

L.T. - Olds. Fri. Oct. 19 - 62.

President Kennedy's latest political tour begins with - some political philosophy. Mr. Kennedy, addressing a crowd in Cleveland - taking up an old problem of our democracy. The problem of the ~~Pres~~ President campaigning - in congressional elections. Is it, or is it not - proper?

Experts on the Constitution - may disagree. But, John Kennedy - is quite sure of the answer. He ~~is~~ - all in favor. Pointing out - that the President must administer the laws. <sup>Whole</sup> ~~But~~ - Congress makes them. Therefore, it's right for the Chief Executive to support candidates - for the House and the Senate. <sup>Help</sup> ~~to~~ get men and women on Capitol Hill - who will pass the laws that he wants.

Moving from political philosophy to party politics - President Kennedy will be stumping energetically over the weekend. ~~Assume~~ A swing through seven states - <sup>urging the</sup> ~~urging the~~ voters to back Democrats in the forthcoming congressional elections.

LEGISLATION

The President of the United States is taking aim at - the one-arm bandits. President Kennedy, signing a bill - to control slot machines. ~~Prohibiting~~ their shipment - across state lines. ~~Compelling the~~ owners to file complete reports - on how and where the machines are being used. Uncle Sam, to keep an eye on holdups - involving the one-arm bandits.

And, as we knew he would - President Kennedy signed the bill concerning U N bonds. Authorizing this country to buy one hundred million dollars worth - if the other nations pick up an equal amount.

DIPLOMACY

The diplomatic front, relatively quiet tonight - following yesterday's flurry of activity. It seems that ~~nk~~ everybody said what he had to say - and is now waiting for a reaction. All of ~~which~~ which adds up to - one big question. Will Khrushchev come to New York - to address the U N? Will the boss of the Kremlin get the bonus that he obviously wants - a meeting with President Kennedy?

The President - non-committal on that. Telling Gromyko that he'd like a talk with Khrushchev - if Khrushchev comes to this country. But, Mr. Kennedy is not inviting the Soviet leader - to drop in on us.

CZECH

The case of the berserk Czech diplomat - is shrouded in diplomatic immunity. The American police, barred from taking any further action - in the bizarre death of Karel Zizka. The diplomat, who shot his wife - at the Czech mission to the U N. <sup>Czech</sup> Then, careened across New Jersey in the mission car - until he overturned near Easton, Pennsylvania. Shooting himself - as the police rushed up. Dying today - in the hospital.

The Czechs in New York, remaining silent - about the whole incident. Preparing to ship the bodies - back to Czechoslovakia.

BUKHARIN

Twenty-five years ago, ~~many of my~~ we had a number of broadcasts ~~was~~ about Nicolai Bukharin. The Russian philosopher was on trial in Moscow - and the Soviet Capitol was ringing with denunciations. Not a single word in the Moscow press - defending the defendant. All we heard was that Bukharin had conspired against the world's greatest statesman - Comrade Stalin. We in the West were ~~re~~ berated by Radio Moscow - for suggesting that the trial was a frame up.

~~was~~ *T*onight Moscow is singing - different tune.

Telling us that Bukharin - was indeed framed. Judically murdered by that horrible ogre - Joseph Stalin. Rehabilitation - posthumous, as usual in the Soviet Union - for Nicolai Bukharin. Who would have believed it - back in Nineteen Thirty Seven? ~~Dubois & I would not.~~

INDIA

The battle of the Che-Jao Bridge appears to have been won - by <sup>old man</sup> ~~the~~ winter. The Indians and the Chinese Reds, as you know - have been fighting for weeks in Ladakh, ~~for~~ western Tibet. Each, trying to force the other back - before the onset of the grim Himalayan winter. The Indians, having the better of it - advancing two miles, in a flanking movement. Holding sixty-thousand men in reserve - for a decisive attack.

RAILROAD

Those of you who travel on the Santa Fe Railroad - won't have to look for <sup>other</sup> transportation on Sunday. The trains - will still be running. The strike, postponed - by a ~~the~~ court injunction. Judge Joseph Perry, issuing the restraining order - in Chicago. <sup>To</sup> ~~It~~ remains in ~~the~~ effect until the Appeals Court ~~the~~ hands down a ruling on "featherbedding." The question of how many superfluous jobs there are - on our railroads.

STORM

The winds churned up by hurricane "Ella" - have reached an incredible one hundred and twenty miles an hour. Almost twice the velocity that makes a tropical storm  $\leftarrow$  officially a hurricane.

As predicted last night - "Ella" is <sup>now</sup> ~~standing~~ well out into the Atlantic. Even so she's ~~very~~ battering the shoreline of the Carolinas. Hurling waves twelve feet high - onto the beaches. Whipping up - howling sand storms.

WEST

One of the last mysteries of the old West has been solved -- according to the sheriff of Nevada City, California. Sheriff Wayne Brown, closing the books on the case of Sheriff David Douglas - who was shot, back in the turbulent days of Eighteen Ninety-Six.

The story, like something out of - Bret Harte.

The Sheriff, catching up with the outlaw - at the Mother Lode, in the California <sup>Sacramento</sup> gold region. Showdown on Cement Hill - the Sheriff and the outlaw, blazing away with six guns. Both men - killed in the shooting. But here's the point - the Sheriff was shot in the back. Someone in the crowd - had murdered him.

For sixty-six years - no one knew the identity of the gunman. Recently - he came forward. An elderly, respectable business man - who says that he was twelve years old, when he shot the Sheriff. Unsuspected - because of his age. Confessing now - to get it off his conscience.

The story of the showdown on Cement Hill in <sup>the</sup> California <sup>gold country</sup> Mother Lode ~~back~~ in Eighteen Ninety-Six.

PLANE

Do you happen to have an extra three hundred and seventy five thousand dollars? Would you care to buy a private airplane? I mean would you like to have the President's private plane. The "Caroline" is a Convair, built in Nineteen Forty-Eight. Bought by Joseph Kennedy, the President's father - in Nineteen Fifty Nine. Becoming a familiar sight in Nineteen Sixty - when John Fitzgerald Kennedy flew all over the country during his presidential campaign.

Now, the President wants to sell - the presidential plane. Reason? He doesn't use it anymore. Want a $375,000 palen, Dick? Going, going - gone.

BRIGADIER

Over in Britain, the cross-country car race - ran into a military obstacle, today. A retired Brigadier, Percy Douglas Sabin - who lives in Framton Mansell. And has a military ~~an~~ aversion to ruddy civilians - who roar past his window, all day long. All night long -- too.

Like an old soldier - he decided to go into action. Posting himself in ambush, ~~with~~ with an arsenal of ~~rock~~ rocks - which he proceeded to bounce off the heads of drivers whizzing past. His military aim, so good - that he was hauled into court on a charge of assault and battery.

As the retired British Brigadier paid his fine, he remarked in clipped accents - "dash it all, one doesn't expect an officer and a gentleman to stand for that sort of thing, does one?"
