Mater and Feeney Chosen for Leading Roles InTheatre Guild Production of "The Visit"

Paul Maher, Paul Nigra and Dennis Feeney have been chosen to play the major roles in this spring's production of Frederick Duessenmatt's The Visit to be performed before the general public on the weekend of May 3,4 and 5.

Maher, a transfer student from Manhattan College, plays the lead role of Anton Schill, the most "popular" citizen of the town of Gullen, Germany. Paul Nigra is the Rector of the town's high school and Dennis Feeney is the town's Burgomaster.

Others selected for roles were Thomas Heffernan, Dan Fogarty, Vinny Sheridan, Phil Bruno, Dick Meres, Howie Burrage, Mike Perry and Peter Killen.

The female casting is practically complete and will be announced soon.

The Guild wishes to make known the fact that there are still a few small speaking parts open to complete the casting. There are also several positions available for "behind the scenes" work, such as stage construction, set designing, lighting, props, etc.

Mr. Britt, the Guild's Director, and Brother Joseph Belanger, the Moderator, have expressed their satisfaction at the apparent good choice of young actors.
"The play itself is a masterpiece and will require good acting, hard work and perseverance. But if everyone does his or her part, it will be a giant success for the actors and for Marist College itself."

An Evening With...

Last Saturday evening, February 9th, Marist College sponsored a movie and mixer. Among the schools invited were St. Francis and Vassar Brothers Hospitals and Mt. St. Mary's College.

The movie, entitled The Great Imposter, starring Tony Curtis, was based on the life of the elusive Fred Demora. The showing of the film took place in the Marist College gym.

Following the motion picture, a mixer was held in Adrian Lounge. Refreshments were served and an entertaining evening was enjoyed by all.

April 1st Set For Scholar Incentive Applications

Scholarship, fellowship and scholar incentive claims for the spring 1963 semester are being forwarded to the colleges at this time. The claims will include the names of all students who filed complete and approvable applications prior to January 1, 1963. Students whose applications are approved after that date will be included in supplementary vouchers.

Please note that only one application serves for both the fall and spring semesters. Students who have already filed for the fall semester should not file again, even if payment for the fall has not yet been processed. Similarly, only one notification of maximum award is issued each year. The notification issued to students in September applies to both semesters. New notifications for the spring will be issued only to those students who did not file an application for the fall term.

Special attention is called to the cut-off date of April 1, 1963 for filing applications for the spring semester. Applications filed after that date cannot be accepted. Your cooperation is asked in assuring the widest possible publicity to this cut-off date by announcements, prominent posting, inclusion in student publications, and other appropriate campus media, so that no qualified student may be deprived of financial assistance through oversight.

Student Council Announces New Election Procedures

The elections for the student council of 1963-64 will be held on Friday, April 26, 1963. Under the new election rules all nominations must be submitted to the election commissioner on or before Friday, MARCH 15, 1963. This gives any student considering nomination approximately one month to make up his mind. During the interval between the nomination date and the election date all nominees are required to attend all council meetings and to act on at least one committee of the council; this is to familiarize them with the workings of the council before they enter office.

The positions open to each class are as follows: senior class - president, vice-president and a representative; junior class - recording and corresponding secretaries and a class representative; sophomore class - treasurer and a class representative.

The class into which a student enters in September of 1963 determines the offices which are open to him; for example a student entering as a junior, even if he is a junir this semester, may run for the posts available to that class.

A summary of the pertinent election rules follows:

1. For council offices representing the entire student body nominees must obtain the signatures of $1 / 10$ th of the day, full time, student body on a nominating petition.
2. For class office on the council nominees must secure the signatures of $1 / 10$ th of the members of their class. 3. No student may nominate more than one candidate for the same post.
3. If more than three people are nominated for the same office, a primary will be held on Friday April 5th, and the names of the top three candidates will be entered in the final election. 5. All candidates must have a minimum 2. 00 cumulative index.
4. All nominating petitions must be given directly to Bob Snyder, election commissioner.
5. All nominees for president of the council must have attended Marist for at least THREE full semesters.

Success Equals?

Success in college is often equated with the grades onereceives. It is my opinion, however, that these are not valid criteria if one considers the purpose of a college education. If the aim of college is to teach one how to learn, how to educate oneself, then marks cannot be the sole basis of evaluating success.

Of course, tests and grades are a necessary evil for the purpose of stimulation, but they should not be the norm by which a college student judges himself. Memorization and application of facts do not constitute the entirety of or even greater part of selfeducation. Good grades may indicate that one is learning to learn, and poor grades may indicate the opposite, but this is not necessarily so.

A more accurate measurement for self-evaluation is reading, or more precisely, proper reading. This is perhaps the greatest means by which one can educate himself; and therefore, the amount of proper reading a student does is the true test of his success in college.

For those who need facts and proof of material as well as abstract advantages I wish to add the following quote from International Paper's booklet The Reading Explosion.
"There is an expected parallel between the increase in education and the increase in reading. ....

Correlation between success and reading can actually be expressed in terms of dollars. We asked one hundred company officers earning over $$ 7500$ a year 'How many magazines, books, and newspapers have you read in the past week?' The total of their answers: 338 magazines; 53 books; 1, 490 newspapers.

Then we asked one hundred men in the same age group whose salaries had never reached $$ 7500$ a year. The total for them: 229 magazines; 28 books; 1, 177 newspapers. ....

Evidence that men who read more achieve more."

ing Division Student Council, held on February 9th, resembled nothing quite so much as an action-packed Western. First the Conservatives came charging into the fray, brandishing their arguments like cavalry sabers. The lines of the Liberals held firm, and when the force of the Conservative charge was spent, the Liberals mounted their own charge. Back and forth surged the battle, and in the center of the battlefield was the moderator - Brother Cornelius, who, whenever he attempted to rise, was forced back into cover by the renewed charge of one group or the other. When the bullets stopped ricochetting and the cloud of dust had settled down, the matter had still not been fully settled. What was the controversial issue? The Dean's Honor List for the Evening Division!

The Liberals maintained that the requirements of the Dean's list were overly prohibitive when applied to the Evening Division. (The requirements are that a student, in order to get appointed to the list, must carry a minimum of 12 credits for the semester and attain a minimum of $B$ average.) The Liberals argued that most of the night students could not carry 12 credits, so, even if they were doing academic work worthy of honors, they could never make the Dean's list because of the credit requirement.

On the other side, the Conservatives held that any lessening of the Dean's list requirements would effectually devaluate the worth of achieving a position on the list. The honor a student achieves is considerably dimmed if it does not take a considerably more than average effort to qualify for the list. Further, they argued, that lowering of the requirements would penalize the Honors student who did carry a minimum of 12 credits; because, it is far more difficult to earn a $B$ average with a 12 credit load than a $2,4,6$ or 8 credit load.

A compromise, of sorts, was achieved. A recommendation will be made to Dr. Schroeder that an Evening Division Dean's List be posted, commencing with the Fall semester of ${ }^{\prime} 63$. The proposed list will be divided into two sections. The first will name those students who, carrying 12 credits or more, have completed the most recent semester with a B (3.0) average or above. The second part of the list will consist of the posted names of those students who have earned 30 or more credits at Marist, and have an average of $B$ or above. It will be a cumulative index, that is, as long as a night student has earned 30 or more credits, maintaining a minimum $B$ average, regardless of his credit load, he will recont. on p. 3

Second Semester Alters  Faculty and Student Body

by Peter Kearney

The new semester of 1963 has brought a number of transfer students and new teachers to Marist. However, students have felt the temporary loss of Brother Andrew Molloy, who has gone to Switzerland. The purpose of Brother Andrew's departure is to attend his second novitiate, a period of spiritual retraining for those who have been Marist Brothers for a number of years. Brother Andrew will be gone for approximately six months. Replacing Brother Andrew as head of the Chemistry Department will be Brother Richard La Pietra.

Returning as head of the Psychology Department is Brother Daniel Kirk, who has just returned from his second novitiate in Switzerland. Brother Daniel is former acting president and dormitory proctor.

A new history instructor, Brother Edward Cashin, has also come to Marist. He has a doctorate degree in Americanhistory and formerly taught at Mt. St. Michael, Bronx, N. Y.

Replacing Mr. Sommer in some of his literature and composition classes is Mr. Patrick Vitacco. He is a graduate (summa cum laude) of St. Mary's College of Winona, Minnesota. Mr. Vitacco has also received a master's degree in English from Columbia University.

main on the list. A new posting will be made at the end of each semester, and any student who, having attained the list, fails to maintain these requirements will be promptly removed.

Another, less controversial topic, was the subject of class rings for the Evening Division. To qualify for a class ring (which costs about forty dollars) a day student must have earned 80 credits and be in the second half of his junior year. Meeting this requirement alone will not suffice for the night student because each class ring has the student's graduating year embossed upon its side. A nigh student may well have 80 credits or more, but because of his rate of credit earning, will not graduate for another two or three years. The solution seems to be that any night student, desiring a class ring, will decide the matter for himself. Practically speaking, the night student will probably have earned well in excess of 100 credits before the ring is ordered.

The last, and most interesting, topic of discussion concerns the Spring Social Activity. Committee Chairman Lou Lewis stated that, although he had received several bizarre sugges-

Request Made by Reynard for Student Assistance

We of the Senior Class invite all underclassmen to be patrons in our Yearbook. The main purpose of this is to aid in keeping down our expenses for the Yearbook production. However, this will also give the "silent men" on campus an opportunity to have their say in the ' 63 Reynard by giving us their names and salutations.

Any group of student may work out their salutations. Any class of students may give us their "confidential" secrets. All the students in the dormitories may all participate by floor, friend, or foe. The cost of a patron is ten dollars. We do not expect single students to be individual patrons. We would rather see groups of ten or so who are "power blocs" to join with our feelings. Ten dollars for a group of students is not much. We would, as we said, prefer to see all classes represented in the Yearbook.

Any senior will be glad to take your money. We usually do most of the time anyway! In particular, men like Phil Bruno, Wally Bunten, Gene Spada or Tom Oulton would be glad to explain what a patron is and why the Yearbook needs them. The above names are the main segment of the Business Staff. But we promise they will not give you the "business". We will be on our business campaign in February, March and April. If a senior approaches you don't stone him, give him your support.

Thank you !!!

tions, the activity most favored seemed to be a picnic. Before making a final decision on the matter, the Council voted to look into the matter of securing a suitable picnic site, one with swimming and athletic facilities. The picnic will be designed for the whole famile, especially for children, so top attendance is expected. Free beer, soft drinks, and hot dogs will be provided. There will be supervised recreational activities for all the children, a planned group of athletic activities for those adults who wish to participate (softball, volleyball, etc.), and ample grassy areas for those who prefer to simply laze away the warm June afternoon. By the way, the proposed date for the event is June 23rd, a few weeks after the final exams. It will be a great opportunity for the wives, not only an afternoon out, but the chance to meet other students' wives, all having at least one thing in common -- husbands who, it must seem to them, spend most of their time at home studying. Needless to say, the kids should love it.

The first semester has really taken its toll on the Marist College basketball team. The squad is now minus five, plus two, for a total of nine ballplayers. From here it looks like stormy weather for the rest of the season unless Laffie LaForge can make the difference underneath. Nevertheless, don't count this Saturday out, it is our professional opinion that New Paltz will see a few surprises. Let's see a full house at Poughkeepsie H.S. Speaking of Poughkeepsie H.S. we do hope to see all the home games played there next year, we don't think Iona is ready for our fieldhouse. Next year we hope that a freshman team and more clearly defined eligibility rules will prevent recurrence of this year's catastrophe.

Coach Jeremiah Sheehan's "Shanties" along with the St. Denis Club and cheerleaders are both currently sporting a 4 win 0 loss record in the basketball intramural loop. However, don't count out Gerry Dahow's "Flyers" who sport 1 loss by way of aforfeit due to a misunderstanding.

The city of Poughkeepsie in conjunction with Marist College will host ABC 's wide world of Sports and the National Schoolboy Rowing Championships in May of 1964. The Championships will feature the top high school crew teams as far west as Chicago. We hope this might lure many a good oarsman to our Poughkeepsie campus.

Matmen Lose to Monmouth; Williams Shows Potential

by Thomas Troland

Marist's improving wrestling squad dropped a 30-8 decision to Monmouth College of New Jersey on February 9 th in the college gym.

The steady wrestling of Dick Meres ( 147 lbs. ) gave the Red and White its first three points via a decision over Monmouth's Lodge. Brian Tervenski ( 130 lbs ) was pinned by Steirman of the visitors at $5: 31$.

After fighting valiantly against a much taller Monmouth opponent, Bob Van Aernum ( 157 lbs .) was pinned by Delaney at $1: 48$.

Then newcomer John Williams brought the Marist crowd to its feet when he scored a pin for the Red and White over Monmouth's heavyweight Moro, in a very fast $1: 50$.

In exhibition matches, Pete Capell defeated Monmouth's O'Connor, Ron Morin was pinned by the visitor's Bryan at 1:07; and Brian Tervenski was stopped by Nyborg in 1:36.

On Sunday evening, February 10th a group of freshmen played host to a strong Student Brother Squad. The freshmen came out on top of the nip-and-tuck contest 83-79.

The end of the first half found the Brothers leading by an eight point margin. This lead was built up due to a phenomenal $65 \%$ field goal shooting percentage, strong rebounding by Brother Francis O'Rourke, and the fine playmaking of Brother Michael O'Neill.

Early in the second half the frosh switched their defense and came on strong. They built up an eight point lead with less than four minutes to go only to have it cut down to one with a minute and a half left. Clutch foul shooting by Dennis O'Brien and the strong rebounding of Jim Clancy brought the margin back up to four. This proved to be the decisive factor in giving the freshmen a well-deserved victory.

Dennis O'Brien led the freshmen with 24 points while Brother Francis O'Rourke led the Brothers with 23.

Marist Cagers Defeat Dickenson, Brooklyn; Oullet Stars Against Bloomfield

The Marist cagers took a southern trip on the night of February 5th and made things hot for the hometown Fairleigh Dickenson with a 68-59 victory.

In the opening stages of the game neither team was very accurate from the floor but the home forces built a 9-3 lead after 5 minutes on the floor. When the half finally rolled around the Marist squad held a 28-26 lead.

Bernie "Gigando" Dooley started the second half for the Foxes and proceeded to prove it was the correct move. Bernie ripped the cords with 8 consecutive foul shots in amassing his points for a night's work.

The contest was marred by 44 personal fouls and 1 technical foul. The technical call and 27 personals were called on the home five. Marist cashed in on the dirty play of Dickenson by connecting with 28 of 37 free throws, 12 of 14 in the first half.

The Marist cagers invaded New York City in mid=January and completely wrapped up a Brooklyn Poly team while setting a Red Fox scoring record, 103-69.

The entire story of the game was told in the opening half. At the intermission Marist led 62-29. The Red Fox quintet trailed at one time $1-0$, and that was it! While setting the 33 point half time lead Marist hit on 23 shots in 33 attempts.

Jim Daly was the hero of the game as he tapped in the 100th point of the rout.

The Marist cagers played hot to the Bloomfield College team on January 29 at Poughkeepsie High School gym and came out on the short end of a 67-59 score.

John Ouellet was the bright point in the Red Fox line up for that night. "Big $O^{\prime \prime}$ popped in a 23 point barrage for his year high. Randy Trawick led all ores with 24 points.

Ater the game Marist maintained a 1-3 league record while Bloomfield a 1 mank in
