Good Evening, Everybody:
Our old friend Mars enemy tain should cay on the front pages of the newspapers tonight.
Yes in Asia, oneemore A correspondent of the New York World Telegram cables wiz that (a terrific battle is being waged along the gr Great Wall of China. The Japanese forces opened a strong thrust at a mountain pass intended to cut off the rich province of Reyho -- spelled J-e-h-@-I the neat of from China. The idea is, as military observers have predicted, to add this rich piece of China's territory to the newly erected State of Manchukuo.

The swooped down on the Chinese
The Japanese airplanes swooped down on the hines infantry robing them with bombe and machine gun fire. But ratdsyn the ohtinese trepry But, adds the late word in that chinese lines are still holding. There all up and down one section of the Great Wall.
is fierce hand to hand fighting alombthewide front. the Chinese are concentrating in passes along the Great wall.

LEAD - 2

This new drive kegazm began immediately after the Japanese had refused British offers of mediation.
The treat Wall of China has seen many on invader, but Japan is winton a new Chapter in the long, long bask of Chinese history.

HOUSE
President-elect Roosevelt held another politicians and statesmen are attaching considerable importance, ${ }_{\boldsymbol{t}}$ it, was a conference with no less a celebrity than Colonel House, who took luncheon with the President-elect at his house in New York. The New York Evening Post emphasizes the fact that this followed closely on Mr. Roosevelt's long conversation yesterday with Secretary of State Stimson. Consequently Colonel House's visit is considered extremely significant. Thefinference is that $M_{r}$. Roosevelt is beginning active work outlining the foreign policy of his administration.

This is considered all the more probable because another guest at luncheon was Sumner Wells, former Chief of the Latin American affairs Division of the State Department. Moreover, the Honorable Jimmie Gerard who was President Wilson's ambassador to Germany, conferred with the President-elect later in the day.

President Hoover sent a significant message to Congress the concerned th trade e 1 in implements of war. He asked Congress either to Con the Geneva Convention -- a convention limit which would suppress traffic in arms. The alternative Mr. Hoover suggested was that Congress pass a special law giving the President power to limit or forbid the shipment of arms for military purposes.

It

Correspondents were commenting on the fact that Mr. Hoover did not mention any specific conflict, either the war between China and Japan or the Paraguay-Bolivia affair in the Chaco.

We've had quite a recess from news about those foreign debts for a few days, but here they are again. Monsieur Pierre Laval, former Prime Minister of France, came forward today to demolish the charges made by certain hostile Congressmen of the Newark News that Secretary of State Stimson and Secretary of the Treasury Mills were correct when they said the question of revising or annulling these debts did not come up remaster m the conversations that Monsieur Laval had with President Hoover. That war when War Laval Prime Minister hus tint to United States.

As Washington correspondents prophesied, Senator Huey Long, therambunctious kingfish Louisiana, is adding considerably to the entertainment value of the United States Senate. The kingfish's latest stunt is to buy out of his own pocket a couple of Bibles. These he is going to read to the Senate, whether the Senators like it or not, in order to convert them to his views. He's going to use them in his arguments against the bank reform bill of the distinguished Senator Carter Glass of Virginia.

Says Huey Long: "I'm going to read to the Senate from my Bibles. They 've been starting off for years here with a prayer. The Chap $l_{a}^{a} i n$ prays and that's the last we hear of the Scriptures. What this Senate ought to do is pay attention to those prayer or get a new Chaplin, someone from J. P. Morgan and Company ""

Well, there's one thing sure, a good course of reading from the Bible ought to improve the language of the

JOHNSON
by the way, thetpassage of words between Senator Johnson of California and Senator Borak of Idaho pestexday=mactignaq of cent in in Washington, Correspondents are recalling that these two pachyderms of politics, as they are eallewin the ancient capital, are/ $\frac{X}{X}$ mar enemies. As a matter of fact, for more than twelve years they 'va cherished for each other the affection of a couple of angry tomcats. Whenever word goes around that Johnson and Borah are sparring, the galleries are filled up, the cloak rooms are emptied, even Senators visit the winnto-tae-fleoz

Senate in order not to miss any of the fun. The correspondent of the once or twice yestexdeg it looked as though they would come actually to blows. They onerled-and growled and xust-steppeds

Senate chamber-wouza become a -prize ring, In-feot, several senators moved towards them though te prevent the exehenge of aetuel blow si

JUHNDUN - 2

The amusing part of it is that once upon a time Hiram Johnson and William $E_{i}^{\text {dar }}$ Horah fought shoulder to shoulder for their hero, Theodore Roosevelt. Since then, however, in Washington there have been no keener enemies than these two Westerners.

New York' eel
has an interesting dispatch today showing how news gets twisted for International propaganda. There have been cables from Europe to the effect that big shipments of rifles and machine guns have been sent from Italy to Hungary across Austrian territory. Reports from Vienna had it that this shipment was large enough to equip an entire army corps. The truth of the matter is this: In the battle of Vittorio Veneto in 1918 the Italian Army captured a lot of Austrian machine guns. More recently the kaxkx Italian War Department being thrifty by minded decided to use these machine guns, but they needed repairs. Therefore, the Italian Government asked EXEA consent of the Austrian government to send these guns The Viennese sins. conrentent. Hence to a munitions factory in Austria to be mended. This was: the actualeorigin=of the hostile rumor.

Do any of your friends, associates, or kinsmen stammer? A story from Minneapolis shows you xix how that has been cured in interesting fashion.

The # patient was a student who had recently won a Rhodes Scholarship at Oxford University. He was cured by learning to become a left hander. Previously he had been like most of us - right handed.

The explanation of the doctor who cured him is that in right handers the left side of the brain is the language center. And vice-versa. Consequently when people stammer, they can be cured by the simple device of shifting the language center. That shift gers - that all.

SPEECHES

A new benefactor of the human race has come to the front in Paris. A staff correspondent of the New York Sun informs his paper that a well known French writer has founded an anti-speech-making league. Says he: "Speeches are one of the greatest plagues of modern life." all orators to this writer are a pain in the neck. He says banquets and all other occasions $x x$ that ought to be joyous affairs, are turned into the last word of boredom by endless oratory. Cud he doeant how how night he $k$ !

Ant I am sure the only inhabitants of these

United States who will quarrel with that statement are the orators themselves, and all of chose will agree about the other fellow.

The story I am about to relate now sounds a little bit incredible. Women's bathing suits are going to be scantier next tharesummer than they were last. This was demonstrated at a rather unique sort of fashion show today. It was the first ever held. It tool place bathing suit style show in was held the Hotel New Yorker

Some of my agents were out measuring the garments displayed, and they report to me that at least an inch has been snipped from the swimming suits, all around.

One spectator observed that you won't need to go to the Island of Bali to see what the Bali women wear when they go In fact swimming. One of the bathing suits shown was made on the patern-modty a garland of flowers around the neck. Bali spireme while mean not much Then there was another suit known as a porthole. This was a navy blue skeleton with the diaphragm as well as the back cut out. course that as -they grow scantier they grow more expensive

Here's another note for the ladies. The Pennsylvania legislature has turned thumbs down on beautiful lady lobbyists. A story in the Harrisburg Patriot relates that one Pennsylvania representativex expressed his feelings on the subject as follow"; Serterdayz Said he: "I am sick of feminine lobbyists. I want them to stay away from my chair and let me make up my own feeble mind." Then he added: "I notice that it takes far longer for a good looking woman to complete an interview than one who has only half the number of teeth she ought to have."

This ungallant representative had plenty of support.

For today it's thumbs down on women lobbyists in the Pennsylvania legislature - beautiful or otherwise.

The folks in Owl's Head, New York, are much annoyed. Owl's Head is known as the coldest town the tee box ann an as the coldest town in of the state. And its inhabitants are upset because the winter is too mild. A correspondent of the ${ }^{\text {New }} \mathrm{Y}_{\text {pork }}$ Sun writes that only once this season has the temperature at Owl's Head been down to forty below, and in Owl's Head they call forty below just a nice brisk day. Any/tay doe during the winter when you walk down to the Post Office in Owl's Head and without icicles in your beard is considered a stuffy day. And the Owl's Headers are just burning up about it.

Every day there is at least one item in the papers showing the tremendous spread of the bartering idea all over the U.S.A.) For instance there is a story in the New York Sun tonight describing how the community of lInwood, almost at the extreme notherh limits of New York City on the banks of the Hudson River is getting along with a minimum of cash. In fact, there are quite a number of people in Inwood, within the City limits, who do not use cash at all. The story goes on to say that avery dealers have agreed to use scrip. This scrip merely makes possible the simplest form of barter. You can buy groceries, shoes', some articles of clothing for scrip; ed you can get medical attention, train nurses, and even have your teeth plumbed, or letters written and your books kept on scrip. You can ride in an Independent Taxi using scrip for money and you can even get yourself the makings of illicite liquor in a couple of cordial shops.

The business manager of the Exchange which runs this system 由s an unemployed Presbyterian Minister, so probably you can get yourself a sermon preached (An interesting feature is that one of the first customers of this exchange system on the northern boundary of New York City was a Pennsylvania farmer. The system is going to spread to various other districts of Gotham.

An article in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin reports that two suburbs in Chicago are stimulating business in the same way. (Scrip is being used in Atlanta, Georgia, where some four thousand employees of the city had to take as a substitute for their salaries.)

18L上に男

$$
\text { I found a tale in the }{ }^{\mathrm{N}} \mathrm{ew} \text { York Sun today as romantic }
$$ as anything of Jack London or Rex Beach．Seven years ago there was a teller in a big Chicago bank by the name of Torgney Oberg．He was a pretty good bank teller，but bank telling forever was not his idea of－＂this is the life．＂So after three years of bank telling，he chucked up his job and went into the Far East．

In spite of having led a city life, Oberg had contrived to become a first rate marksman．He drifted to the plains of Mongolia．And today that former bank teller is known throughout the Far East as the uncrowned king of Mongolia．And at that he＇s only twenty－six years old．He＇s celebrated throughout that country moreover as a man who can be trusted and respected，but a bad man to fool with．Today＇s he＇s managing a two thousand acre farm， of land that is wide open to the bitterly，cold winds．There this ex－bank teller raises camels，horses，sheep and wheat．He lives with his Chinese servants in a Chinese house，surrounded by a wall of baked mud．And there he finds the satisfaction that he never got as a bank teller in Chicago．

SALARY

Here's something original in the line of Congressmen: - a Congressman or rather a Congressman-elect, who declares that his salary is too high. Such a man's name really deserves to be In fact ts shield be written across the heavens by airplanes. spread far and wide. $A$ A dispatch to the Brooklyn Times Union tell un this noblest Roman to them all sayatit is Congressman Terry Carpenter of ScottsBluff, Nebraska. te shouting from the howectope thousand a year have so much ease and luxury that they can't get a true picture of the needs of their constituents.
Congressmen are overpaid says Terry. And who is here to deny except ?

SNOW

You can't beat Chicago enterprise. There's a ski Club out there which holds tournements every year at Cary, Illinois. You might suppose the absence of snow would disconcert the club. Nothing of the sort. They've sent to the northern part of Wisconsin and placed an order for six carloads of snow, so that they can ski to their hearts' content. go to Lake Placed where the song is sally superb.

SCHOOL

Out in California they have something unusual in the way of schools. It's a school for grown-ups. I am sure all the youngsters will agree thatsuch a thing should have existed a long time ago, ard Dim waRned to hame so myself.

A dispatch to the Baltimore Sun says that this school opened the other day at Tulare, California. It hae been in sn Fact existence several years. this establishment whet e made Tulare known as the town where everybody goes to schooliand many are still $m$ the first grade.

The greation wis: What do the chiedrendo when w then in school listening to teacher. well-known advertising man who has long been intimately associated with some of our great automobile manufacturing concerns. Carl Getz, also writes an interesting newspaper column that appears all over the country and one of his hobbies is collecting odd items about New York. Here's one he told me at the Auto Show me:-

There are still 40,000 bicycles in New York, and 400 shops where you can buy bicycles. And now In going bike to hop on my and do swede a bit fast pedalling away from this and soong until tomorrow.

