

LT.-Olds Fri. Feb. 12 - 60.

Unofficial sources in Buenos Aires report - that ~~the~~[^] mysterious submarine in the Golfo Nuevo came to the surface today. The sub - bobbing up briefly. ^{and} Crash-diving, quickly - as Argentine ships and planes went into action. Destroyers raced to the scene - dropping depth charges. But no signs that they scored a hit. No telltale oil slick ~~was~~[^] rushing to the surface.

Where does the intruder come from? The belief is growing stronger - that this is a Communist vessel. The maritime nations of the free world ^{say} ~~declare~~[^] all their subs are accounted for.

16 1/2 The Argentine Navy using depth equipment - calling on the sub to surrender. Getting no reply - from the floor of the Golfo Nuevo.

ATOMIC

Today's warning, flashed from Paris to all aircraft flying over the Sahara Desert, means just one thing:- French scientists are all set to touch off- their atomic bomb. Planes, told to stay away from the area- to avoid radioactive contamination.

The site of the explosion- deep in the Sahara, six hundred miles from the nearest village. The nuclear device to erupt from the top of a three hundred foot tower. Its explosive force- about equal to the one that hit Hiroshima.

President Charles DeGaulle, keeping his promise- to make France an atomic power.

KHRUSHCHEV

47
In New Delhi, they're saying tonight ^{that} Nehru has not changed his position on the border dispute with Red China. Rumors are thick in the Indian capital - that Khrushchev is trying to persuade Nehru to give in to Mao Tse-tung. The Prime Minister of India saying - "No" to that. Repeating his demand - for the Red Chinese to get off Indian soil.

In public Khrushchev is - his usual self. Bumptious about - Soviet successes in science. Contemptuous about - the Capitalist system. But also conciliatory - in some ways. Saying again - he isn't laying claim to the moon, just because a Russian rocket got there first. And making his customary pitch for - disarmament without inspection.

TROTSKY FOLLOW KHRUSHCHEV

At one point today - Nikita Khrushchev became silent. An extraordinary spectacle - which happened when he met Mahendra Pratap - of the New Delhi Parliament. Pratap - delegate to the Moscow Comintern in Nineteen Eighteen, recalling how he worked with Lenin - and Trotsky. Khrushchev, smirking - until he heard Trotsky mentioned. Then the boss of the Kremlin looked the other way - and stopped talking. The Bolsheviks, as we know, still don't like to hear - how important Trotsky was during their revolution.

COORS

There's still no break in - the disappearance of Adolph Coors, who has been missing since Tuesday. His ~~trunk~~ ^{car}, found - near his home at Morrison, Colorado. The motor - still running. Bloodstains on the front seat. Coors' cap and spectacles - discovered in a nearby creek. ^{all} Leading to the suspicion of - kidnapping.

Today the police at the Coors' home were removed - at the request of Mrs. Coors. She's hoping the kidnappers will get in touch with her - when the coast is clear.

Meanwhile, the clues in the case - have been petering out.

Says Sheriff Art Wermuth - "I'm stymied."

The dispute between Jack Paar and NBC-- seems to be at a deadlock. This, after the entertainer dramatically walked out while his television program was being taped, last night. Jack Paar, objecting- because the network censored one of his programs. Deleting a joke- with a double meaning.

He says he won't return- to his night- time show, or to NBC. Insisting- "I never did really enjoy it- that show is a rat race." He says he'll take a vacation- and then think about getting back into television. He adds- ^{that} he's received scores of messages from the public- supporting him in this dispute.

But NBC officials argue- the network has a contract with Jack Paar. A contract- they expect him to fulfill until it runs out in nineteen sixty-two. They ^are waiting for him- to change his mind, and return.

What about the Jack Paar show? The network officials say they'll run it under its old title, for at least two week^s, whether Jack Paar appears on it or not.

LOANS

The AFL-CIO is in favor of Government-backed loans to the airlines. That is - loans for new jet cargo planes. The labor organization, supporting - a bill introduced by Senator Monroney of Oklahoma. The AFL-CIO arguing that private companies can't move into the jet age fast enough - unless they get federal loans, and that we need a fleet of jet transports - to meet any national emergency.

FOREIGN MINISTERS

From London, a report about- the forthcoming meeting of the western foreign ministers. The place- Washington^t, The date- some time in April. The Foreign Ministers of Britain, France, West Germany and the United States- to hold final talks on the summit strategy of the west. Try to put the finishing touches on a common front- for the get-together with Khrushchev. We^are told ~~that~~ the Foreign Ministers of Canada and Italy are being invited to attend this Washington Conference.

More shooting - along the border of Israel and Syria. An Israeli spokesman in Jerusalem told newsmen - Syrian forces fired without warning on an Israeli patrol. The Syrians, opening up with machineguns - killing one Israeli on Israeli soil.

From Damascus - a different version of what happened. The Syrians, claiming - Israeli armored cars raced into the demilitarized zone. Firing at farmers and border guards. The Syrian army, retaliating - driving the Israelis back.

STRIKE

The British Government was all ready to declare - a state of emergency; with Prime Minister Macmillan ordering the members of his cabinet to meet the threat of - a railroad strike. The unions had demanded - a big pay increase. The government, offering - a smaller one. Today no settlement. A 5% pay increase - retroactive. A strike by the 350,000 railway workers would have been a catastrophe for Britain.

President Eisenhower is being asked to arbitrate a difference of opinion- between the State Department and the Defense Department. The point at issue- our military post exchanges in Panama.

Panamanian business men are complaining that those PX's hurt their business- by selling goods tax free. The State Department wants to improve our relations with Panama- by selling a lot fewer goods on the military bases in the Canal Zone. The Defense Department objecting- that the proposed cuts would hurt the morale of American troops stationed in Panama.

It's up to President Eisenhower- to decide.

 In Morrocco, the start of- an exodus of Americans. Our military bases- closing down. The personnel- standing by in rabat. Twenty-five hundred Americans- ready to leave Morocco.
 Destination- American bases in Europe.

Here's a story that sounds as if- it just came from Moscow.

Subject- an election. Described as- a free election. The catch being- only one candidate. The voters, free to vote for- the governments' candidate.

Sounds familiar. Well, the point of the story is-

It's datelined- London, in the twelfth century. A British scholar stumbling on- a letter from Henry the Second to the Monks of Winchester.

The Monks of that famous medieval foundation- about to elect a new Abbot. The King, telling them- to go right ahead. The royal letter beginning with the words- "I, King Henry the Second, command you to hold a free election." That seems ok- until you get to the second sentence, which reads - "I forbid you to elect anyone- except my clerk, Richard, the Archdeacon."

So there you have some twentieth century semantics- in a twelfth century document. A free election- with the voters free to vote for the governments' candidate.

DEACON

A Deacon of the Baptist Church sentenced by an Atlanta Court. Deacon William Johnson getting - three to five years; convicted of trying to kill - the pastor of his church. Deacon Johnson, in love with - Pastor Robinson's wife. So the deacon fixed up a home-made bomb - and placed it in the minister's station wagon. But the bomb was - discovered. The police, following a trail that led them to - the Deacon of Robinson's Church.

Today Deacon Johnson said - "I love Pastor Robinson". The judge retorting "you have a funny way of showing it." Adding - "Three to five years." Sending the Deacon - off to pokey. And so long until Monday.
