

BIG FOUR LT. Belor Tues - Nov. 1 - '55?

The Big Four conference at Geneva, was in recess today - because this is "All Saints Day", <sup>a national</sup> holiday in France.

So foreign secretaries
~~So~~ MacMillan, Molotov and Dulles agreed not to meet, out of respect for their colleague, Pinay, <sup>of France,</sup> Secretary Dulles took the opportunity for a quick flight to Spain - where he met Generalissimo Franco.

A spokesman in Geneva says that the three Western diplomats have turned down an attempt by the East German Reds to get into the conference. The Grotewohl regime sent ~~from~~ a formal request to Geneva. But the Allies refused even to receive it.

What's the prospect for the next meeting of the Big Four? We hear that MacMillan, Pinay and Dulles <sup>are asking</sup> ~~never drawn up~~ two simple questions: - Does Russia really want German unification?

If so, what are the Kremlin's terms?

In Geneva, it's believed that at the next session the ~~West~~ <sup>West</sup> will ask Molotov for a plain answer to these two questions. Because, until they know whether or not the Soviet Foreign Minister is sincere <sup>why</sup> - there's ~~very~~ little sense in any further discussions.

DULLES FOLLOW BIG FOUR

As far that hurried one day trip to Madrid, Secretary Dulles became our first Secretary of State to visit Spain since the Spanish Civil War - when he flew into Madrid today. He was met at the airport by the Spanish Foreign Minister - and conducted to ~~the~~ El Pardo Palace, ~~where~~, a detachment of Franco's Moorish guard snapped to attention ~~as~~ the American cabinet minister mounted ~~as Secretary Dulles walked up~~ the broad staircase, and was escorted ~~into~~ Franco's private study. Our Secretary then talked with the head of the Spanish state - for almost two hours.

A communique issued later in the day states that they discussed general world problems - and found themselves mainly in agreement. A good guess is that emphasis was given to the North African situation, and the place of Spain in planning for the defense of the West.

After the meeting with Franco, Secretary Dulles had lunch at the Foreign Minister's residence. at the Madrid
~~And then he flew~~

airport a ~~back to Geneva~~ A crowd of several thousand gathered to see him off, - and in a brief speech, Secretary Dulles told them that the relations between Spain and America are better than ever.

GREECE

A dispatch from Patras, Greece, tells of students rioting through the streets. The cause - that dispute over Cyprus. Greek nationalists, demanding the return of the island to Greece.

The students surged through Patras - shouting ~~anti~~ anti-British slogans. They broke into English schools, smashed furniture, knocked out windows, and burned the books, ~~they found~~. They stoned the British Information Institute - also, the U.S. Information Agency.

The police had to bring up reinforcements, ~~to put~~ ~~down the riot~~. The gendarmes, opening fire with their rifles - when the crowd refused to disperse. Even that was not enough - and the rioters were still standing around in groups - until the local Bishop asked them to go home.

The result, seventy-five ~~more~~ persons injured.

ARGENTINA

In Buenos Aires, the Confederation of Labor calls for a general strike at midnight. The former supporters of Peron - claiming that the Lonardi government has gone back on its promises, by dismissing Peronistas from key posts in the Labor movement. The Confederation says its men will stay out on strike - until the officials are reinstated.

Please substitute for the first paragraph in the story slugged EISENHOWER.

President Eisenhower probably will return to Washington on November eleventh. This was announced tonight at the Denver White House. Press Secretary James Haggerty calling the November eleventh date "a good guess."

If <sup>the President</sup> ~~Mr. Eisenhower~~ does go back to the capital then - he'll stay only a few days - before going on to Gettysburg. The guess is that Mr. Eisenhower would like to be on his farm by November fourteenth - to celebrate the First Lady's sixtieth birthday.

CASTILLO ARMAS

The President of Guatemala spoke before the Organization of American States in Washington, this afternoon. Colonel Castillo Armas warning this hemisphere about the Communist menace - which was such a terrifying threat to his country only last year. He said that the Reds had been responsible for bad feeling between Guatemala and the United States - and he hopes that his regime will restore better feeling.

The speech was the highlight of a three-day visit to Washington by Castillo Armas. Tonight, he is the guest of Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr. His visit to Washington ends tomorrow - after which he will be off on a tour of the country - which will include <sup>the</sup> a stop at Fitzsimmons Hospital in Denver, to see President Eisenhower.

ANTS

The Arctic Institute of North America announces - the discovery of ~~insects~~<sup>ants</sup> about sixty million years old. The discovery, made by Dr. Robert Usinger and Dr. R.F. Smith, of the University of California.

( The Professors found the ants imbedded in Alaskan amber, ~~from the amber, found in~~<sup>from</sup> the Colville River valley ) ~~one~~
a hundred-and-fifty miles north of the Arctic Circle.

The importance of the discovery is - that these ants are not fossils. They ~~are the~~<sup>are</sup> fully preserved bodies ~~of the~~ ~~insects~~ - amber, being the only substance that preserves ~~a~~ insects in this way.

( Professors Usinger and Smith are now getting down to the job of determining - just what species these ants belong to - the ants that have been lying in the amber of the frozen north for sixty million years. )

INDIANS

— which is a part of Canada and the British Commonwealth—
The Redskins of ~~the~~ Yukon Territory ^ are going to have ~~get~~ ^ their fire-water from now on. Last March <sup>at</sup> a meeting of the

it was ~~Yukon~~ Territorial Council ^ decided that the issue of selling liquor to the Indians - should be left up to the ~~YUKON~~ provinces. And now the Commissioner of the Yukon issues a proclamation - saying that the Indians may ~~now~~ drink beer in taverns, altho' ~~however~~ ^ it's still illegal for them to buy any kind of

in this part of the Canadian Arctic, liquor outside the taverns. The white man, still controlling the fire-water consumed by the Redskins.

^

PRINCESS

As expected, all stirred up over the Tonight Britain is ~~in the grip of the aftermath~~ dramatic development in of the royal romance. We heard yesterday the poignant story of how <sup>the</sup> Princess Margaret had decided to give up <sup>her aviator</sup> ~~Group Captain~~ ~~Peter Townsend~~ hero, saying it was all her own decision.

But the British people and the British newspapers are not leaving it at that. Among the Queen's subjects, there is widespread criticism of the Archbishop of Canterbury. Also, of the Duke of Edinburgh - who is described as the chief opponent of the romance.

Critical today are all steamed up.
 Naturally, the newspapers ~~are very vocal~~ Some for,

and some against ~~the~~ the decision of the Princess.

London
 The ~~staid old~~ Times, needless to say, is satisfied - says that Princess Margaret has done the nation a service. But Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express charges that pressure was used on her - by both the Church of England and the royal family.

One of the most bitter newspaper criticism is in the staid old ~~famous~~ Manchester Guardian. It refers to the fact that the Bishops who opposed Peter Townsend because he is a divorced man, are themselves appointed by Prime Minister Eden, who is also divorced. The Guardian regards that situation as ridiculous.

And suggests, that maybe the Church of England ought to be dis-established -- so that the Archbishop of Canterbury won't be able to interfere in any future royal marriage.

(founded incidentally by a king who had many wives)
According to news reports the British public is most unhappy over this broken royal romance.

DALE CARNEGIE

At lunch, I sat with an old friend, Author Homer Croy, and we <sup>reminded</sup> ~~talked~~ about Dale Carnegie, who died <sup>today</sup> ~~this~~ morning. Dale Carnegie - who made such an astonishing success, as a teacher of public speaking. I had known him for years, and Homer Croy grew up in <sup>Belton,</sup> the same small Missouri town - as Dale.

He told me that back in Marysville, Missouri, Dale Carnegie's mother was a preacher of the Gospel. Her ambition was - that her son should become a great preacher. So she taught him the art of public speaking - in childhood.

But Dale was never meant - for preaching. Growing up, he became - a ~~most~~ salesman. Making a good ~~money~~ at it.

Then, one day, he got to talking with a stranger on a train. The stranger saying - why don't you become an actor? Dale thought that a good idea, came to New York, and attended a dramatic school. Pretty soon, he was on tour as an actor in an old-fashioned melodrama, "Polly of the Circus" <sup>in a company that included Howard Lindsay of "Life with Father" fame.</sup> ~~TP~~ Soon, however, the dramatic troupe went bust, and Dale was back in New York - broke. Stopping - at a Y.M.C.A. Where,

any man of our time for the want of anything better, he started a class - in public speaking. Which his mother had taught him.

It was a success, from the start. Building up during the years - to Dale Carnegie classes in cities all over the United States, and in foreign countries.

In the 'Thirties, he published his book, "How To Win Friends and Influence People". Which established records - as a best seller, more than 4 million copies sold. Few men have achieved so great a success of fame and fortune. But, remarked today, ~~said~~ Homer Croy, Dale Carnegie was a disappointed man. Why? Oh, he

He wrote a book about Abraham Lincoln - and that was nearest of all to his heart. That ~~But the~~ book fell flat; ~~and~~ was ignored. When people congratulated him on the astounding sale of "How To Win Friends", Dale Carnegie could only shake his head, and think sadly - if it had only been the Lincoln book.

~~A very human dilemma so much of the second best.~~

When he was a young man I sent Dale abroad on an adventurous assignment. In fact I could write a book about him. Dale Carnegie, the homespun Missourian, whose fame went round the world. The contrast of his enthusiasm reaching to the ends of the earth. One of the

JAIL

That fire at the City Workhouse in St. Louis - was started by convicts who hoped to touch off a major riot. About thirty prisoners were involved. They broke windows, smashed furniture - and then set the building afire. But no major riot developed. Instead, guards and police were rushed up - and the demonstrators fled to the second floor of the building.

There was no need for the police to follow them because the building was on fire. The officers of the law, simply waiting until the smoke took effect - and shortly afterwards, the prisoners began to come down with their hands in the air, gasping and choking.

PREACHER

In Tallahassee, Florida, Donald Brandeis announces that he intends to become a Baptist Minister - and he'll travel and preach with <sup>a</sup> ~~the~~ Baptist Revivalist. What's the story? Well, Donald Brandeis has just been released from jail. In fact, he's been in fourteen jails - on charges ranging from stealing cars to forging checks.

~~But~~ During his last prison term - he was converted by another prisoner <sup>and himself</sup> ~~who~~ began <sup>ing</sup> to hold Sunday School classes for the inmates. <sup>the Sunday School</sup> ~~And the~~ group had grown to one-hundred-and-fifty - by the time he left. Now Donald Brandeis says ~~that~~ he intends to preach in every jail in the United States. He <sup>told</sup> ~~said~~ <sup>it</sup> ~~that~~ to an audience at Tallahassee's First Baptist Church on Sunday night. <sup>and in</sup> ~~to~~ that audience were - the judge who sentenced him in NineteenFifty-Three, the State Attorney who prosecuted him, and the owner of the car he stole.

TEETH

A Florida State Representative is in the hospital, recuperating from a gunshot wound - all because of a pair of false teeth. It seems that Representative Marvin Rowell had loose ~~false teeth~~ <sup>dentures</sup>. He was standing on the platform of a train Sunday night - when he had a violent sneezing spell. And before he knew it, his ~~synthetic molars~~ <sup>uppers</sup> went flying out of the train.

A predicament for ~~Well, that was really a situation for~~ a legislator.

How could he even talk - without his teeth? ~~The thought was too horrible to contemplate~~ <sup>So he</sup> so Rowell got off the train at the next stop and walked back along the tracks, to see if he could find ~~his dentures~~ <sup>em,</sup>. And he finally did.

~~But by the time he had cleaned them off, and replaced them -~~
Meanwhile
~~the train went on.~~ so Representative Rowell walked to a cabin, <sup>hoping to</sup> ~~to see if he could~~ get someone to drive him to his destination.

Hugh.
But it was late at night, The owner of the cabin thought ~~Rowell was~~ <sup>him</sup> a prowler - and promptly opened fire with a shotgun. All because his false teeth flew out a train window.
