Good Evening, Everybody:

but the most exciting appears to be that from Berlin. What had been expected for many followed was quite unexpected. (Chancellor vol Papen dissolved the new Reichstag, the Germen parliament. But the Reichstag declined to be dissolved.)

A dispatch to the Montreal Star describes this as happening amid scenes of tumult amounting almost to riot.

What this means is that the German parliament is in a state of open rebellion. This morning's session was opened by the Speaker who is a Hitlerite. He called immediately for a vote on motions that had been offered by the Communist despotic. These motions were for the wiping out of President vo Hindenburg's emergency decree, - the decree which inaugurated Germany's twelve month plan for economic recovery.

The German speaker departed from the customary procedure in calling for max this vote. He did so without waiting for the usual opening address of the Chancellor. When the Speaker ordered the vote, Chancellor vo Papen mounted the rostrum immediately and read the decree dissolving the parliament. The speaker refused to leave the rostrum and insisted on a votefeinq Which t was turoughi The Communist motions were passed by 513 to 32 , a gigantic majority (The Speaker, then announced that he considered the decree of dissolution invalid. 末ney were presented by a government which had just been overthrown by the parliament.

Perhaps I should add that in Europe it is customary for a İ an unfavorable wit government a to resign if the parliament a $\operatorname{pass}_{\boldsymbol{\lambda}}$

The Speaker's declaration was received with thunderous cheers.

Mow It is expected that the government will proclaim a tonight. Under state of emergency $\boldsymbol{\sim}$, mach a proclamation it will rule as under martial law. It's been hinted that force will be used if $\underline{\text { GERMANY }}-3$ necessary.
Incidentally, the parliament adjourned until tomorrow,
just as though there were no such thing as a decree dissolving Hon Papen and Huidenhicrg the parhoinent
it. $x$ of course, consider that does not extort any longer. And horns that for a dramatic and dangerous tangle?

Here's an instance where news. No tracehos yet been found of Colonel George Hutchinson and his flying family who were forced down at sea yesterday afternoon. A dispatch to the Buffalo Times reports that cruisers and airplanes of several nations are hunting for the amphibian, and its crew of eight, including Colonel and Mrs. Hutchinson and their two small daughters.

No less a celebrity than Dr. Knud Rasmussen, the famous explorer, is one of those looking for the Hutchinsons. He was asked by the Greenland authorities to join in the search. A naval flying machine from the scientific expedition now headed by Dr. Rasmussen, took off from the southern tip of Greenland and followed the route taken by the Hutchinsons. Officials and natives are joining in the hunt. Seaplanes, motorships, motorboats, Eskimo fishing vessels and Kayaks, tiny canoes made of skin, are combing - the ice floes off Greenland. Even women launched their olon-boats" to look for the missing. A British steam trawler is quartering the

```
HUTCHINSON - 2
```

between Ereenland of Leland.

waters of Denmark Strait, But the latest radio message from this trawler brings no good news. A German war ace who has been working on a motion picture film in Greenland, dropped his work to take part in the search.

SCHOOL

in Canada and the K-sA. the day when millions of children went back to school $\boldsymbol{\lambda}$ I've always doubted the fitness of calling it Blue Monday because I've observed that one respect in which American children differ from those of other countries is that they are singularly glad to go back to school. Well, whether they're glad or not, back they are.

I don't know how many youngsters this affected.

But in New York alone there were over a million. Probably the total all over the United States XX and Canada is not less than fifteen million. Reports from many centres of the United States indicate that the school terms will be shorter this year than usually, owing to shortage of public funds. In the large Thrwand cities several children had to be turned away or put on half time because they swamped the available seating capacity of the public schools.

MAN HUN L

Out in my home state, Colorado, there's a man hunt going on of /a spectacular and

In the Insane Asylum near Pueblo there were two maniacs, actually dangerous, but men who can talk straightforwardly and pass for sane so far as the average observer could tell. The sister and wife of one of these two lunatics visited them yesterday. A few hours later they staged an escape over-aweing the guards with guns which had been smuggled into them. When they got outside the asylum they jumped into a car and drove off, taking with them one of the women who had visited them yesterday. Both of them are now roaming the countryside holding the young woman prisoner. She has been described as the sister of one of them, though it should be added that a later dispatch says she is believed to be the sister. The other woman who visited them claims she knew nothing of the escape.

In Denver, the nome of the parents of the other man, is being guarded, as it is feared he may make an attack theme.

There have been lots of races this year but the most curious was one which started from Newark, New Jersey, today. It's between an ox cart and four planes. The idea is to celebrate the annual dinner of the Pioneer Air Transport Operators Association by illustrating the progress made in 100 years of travel.

The team of oxen were started from the Newark flying field by Governor Moore of New Jersey and Captain Eddy Rickenbacker. At the same moment four long distance planes departed on their regular schedules for the north, west and south. The oxen were to go as far as Times Square, New York City treater ## bendortais.

of the four huge air liners racing with the oxen, the first to reach its destination was that piloted by S.T.B. Cripps, who reached Montreal, flying at an average speed of eighty-one miles an hour, in spite of strong headwinds. Pilot Cripps expects to be back in Newark before the oxen team reacheatimes Square.

RACE - 2

```
arnued at
Other pilots Jacksonville, Kansas City and Omaha. The oxen will probably get their destination just as the five ``` hundred guests of the Pioneer Air Transport Operators Association are sitting down to dinner. By that time the pilots will have gone促 Screw Omaha, Kansas City, Montreal and jacksonville and berta.

\section*{LEG 10.}

\section*{The eyes of the United States are focused \(\quad\) ox ix} today on Portland, Oregon, where the American Legion is holding its fourteenth national convention. Much is expected from this convention. It is being watched keenly by officials of Presidnt Hoover's administration. They are doing their utmost to prevent a vote condemning the President's conduct in calling out the troops to evict the Bonus Expeditionary Force from Washington last July.

A dispatch to the Boston Traveler relates that the report of the Attorney General about the Bonus Army has aroused violent indignation among the Legionaires. The Attorney General's report declared that the Bonus Army brought into the City of ashington the largest collection of criminals ever assembled in the city at one time. A resolution has been drawn up by the Pennsylvania delegation to the Legion, the gist of which is that the President of the United States handled the situation in a regrettable manner. Conservatives are trying to keep this resolution from reaching the floor, but every effort will be made to bring it out into the open. Graver still is the anxiety as to whether the Legion convention will demand the immediate payment of the cash bonus, but that question probably will not be settled until later in the week.

\section*{BEAR}

From the trails of British Columbia comes a yarn today that rivals the exploits of Daniel Boone. It comes from the pages of the Toronto Star, and is a thoroughly authenticated tale.

Frank LeForgue, a trapper of a place called Nineteen-Mile, was treking along the Princeton trail the other day. In his path he encountered a large log. He stepped over it and, what do you suppose he stepped into? A large and exceedingly active and exceedingly angry bear. Brother bear promptly waltzed into Frank and grabbed hin by the leg. Frank, who a man quite well on in years, lost his rifle in the scramble. Nevertheless, he managed to pull out his hunting knife. There was a terrific tuzzize tussle such as used to read of in dime novels.

And the end was the same
Frank LeForgue, with nothing but his hands and his hunting knife, killed that bear. He was badly lager od but managed tox to get to hospital, and latest accounts is recovering. Well, I think hat's a bear-cat of a story and with that \(I\) will say so Long Thtil Tomorrow.

DITMALS

Here's an animals story from Panama. Some parts of it rival even the tales of my friend, Carveth Wells about the tree climbing fish, and other marvels of Malasia. Dr. Raymond Ditmers, Curator of mammals and reptiles at the Bronx Zoo, has just returned from Panama bringing back with him yarns even as prodigious as those of Carveth Wells.

A story in tonight's New York World Telegram says that among the things Dr. Ditmars has discovered was a huge bronze colored frog which does not croak but sings jazz in the best Broadway manner. Then he found a blue faced katydid that trills like an opera singer. The principal horror was a spider sa large that it dines on birds. It is already celebrated as The prize chickea-eoter of the foo rx Well, Dr. Ditmars is a serious scientist and Aud to prove tia tale he anything he reports has to be treated with respect. brought the jazz singing frog back with him. He christened Boop-a-dee. It seems that Boop-a-dee is the principal part of the lyrics sung by tax this frog. I'm sorry to have to * relate that the trilling katydids did not survive the voyage from Panama. Panama.

\section*{pawling game. Sept. 12, \\ 1932-p. 14}

\section*{PAVING}

I had a big surprise yesterday. Our side won. We most unexpectedly won the baseball game. Those of us who live on farms played the merchants in the nearby town, the Quaker Hill Saints versus the Pawing sinners. We thought we didn't have a chance. We had heard that most of the sinners had played semi-pro ball a few years back. So it looked like the same old story - the Sinners wiping up the landscape with the Saints. So just to show how we felt we marched on the field on crutches and in invalid's wheel chairs. We looked just like a bunch of saints after a bout with Satan. The sinners were swell ball players. But there was a miracle. Sinner Holmes, the Pawling banker x played a bang up game in left field. Sinner Slocum, the garage man, played a snappy game on third. Sinner Flanigan, the Butcher, well, playing First Base was his meat. But on our side you should have seen the Saintly Casey Hogate, the 300 lb . owner of the Wall Street Journal floating around the bases. I think he must have hypnotized the Sinners, because when Squire Aiken got through counting up the score it turned out to be 26 to 16 in favor of the astonished Saints. But they may be still more astonished next sunday when the return game will be played.

\section*{PAWLING - 2}

Baseball is still the best game of 2ll. And those sand lot contests all over the country bring a big thrill to the fellows that play in them.
(Ex-Mayor Jimmy Walker is on the high seas trying to rest, and, if you believe it, dodge publicity. Meanwhile, his successor, Mayor Joe McKee, is causing considerable perturbation in the ranks of politicians. Mayor Joe continues to be so energetic and to shape so well that the political leaders don't quite see how they can keep their promises to honorable Jimmy to get him re-elected this fall. This jars the leaders because Joe inckee was not at all in their scheme of things.

Then an important mave was made today by Mayor McKee's friends. The law firm of which he was a member before he took public office brought suit in the New York Supreme Court to try to prevent an election being held November 8 th for the mayoralty. The City Clerk had notified the Board of Elections that the office of Mayor was vacant. The position taken by Mayor \(M_{c k e}{ }^{\prime}\) s friends is that the office is not vacant, that the Mayor resigned and that the President of the Board of Adermen succeeded him and consequently is Mayor. Therefore, they say, Judge McKee should continue in the Mayor's office until January lst, 1934, and the next election for the mayoralty should not be hold until next November 1933.

\section*{CARVERS}

Over the week-end there landed in New York several photographs of a piece of petrified wood, deluged with historical importance. Yes, deluged is right. This piece of petrified wood is a hunk of Noah's Ark, left over from the Deluge.

Early in the summer I announced the departure from these shores of Carveth Wells, the traveler who is always going somewhere. Now he is back from Russia and the Caucasus and the mountains of Armenia. In fact, he's here in the studio with me tonight. Carveth tells how he got indigestion from the bad food in Russia, living on sunflower seeds, and how he photographed the petrified piece of Noah's Ark! This truly remarkable relic is kept in the historic monastery on Mt. Ararat.

Few outsiders have ever been allowed to see it, much less photograph it. Carveth told the Armenian monks that the Bolsheviks were likely to take over the monastery and if they did they would probably ration off the petrified piece of Noah's Ark

\section*{CARVEL - 2}
for food. So he persuaded them to let him take some photographs of all that remains of the well known boat that saved the animals two by two, the elephant and the kangaroo.

As to whether it's really a chip off the old Ark, I don't Noah. And don't blame me for that gag. Carveth Wells himself sprung it on the reporters.

Well, I may not noah much about Noah, but I do noah it's time to say, s-l-u-t-m.```

