DEMONSTRATIONS LT Ruid, MM. Oct. 18-65, Fisher.

From his sick bed at Bethesda Naval Hospital President Johnson today xon condemned the nationwide protests against American policy in Viet Nam. These demonstrations - said the President in no way "consistent with the national interest." The more/so - said he -- in that they could "give our adversaries - a false picture of what the people actually feel in this country."

The President's fears - apparently borne out by comment from Red China. The official Peking people's Daily calling the weekend protest movement "a sign of rapid growth of the political consciousness of the American people." A clear indication - than the report went on - "of the American people's struggles against their administration's aggression abroad."

hundred thousand people. So pleased, in fact, that they've scheduled a march on Washington - for November twenty-seventh. A march ostensibly "for peace in Viet Nam".

But at least one member of the movement - may have difficulty attending. Twenty-two year old David J.

Miller -- arrested today at Hooksett, New Hampshire.

For burning his draft card - at a protest rally Friday in New York.

The first person charged under a new federal law.

Meanwhile, a sharp flare-up of fighting today in the Mekong Delta in Viet Nam. Communist guerrillas atra attacking at least twelve government outposts - along a thirty mile front, and reports that the Viet Cong - are moving more and more veteran troops into the area.

There are - at present - no American forces stationed there.

Just the opposite - in the air. A fleet of forty

American jets virtually unopposed today -in a sweep across the face of North Viet Nam. The main body of planes - summi smashing a railway yard about ninety-five miles northeast of Nan Hanoi. The rest blasting bridges and tunnels wherever they could find them.

That "freedom shuttle" from Cuba - again in full swing today. The Coast Guard picking up five more small boats - as they attempted to cross the choppy Florida Straits.

Todays the tiny flotilla - bearing more than a hundred Cuban refugees, Including so many youngsters that the fantail of one Coast Guard cutter for the line like a giant baby carriage.

In the meantime, a report from Radio Harana that twenty-four more boats have arrived at the embarkation port of Camarioca. Making a total of about seventy small craft - that are now being readied to bring additional refugees to the United States.

An extra added assignment was disclosed today in Washington, for the history-making flight of the Gemini-Six -- set for next week.

Astronauts Wally Shirra and Tom Stafford -- will try to photograph the so-called "Sun-grazing" Ikeya-Seki Comet, considered by many astronomers -- the most exciting solar event of the century.

The comet is expected to reach peak visibility this

Wednesday -- when it passes within about three hundred thousand miles of the sun. With a tail more than four million miles long -- it will be nearly as bright as a full moon.

But it will continue to be brighter than the planet

Venus -- for perhaps another week. Time enough for Shirra and Stafford -- to get an unprecedented pictorial account of the phenomenon they hope.

Premier Ian Smith of Rhodesia today rejected another British move - to find a compromise solution to the colony's bid for independence.

Smith rejecting the intercession of a committee of Commonwealth nations - to settle the dispute, Asserting that its prospective members were too far removed from worthflile the situation - to make any meanings.

The rejection apparently bringing the Rhodesian government closer than ever - to a unitateral declaration that would!

of independence, The first by a British colony - since the American Declaration of Independence in Seventeen-Seventy Six.

In any case, a final decision to be made - said Important of the mext few days."

WILSON FOLLOW RHODESIA

Later - the an eleventh hour cable - from

Prince Ministry

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson in London urging Jan

Smith "for the sake of Rhodesia and for the sake of Africa

Prince Ministry

not to seize independence unilaterally." Wilson adding that "at this grave hour - Britain is open to any ideas" that might solve the independence issue.

INDONESIA

A new military crackdown on Communists today in Indonesia

-- in apparent defiance of President Sukarno.

A leavest the local the a lately-hour reache affect

The military commander of Jakarta -- ordering a temporary suspension of the Indonesian Communist party and -- a ban on all presumably pro-Communist organi ations -- in the Jakarta area.

The announcement by Radio Jakarta raising once again -a question as to Sukarno's present position in Indonesia.

Sukarno himself angrily denying over the weekend -- that he had lost control of the government.

Today's action does seem like a reply to his request last week, that the army -- stay out of politics, which its leaders are not doing. So where does that leave Sukarno?

A tragic end today - to a thirty-hour rescue effort at Clarksburg, West Virginia. Rescue workers recovering the final four bodies - from a weekend mine disaster. Seven dead in all - as the result of fire caused by an electrical short-circuit.

TURNCOAT

From Hong Kong - news today of another American turncoat - thoroughly disenchanted with Red China.

Morris Wills of Fort Ann, New York - said to be homeward bound with his Chinese wife and daughter, After thirteen years - behind the Bamboo Curtain.

ther were in all, twenty-one Americans prisoners of war - who elected to remain with their Communist captors under and nowterms of the Korean armistice, but with Wills departure only three postering in China.

This next -- from Penington Gap, Virginia. Where America's oldest pilot -- oldest in age -- was chosen to inaugurate a new airport. The plan calling for Dr. A. M. Wallace -- to be the first to land a plane.

Well, sir, the touchdown -- perfect. Only one flaw -the brakes failed. Dr. Wallace's plane hurtled off the end of the runway -- into a stand of trees.

At that -- a successful landing -- by early standards.

Dr. Wallace at least able -- to walk away from it.

Island - said ska - of saif on to Page Page in American

Oh yes -- his age: Ninety-one.

And now that CBS veteran, Stewart Metz.

Sixteen year old Lee Graham of Honolulu -- was reported two weeks overdue today. In a solo voyage from Hawaii - to Canton Island in the South Pacific. Second leg of an attempt to sail solo around the world - in a twenty-four foot fiberglass boat.

Be that as it may, the boy's mother - apparently unconcerned. Mrs. Lyle Graham noting that her son an expert sailor - who had sailed from California to Hawaii this summer - without incident.

Lee has plenty of food and win water - said

Mrs. Graham. So he probably decided to by-pass Canton

Island - said she - sail on to Pago Pago in American Samoa.
