense - ~~because~~ ^{that} the bear charged him. The authorities retort that the animal would have run away - if the hunter had simply shouted. ^{That} he he had no business shooting - just because an enraged bear was barreling down on him like a runaway express. Donovan, left Miami for Havana - there was talk of a quiet deal. After all, Donovan, was the man who worked out - the exchange of the U-2 pilot Gary Powers for Soviet spy Rudolph Abel. Yes look in Miami - and no final word.

The case of the Cuban prisoners - looked easier than the U-2 pilot. Simply a matter of - paying the ransom that Castro demanded. Yet, Donovan returned home today - leaving the freedom fighters behind, in jail. The ransom - hidden by the secret negotiations.

In Washington, the talk is about - the source of the ransom. Some members of Congress, demanding assurances from President Kennedy - that he is not making an undercover deal with the bearded Dictator.
