

FORGERY

L.T.-Olds, Wed. Aug. 23 - '61

Experts on the Soviet Union are ^{again} warning the free world - that Moscow has added a third arm to its propaganda bureau. The first two - press and radio. The third - a "forgery factory." A place where phony documents are printed, whenever Khrushchev wants phony evidence to back up his charges.

The latest example - the absurd "evidence" displayed in Moscow last week. The so-called "secret plan" for an atomic war - supposed to have been devised by the Pentagon. According to the forged evidence, we are planning to create a death ~~zone~~ zone - across Iran, Afghanistan and Pakistan.

^{we are told is another}
This ~~is only the most notorious~~ example - of Soviet forgery. ~~It is~~ Too crude to be taken seriously. Still, the free world can't afford to ignore - Moscow's "forgery factory."

NEHRU FOLLOW BERLIN

Today's remarks by the Indian Prime Minister - are being closely studied in Washington. Nehru's meaning isn't clear - and ^{we do} ~~naturally~~ we want to know how far he supports our position in Berlin.

Nehru did say that the Reds have a right to control traffic - in East Berlin. Which is ~~xxx~~ something - we didn't deny. The question is - whether they have a right to stop traffic altogether. That's what - we do deny.

Again, Nehru suggested that the East German Reds have a right - to seal the border. But he added - "whether it is justifiable or not, is another matter."

Which sounds like - a contradiction. ~~A right - that's~~ ~~unjustifiable.~~

DEGAULLE FOLLOW NEHRU

As expected, the President of France flatly opposes an western move - to begin negotiations over Berlin. DeGaulle, refusing to take part in an action - that Khrushchev could interpret as a sign of weakness. The tough ^{tall} ~~old~~ French soldiers, saying: "let the Soviet dictator come to us."

REFUGEE FOLLOW DEGAULLE

Meanwhile, ~~let's not forget - that~~ refugees are still managing to reach West Berlin. Today the spectacular case - of the mason and the wall.

An East German mason was put ~~in~~ to work - by the Reds, ~~helping~~ ~~to~~ build the wall - across Berlin. Placing mortar and laying bricks - while a squad of Communist policemen stood on guard nearby.

The mason waited until a truckful of bricks - pulled between him and the guards. When he was sure they couldn't see him - ~~he~~ he dropped his trowel, quickly scaled ~~the~~ ^{ed} the wall - ~~he~~ jumped down into West Berlin. A climb - to freedom. Said he:- "I've had it!" Or however you say it in German,

BERLIN

The problem in Berlin is - "salami tactics." The Reds, trying to cut down western rights - bit by bit. Or slice by slice - to keep the "salami" figure of speech.

No matter what the phraseology - it stands for a challenge that's hard to meet. The East Germans haven't tried - to blockade Berlin. But they are limiting - allied access to East Berlin. Cutting the points of entry - down to one. Making West Berliners use - four crossings. And other West Germans - two.

Will we accept these restrictions? According to State Department spokesman Lincoln White - that question hasn't been answered yet. We're still conferring with - London and Paris.

Meanwhile, all three allies ~~have~~ have moved their troops - right up to the Berlin border. Fighting units - ready for anything. The American second battle group has fifteen hundred men - supported by tanks. The British and the ~~French~~ French adding patrols - of armored cars. The order to all allied soldiers - "don't surrender one inch ~~km~~ of West Berlin."

BRITISH GUIANA

Tonight the Western Hemisphere is trying to size up - a South American dentist with a North American education.

Dr. Cheddi Jagan, a leftist - who has won the British Guiana election^{and is} slated to become - its first Premier. Jagan and his American wife - have often been called Communists. But during the campaign he strenuously denied - that he intends to destroy Democratic freedom. The democracies are waiting to see - ~~now~~ whether he makes good on that promise. Whether he tries to run a free government - for British Guiana.

TYROL

Still no peace - in the Tyrol. Today, ~~in the~~ ^{that glorious} Alpine region of Italy - ~~and~~ again rocked by bombs. Austrian Nationalists, demonstrating for - union with Austria. Hurling explosives from speeding cars - then disappearing into the Tyrolean City of Bolzano. There's one engaging thing - about this Terrorist campaign. It isn't ~~very~~ ^{too} terrifying. No one ever seems to get hurt - by bombs or bullets. ~~The commonest injuries - black eyes and skinned knuckles.~~ Violence in the Tyrol -- not ~~so~~ ^{too} violent.

UNEMPLOYMENT

The bill that passed the Senate today - is intended to cut down unemployment. ~~Not~~ ^{By} ~~the~~ ^{ing} train the jobless for new jobs. Equip them to move - into new fields. This - because certain types of employment are becoming scarcer. Especially in fields affected by - automation. ~~So~~ Those who lose jobs ^{out of} ~~aren't able to~~ work - unless, they have more than one skill, ~~to sell in the labor market.~~

SCHOOLS

The administration ^{will} ~~is going to~~ try again for a school aid bill - before Congress adjourns. ~~So stated today~~ by Speaker Sam Rayburn, after a conference at the White House, ^{said} The bill now under discussion - would water down President Kennedy's original version. Dropping almost everything except - school construction and ~~some~~ student loans. Removing controversial points - in the hopes of getting some kind of a school bill through on Capitol Hill.

In filing a charge against General Motors with the National Labor Relations Board - the United Auto Workers are repeating their action of sixteen years ago. In Nineteen Forty-five, the Union charged the company ~~with~~ with holding back - vital information on prices and profits. Later the U.A.W. withdrew the charge - because the strike was settled.

The point is - that G M didn't want the complaint dismissed. The management of the corporation, feeling that it had a strong case - to present in court.

Now,
~~that~~, sixteen years later, the complaint is being made -- for a second time. G M, getting another chance - to present its case.

SATELLITE

For the American ["]ranger ["] - failure and success.

Failure - because the second stage of the rocket failed to go off. Preventing - a deep space probe along the path to the moon. Success - because the first stage worked perfectly. Putting the payload into an orbit - from which the instruments are sending back loud, clear signals. Our scientists, receiving a lot more information about outer space - even if it's not exactly what they were looking for.

TUNNEL

Here's an old idea - that seems about to become a reality. The famous tunnel under the English channel - that's been discussed for years. Always turned down by the British on the ground that it might be used for invasion.

In an age of rockets - that fear is a ~~xx~~ thing of the past. Besides, Britain is joining the continent economically - in the common market. So - why not a physical bond? Why not - a tunnel?

That's what Paris is saying to London - with London in a receptive mood. Actually, the ~~xx~~ French are willing to build either a tunnel - or a bridge. But the British appear to prefer the tunnel - which is presumably what the two nations will build together. Meaning - before long you may be able to drive from Dover to ~~xx~~ Calais, under the English Channel.

INSECTS

If you've ever slapped at a fly, or winced at the sting of a mosquito - or been bothered by a deer fly - you would be interested in this. These insects - and many more - are insects to be the objects of - genocide; extermination. The method, described by Professor William Larrimer of the National Research Council - who says that atomic energy will be used, for sterilization. No younger generation - after the would be parents have been atomized, Dick. An end to - house flies, mosquitos, cockroaches, and especially deer flies.

MOUNTIE

A Canadian Mounty has come up with - this important discovery. ^{that} It's sometimes dangerous - to wear spurs. The mounty, whose identity is covered with a veil of official silence - rammed a car on Parliament Hill in Ottawa. When he got out to inspect the damage - his face was as red as his tunic. Said he to the other driver - "I am most sorry, my spur got caught in the gas pedal." The damage, three hundred dollars. Forked over by - the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. ~~Whose~~ officers are now telling their men, that if they wear spurs - they'd better be riding a horse. Not - driving a car.
