Local and the second show that we want and a state that the state

GOOD EVENING EVERYBODY:

That battle between man and nature -- continued today along Five-Hundred miles of the swollen, raging Mississippi. At Winona, Minnesota -- deep-sea divers today were plugging overloaded storm sewers -- with gigantic rubber balloons; in an effort to keep the flood-waters -- from backing up into low-lying areas. At Quincy, Illionois -- helicopters were dumping old automobile bodies on weakened levees -- in a frantic effort to hold back the river. So far, so good -- but the worst yet to come.

JOHNSON

President Johnson combined business with pleasure today -- in a walking, talking conference with Italian Prime Minister Aldo Moro.

The Italian Premier greeted with a nineteen-gun salute -- on his get-acquainted visit to the White House. Later conferring with the President for more than an hour -- also attending a thirty-minute Cabinet meeting. That was business.

Next, the pleasure. President and Mrs. Johnson accompanying their visitor -- on a brief stroll up Pennsylvania Avenue -- in the pleasant spring sunshine, polivering Moro-te aluncheon engagement - with Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler. Where part The President and Mrs. Johnson than strolling back tothe White House -- hand-in-hand. The capital crowded this week with Easter visitors -- delighted at the sight of all the VIP's. Indeed, the crush so great at times -- that Secret Service agents were forced to clear a path bodily -- to get the President back home.

VIET NAM

That latest threat of Chinese intervention in Viet Nam -- taken with a grain of salt today in Washington. Secretary of State Dean Rusk asserting that the Communist bluster -- will not alter in any way -- continued American support of the South Vietnamese war effort. Rusk adding that there can be no peace in Southeast Asia -- until the Communists half their aggression against South Viet Nam.

Meanwhile, in the battle zone itself, U.S. and Vietnamese warplanes today blocked two key highways in North Viet Nam -- by dropping bombs that touched off huge mountain landslides. One U.S. Navy pilot -- lost in the air strike. A U.S. civilian engineer -- also killed in a Viet Cong ambush near Saigon. President DeGaulle of France today ordered a French boycott -- of that forthcoming meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization -- commonly known as Seato. The boycott apparently aimed at underlining DeGaulle's disapproval -- of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

However there are reports that France may also withdraw entirely from Seato -- the major anti-Communist alliance in the Far East, but these reports also are said to be a bit premature. For one thing, France will have at least an observer -- at the Seato meeting next month in London. The French Foreign Office adding that if and when there is a peaceful settlement in Viet Nam -- "France will be happy to support it."

INDIA

Premier Shastri of India came out fighting mad today -- over the forced postponement of his scheduled visit to the United States. Shastri telling a pro-Communist rally in New Delhi -- that if he can't come to the United States when he chooses -- he won't come at all. Adding that there can be no effective peace negotiations in Viêt Nam -- until the United States halts its bombing attacks on the Communist North.

might be expected ... his remarks observed furtily.

MALAYSIA

Prime Minister Rahman of Malaysia said today that he is ready and willing to meet anywhere -- at any time -- with to Make President Sukarno of Indonesia. The is an attempt to end -the lingering Malaysian-Indonesian dispute. Rahman asserting that a peaceful settlement -- "might be possible" -- in view of Indonesia's apparent acceptance of peace proposals put forward last week by Japan. In any case, the peace bid -- said Rahman was"an answer to my prayers."

CITIZEN

Six years ago -- when Nikita Khrushchev was touring the United States -- a Chicago real estate man succeeded in breaking through tight security lines. Paulius Leonas -personally appealing to the then-Soviet Premier -- to let his children leave Lithuania. The Leonas youngsters -- a boy and a girl -- left with a grandmother -- when their parents fled before the Russian advance in Nineteen Forty-Four.

Shortly afterward -- the children permitted to rejoin their parents in the United States. The boy -- today becoming an American citizen. Young Tomas Leonas -- now a student at the University of Illinois -- taking the Oath of Allegiance in a Chicago Federal Court.

What of the girl? Tomas today disclosing that his sister -- Regina -- returned to Lithuania three years ago; There to marry her childhood sweetheart -- in hopes of also getting him out of the country. But the maneuver failed -- her amnesty was revoked -- and there she remains -- literally a prisoner of love.

COLLEGES

From Chicago -- a warning today that up to one hundred thousand qualified high school graduates -- may be turned away from colleges this fall. The prediction by Harold Temmer --Dean of Admissions for the University of Illinois -- at a meeting of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars.

The college crisis blamed on a lack of classroom space -- coupled with a lack of instructors -- at a time when millions of post-war babies are just reaching college age. As a result, the outlook for the prospective college student --"has never been as bleak as it is today." So says Dean Temmer.

Here's some expert advice on how to get ahead in business. The key to success: Don't work so hard.

That advice today from Richard Gleason -- a Chicago career planner. TA Gleason warning that the man who does his job too well -- may find himself so indispensable -- that he can't move up to a better job. Suggesting that it's far wiser for an ambitious man -- to train a subordinate to do his present job -- and thus make himself available for future advancement.

Gleason also pointing out three signs -- that may signal career trouble ahead. If you have held only one position in the last five years -- if you have been passed over twice for promotion -- or if your income has not doubled in the past ten years -- then it's time -- said he -- to start looking around for a new job.
