

Martin Boathouse

MaristLand

The William Martin boathouse almost completed in 1963. The bulwork in the lower part of the photo was placed on land of the city of Poughkeepsie to aid the Cornell and California boathouses, but the Martin boathouse was fronted with huge bolders set by Brother Nilus Donnelly.

View of boathouse row before construction of the Martin Boathouse, taken from one of the unfinished upper floors of the Leo Dormitory. The California and Cornell boathouses were used by the high schools, and Dutton Lumber began shrinking its supply of aging lumber.

The Martin boathouse celebrates its 50th birthday in 2012.
