

L.T. - DELCO. MONDAY, JULY 15, 1957.

GOOD EVENING EVERYBODY:

President Eisenhower flying back to Washington today in his helicopter, which picked up at his Gettysburg farm, flew first to the secret command post - where he stayed the other day during Operation Alert. There he conferred with officials about the problems involved in getting America back on its feet - after that simulated atomic assault.

Then on to Washington - coming down on the White House lawn. Said The President: - "Good weather, good flying - a good way to see the country".

ECONOMY

The Director of the Budget <sup>has been</sup> ordered to testify before a House Committee tomorrow. Percival Brundage, called in to explain President Eisenhower's economy order =

~~The President, telling~~ <sup>to</sup> federal agencies to hold down spending - <sup>- telling them</sup>

<sup>that is</sup> hold it down to last year's level. <sup>which could</sup> ~~that would~~ mean a cut of about two billion dollars in the over-all budget.

Democrats in the House say they want to know why this order was only issued last Friday. They also want to know whether it will harm the development of atomic weapons.

NEWSMEN

The State Department is getting ready to let newsmen visit Red China. The belief around Washington is that a new policy will be announced Mr. Dulles, after he confers with representatives of the Press, radio and television, on Thursday.

As we know, the Secretary of State has said repeatedly that he doesn't want to do anything to help Mao's regime. Doesn't want to give the Chinese Reds the benefit of ~~recognition~~. That was the reason for his original ban on travel to Communist China. That ban, covering all Americans, including newsmen.

But in recent weeks, the State Department has been under fire because of this policy. Newsmen, protesting. Letters pouring in from ordinary citizens.

Secretary Dulles now admits that some system ought to be worked out - to let the American people receive first-hand news from China. And the prediction.

NEWSMEN - add is that he will grant permission for a certain number of newsmen to visit the Chinese Reds. Probably, representatives of American news organizations - that had men in China, before it was seized by the Communists.

KNOWLAND

Senator Knowland will make a <sup>Full scale</sup> ~~major~~ speaking tour <sup>of</sup> ~~in~~ California this fall. So announced by his headquarters in Washington. The Republican leader in the Senate, <sup>to</sup> ~~will~~ deliver the principal address when California Republicans meet at Long Beach, to select G O P candidates for the Nineteen Fifty-eight election. <sup>Then some</sup> ~~After that, the Senator will speak more than~~ forty times - some ~~of his stops~~ political - some non-political.

No one in the Knowland camp admits <sup>that</sup> this means <sup>a</sup> ~~his~~ bid for the governorship ~~of his state~~. But Senator Knowland will retire from the Senate in January. And in both Washington and C<sup>A</sup>lifornia, it's taken for granted - he intends to un-seat Governor Knight, if he can. <sup>Then,</sup> Knowland, to use the governorship as a possible springboard - if he decides to go all out for the G O P Presidential nomination in Nineteen Sixty.

1 a quotation from the French -

from "the Three Musketeers." Khrushchev, speaking at Pilsen, in Czechoslovakia, - quoting Alexander Dumas' famous ~~line~~, All for one, and one for all.

Khrushchev, hammering on one theme- unity in the Communist world. Especially, the unity of the Czechs and the Russians. He told the Pilsen crowd, there is no antagonism between himself and the Czech leaders. ~~He said~~ "No conflict on any question of theory or practice - that's the way the tubby little man from the Kremlin put it. Khrushchev charging, Czechoslovakia would be isolated in the world of capitalist wolves - except for Soviet support. Adding <sup>that</sup> the Communist world is also supported by China, Poland, Bulgaria, and Romania.

there had been

Oh yes, he did mention ^ some trouble with Yugoslavia.

But he insisted - that's all past, now that the Stalinists have been overthrown. Between the Kremlin and Marshal Tito - only sweetness and light from now on. The entire Marxist bloc of nations - to ~~compete as one~~ <sup>line up as one to compete</sup> with ~~the~~ the Capitalist world.

And that was where the line from the "Three Musketeers" came in. Khrushchev saying, with Communist nations it's now, All for one, and one for all.

RED ARMY

Tonight, we have some information - about why that anti-Stalinist purge has been confined to Russia. The story, coming from London - based on diplomatic sources behind the Iron Curtain. According to these ~~sources~~, Khrushchev wanted to carry his purge into the satellites, throwing out ~~the~~ all Stalinists.

The reason he didn't ^ the Red Army wouldn't stand for it. The Marshalls, refusing to have any more turmoil in the nations of Eastern Europe. Zhukov, saying Russia cannot let go of her bridgeheads along the frontier.

The Red Army arguing, that any more destalinization in the Satellites - might cause rebellions like the one in Hungary. Zhukov, forcing the policy of the Red Army on Khrushchev.

The dispatch adds <sup>that</sup> Khrushchev will probably have his way in the long run. He <sup>will</sup> get rid of the satellite Stalinists by degrees - pushing them into quiet retirement. <sup>Which is</sup> ~~This~~ okay with the Red Army - as long as there is no question of independence for the captive nations.

MOLOTOV

An official publication put out by the Soviet Embassy in Bonn - names Molotov as the Chief Villain of the recent purge. An interesting variation, because inside the Soviet Union, Malenkov has been branded as the worst of the Stalinists. The Soviet now ~~Bonn~~ Embassy denouncing Molotov for instigating a whole series of anti-party acts - especially, his opposition to the idea of different countries using different ~~in~~ roads to socialism.

DISARMAMENT

The latest word from that disarmament conference in London: - the Russians ~~are~~ getting ready to accept a complete failure. Soviet propaganda, prepared to throw the blame on the West. Today the Soviet delegate demanded <sup>d</sup> a quick presentation of all the parts of ~~of~~ America's disarmament plan. Harold Stassen, ~~replied~~ replying <sup>that</sup> he needs at least three weeks to complete his outline of the clauses still to come. Meanwhile, Russia has flatly rejected the first part - dealing with a trial ban on nuclear ~~weapons~~ weapons. So the belief ~~is~~ in London is <sup>that</sup> Russia's call for greater speed - ~~is~~ is just another propaganda move. <sup>For there is no</sup> ~~No~~ evidence that the Kremlin is prepared to agree to anything. Khrushchev, all set to blame Stassen - if and when this conference is called off.

ISRAEL

A heated dispute in the Israeli parliament. The question - diplomatic relations with West Germany. Should Israel establish relations with Chancellor Adenauer's government, or not? The Nationalist party saying - "no". Calling Germany, "a nation of murderers."

But Premier Ben Gurion says Israel should have diplomatic relations with West Germany because the present Germany is not at all like Hitler's ~~Reich~~ Reich. Besides, West Germany is a vital part of Europe's economy - important for Israel's international trade.

EARTHQUAKE

The Shah of Iran orders an investigation of the latest earthquake near the Caspian Sea. Officials in the area reported - two thousand persons killed. The figure, so tragic - that Shah cut short a European vacation, hurried back; and rode through the region on horseback, for a first-hand investigation. He says he found the actual death toll only - one hundred and thirty.

The Shah, demanding to know who started the panic. Who said two thousand dead. In Teheran, members of the government say local officials will be punished for frightening the nation.

KOREA

The U.S. Seventh Division in Korea to have atomic weapons. The Defense Department announcing that we intend to build up our forces - to match the Red build-up in North Korea. This, following our denunciation of the Armistice agreement - which the Reds violated so often.

Reorganization of the Seventh Division to get under way - the Division to be armed with guided missiles and atomic artillery. The division that mans the truce line in Korea.

ATOMIC

An atomic device was exploded today - that failed to go off last month - when the three scientists climbed that tower to remove the trigger? This time the device went off with the usual blast. The tower disintegrated - in a bright flash of purple flame; and the giant mushroom cloud - rose into the sky.

More than five hundred military observers watched from a safe distance. While nearer the explosion, twenty experts, sat it out in underground shelters; only two thousand feet away - watching the explosion through periscopes. As soon as radiation had dispersed, enough, these experts entered the area to study the effect.

MANEUVERS

The Navy announces, Nato maneuvers in the fall.

Major
~~Big~~ exercises, to test the power of the allies to strike back, in case of attack. ~~Operations~~, on a broad front from Norway all the way to Turkey.

This will be the largest nato exercise - for Uncle Sam's Navy. Admiral Jerould Wright, our commander in the Atlantic - ~~saying that~~ <sup>2</sup> three hundred ships will be involved, a thousand planes, and more than six thousand Marines.

The Nato forces could go right to the Russian shoreline - off the North Cape of Norway. Instead, the ships will be ordered to stay clear of Soviet waters. As Admiral Wright puts it, "we don't want to make faces over the fence."

SMUGGLER

A star table tennis player - just back from Europe, with a lot more than a title. Douglas Cartland, of Trenton, New Jersey, who has been playing ping-pong at American military bases abroad.

When he arrived at McGuire Air Force base, he was picked up by customs officials. In his baggage they found - some three hundred watches, and a lot of photographic equipment; worth around ten thousand dollars.

Today, a judge fined Cartland fifteen hundred dollars - the same amount he would have paid to the customs if he had declared what he was bringing in - along with his table tennis racquets and ping pong balls.

AGA KHAN

Harvard is about to lose its most famous undergraduate. The new Aga Khan; the former Prince Karim, meeting newsmen on the lawn of his grandfather's Swiss villa. Laying down his course for the future; Harvard seems out. The Aga Khan saying that much as he would like to finish his education he fears it is impossible.

The young Aga Khan to spend the coming year visiting the centers of the Ismaili Moslems; in India, Pakistan, East Africa, and the Middle East. Then, after his tour to decide where to live permanently. That he must not let anything interfere with his work for the Ismailis. Not even Harvard.

Meanwhile, the young Aga Khan is relying on the widow of his grandfather - the Begum, who was a beauty queen of France, before she married one of the world's wealthiest men. In his will, the late Aga Khan advised his successor - to XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX listen to the Begum - on all subjects concerned ~~with~~ with the family or the Ismailis.

MUSICIAN

From Beacontree, England, a strange story of a musician - who was killed by his instrument. William Sennet, <sup>1/10</sup> played the electric guitar in a Beacontree pub, ~~he~~ was popular - drew customers ~~into~~ that <sup>e</sup> pub, <sup>even from</sup> ~~from the~~ surrounding counties.

Saturday night, Sennet got up to sing. His electric guitar draped across his shoulder. As he started to sing, there was a flash of blue light - and he fell to the floor. Before anybody could reach him, he was dead.

The police of Beacontree say - the guitar electrocuted him. Sennet, spilling beer on his shoes - completing a short circuit. The musician, <sup>electrocuted by his own guitar.</sup> ~~killed by his instrument.~~

NUMBER TEN

The British Prime Minister claims - his official home is good for another two hundred years. Harold MacMillan, referring to Number Ten Downing Street - historic residence of Prime Ministers ever since the Seventeenth Century. Number Ten, suffering from dry rot and wood beetles. Today the Prime Minister said the building was "Jerry built - on Marshland and wooden piles". But he scoffs at the prediction that famed Number Ten is liable to fall apart at any moment. He thinks the beetles won't bring his home down - for two more centuries!

In fact, the Prime Minister says he's more concerned with a different problem. That Number Ten - has no back door. The Prime Minister, never knowing if he is going to meet a grocer or the man with the fish when he escorts distinguished visitors to the door - the door with the Number Ten. So, Joe, the British Prime Minister, wants a back door!

OGDEN NASH

W. N.

Are you an Ogden Nash fan? If not, surely you are in the minority.

So far as this radio broadcast is concerned, he is the poet laureate, with no rivals.

Have you seen the latest Ogden Nash book? The title of it is: YOU CAN'T GET THERE FROM HERE. Here for example are a few inspired Nash lines: The title of the poem: Birthday ON The Beach.

At another year
I would not boggle
Except that when I jogg
I joggle.

That's it. That's all. Does that verse contain a thought for you? It does for me!

And solong until tomorrow
