GOOD EVENING EVERYBODY:

Nations are fighting back at the Axis powers more xigaroux vigorously every day. The Royal Air Force made another raid on the coast of Europe this afternoon. The Air Ministry described it as a big sweep in which the British flights were almost entirely unopposed. That's different from yesterday's lost twenty-five planes.

When the R.A.F. paid a visit to Turin, they found the city quite unprepared for a raid and as brilliantly lighted as though Italy was already out of the war. The Italians claim that the raid did little damage, but the British observers tell another story.

The most serious news of the day was that revealed by Prime Minister Winston Churchill. He informed the Commons that the Japanese have a most powerful fleet in the waters around India. It includes three battleships, at least one of them a modernized capital ship carrying sixteen inch guns. Also five aircraft carriers; several squadrons of destroyers; plus heavy and light cruisers. In other words, a fleet of major strength. HAnd Churchill used these words:- "It is quite true that, while the Ceylon, attack on Colombo, was being delivered by the Japanese, our torpedo aircraft sallied out for an attack on the carriers, from which the Japanese attack had been delivered. But owing to thunderstorms and low cloud visibility, they did not make contact wikhxixx that day."

Concerning the attack on TricomalLe, Churchill
made this admission:- "Practically all our aircraft taking part in the attack were knocked out, seriously damaged, or became unserviceable."

Churchill also admitted the loss of the cruisers

DORSETSHIRE  and CORNWALL, and the aircraft carrier

HERMES. In spite of these reverses, the Prime Minister expressed full confidence in Admiral Sir James Somerville,

the man who carried out the evacuation at Dunkirk.

AFGHANISTAN

The Japanese are now threatening India, not only from the east but from the northwest. Their agents have been busy in Afghanistan. The Chinese Foreign Office at Chungking declares that there has been a large Japanese infiltration into the Land of the Hindu Kush Mountains, the country of the Amir. That the Japanese Minister at Kabul has a large force of operatives at work, intriguing and spreading the influence of Nippon. To offset that, the Chinese are going to senda diplomatic envoy and a Chinese infiltration across the River Oxus, to Kabul.

And by the way, the drive is on the raise a few million dollars for United China Relief, the leaders of which remind us that China has more than fifty million war refugees, including millions of wounded, and the Chinese are our Allies.

A strong Japanese army, with heavy artillery and had avrived within twenty miles of the rich oilfields of Burma today. It has driven a wedge between the Irrawaddy River and the Sittang, at the center of the British and Chinese lines The American Volunteer Group, the Flying Tigers, are in action again, having received a fresh supply of planes. In conjunction with the Royal Air Force, they are waiting for an all-out battle to pet back command of the air over the Burma front. Nevertheless, there's no blinking at the fact that the enemy has more planes. The fact anese tave heavy artillery means that they that the Japanese are progressing in force and not merely filtering through.

Nations in the Indian Ocean, American flying forces have badly damaged two large Japanese ships at Rabul in

New Britain. They also destroyed or damaged twenty-five planes and spread havoc oxex all over the Japanese invasion bases north of Australia.

Japanese General Yamashita is using everything he has to break down Corregidor, our last bastion in the Philippines. The island has endured twenty-two bombing raids in the last forty-eight hours. But the hardihood and marksmanship of the defenders have inflicted much destruction on the enemy.

The most exciting news about Russia today comes The Swedish by way of Stockholm. The dispatch reports that the Red Army has actually fought its way back across the River Desna on the central front; The Nazi Army occupying the City of Bryansk is now practically surrounded, According this is important because Bryansk is a key point in the German line. The Soviets say that the Nazis hurled three terrific counter-attacks with tanks, in force, trying to recapture a vital point on that Bryansk front; but all attacks were repelled. It is also claimed that the Red Armies have recovered a town eight miles east of Rzhev and made a deep penetration in that sector.

The Nazis, on the other hand, claim that the Russians made only weak and isolated attacks, which were easily repulsed.

The Communist newspaper PRAVDA, reports that

Hitler has been sending hundreds of fighter and bomber planes to reinforce his air power on the eastern front.

But, says Pravda, "the Germans never again will obtain any superiority or the element of surprise. Russian planes," declares the Party newspaper, "are qualitatively superior to the Nazi air arm."

In an editorial, PRAVDA today threw out a warning in the direction of Japan. Etwas A warning to what PRAVDA calls "Japanese militarists, whose heads have been turned by success. They should be aware about prattling of an annexation war in the north. All such ballyhoo," says PRAVDA, "can harm Japan first of all and most of it adds, all. If the neutrality pact is to continue, Japan must have the same attitude as the Soviet Union."

The Nazis in Jugoslavia find it so difficult to conquer the Serbian guerrillas, that they regoing to kill the women and children of the leaders. Only last week Hitler's men announced that they had sixteen thousand hostages and that they intended to the them ale

unless General Mikhadovitch called off the Spring offensive he had planned with his guerrilla troops.

They also threaten to wipe out entire towns and villages.

Mikhadovitch's generals defied that threat,
whereupon the Nazis today seized the wives and children
of Mikhadovitch and fourteen other of his commanders.
The Germans will shoot them all. When Mikhadovitch's family was arrested he promptly radioed to Belgrade that he was going to carry on his fight until either he died or until the last Nazi is riped away from Serbian soil.

In Libya, the offensive by Nazis and Italians, which has been expected for the two weeks, has not come off. Instead of that, Field Marshal Rommel has withdrawn his column, considerably to the surprise of the British high command in the Middle East. So far there is no explanation of this, were, but doubtless its meaning will be evident soon.

Bigger and better raids by Commando forces is the New British motto. When General Marshall, our own Chief of Staff, arrived in Longon, it was prophesied that the Churchill cabinet would adopt that strategy as the equivalent to a Western Front, to help Russia. Already the Commando raids have obliged Hitler to strengthen and reinforce the European seashore line all the way from the French shores of the Bay of Biscay to the fjords of Norway.

today the British War Council announced that the chief command over all the Commandos has been given to Captain Lord Louis Mountbatten cousin of King George the Sixth, and son of Prince Louis of Battenburg, who was First Sea Lord of the British Admiralty in Nineteen Fourteen. The family changed the name of "Battenburg" to "Mountbatten" during the last war.

The appointment of Lord Louis Mountbatten means far more than the fact that a member of the royal family has been given one of the key pommands a in the fighting forces, and one of the most dangerous operations in the war. In his new job young Mountbatten succeeds Admiral of the Fleet Sir Roger Keys, one of the veteran sea dogs of the British Navy.

Lord Louis has the distinction of having survived the bombing or torpedoing of four ships, of which he was the commanding officer.

It was announced today that he has been attending all of the strategy conferences during the visit of General Marshall to London.

Here's a prediction from an Army officer and a flying ace of twenty-five years ago, that this war is going to last at least five years.

This may be startling and, even shocking to some of us,

a number of people, particularly people whom live hearth saying glibly that it will be all ever next year. The

The man who says it will last man who slives it at least five years is Eddie

Rickenbacker, President of Eastern Airlines and a

Colonel in the Army Air Corps Reserve. He made that prediction at Mitchel Field today to the combat unit in training there. At the request of General Map Arnold, Chief of the Air Forces, Rickenbacker has been visiting allower combat units, the United States.

He went even further than his five-year prophecy and told the pilots at Mitchel Field that there's a possibility that this war may last ten years.

MEXEXE But even at five years, we will need at least three hundred thousand pilots, he said. And One hundred thousand of them would be needed for instructors.

At the same time, he told the men in these words:
"Man for man, and plane for plane, Uncle Sam has the greatest aerial fighting machines in the world today."

Then he pointed out that, "If you have any doubts, just turn your eyes to wherever American pilots and American made planes are doing their stuff in the theatre of war."

The Navy revealed today that our submarines in the Pacific have sunk or damaged no fewer than fifty-eight Japanese vessels. Then Include seventeen warships, — airplane from destroyers to carriers. The best part of it is that this has been done at a cost of only two American submarines. Miraculous, the Navy men call it, and they add that this has appreciably weakened the power of Japan in the southwest Pacific.

As for the work of the Navy in the Atlantic,

Secretary Knox told the country today that the Atlantic coast inshore patrol has been reinforced by more than a hundred planes and a hundred small craft. Knox admitted that we can never reach perfection in anti-submarine warfare; but we have taken measures to protect shipping.

And he added that by May the First, the damage done by enemy submarines off the eastern coast will be negligible.

The Secretary said all this in Boston where he is on a tour of inspection. He admitted that Boston, like Philadelphia, is in perilous condition. Both ports

need more adequate protection against fire and sabotage,

hat both nels and particularly more patrol boats.

Two hundred and ninety people were rescued after a large British passenger ship was torpedoed somewhere off the Atlantic coast on Saturday. Ninety-five of the two hundred and ninety were passengers, including thirty-seven women and twenty-four small children, to say nothing of a cat and three kittens. There were ten lifeboats to save them.

Vice-President Wallace will soon take over an important part of the job of Secretary of Commerce Jesse That's a prediction that just came over the wire from Washington. The Vice-President is in line to become full authority over raw material imports. The word from Washington is that an executive order to that effect has already been drawn up and is only waiting to be signed by Vice Pres. PresidentRoosevelt. Wallace, as head of the Board of Economic Warfare, will then have complete authority and responsibility for obtaining such commodities as tin and rubber substitutes from Latin-America, tungsten from the Orient, and so forth.

Vice Wallace and the B.E. will also be given some of the functions of the Lend-Lease Administrator, such as the job of arranging to get raw materials in return for shipments of munitions under the Lend-Lease Act.

the relations between management and labor in order to stabilize production. The request was voiced by Admiral Emery S. Land, Chairman of the Maritime Commission. The simplest way to increase production, he said, would be some bill that would freeze the relationships between employers and employees. That, said Land, would "terminate agitation both by labor agitators and capital agitators." A man, he pointed out, can't have his heart in his job when agitation is going on.

The Chairman of the Maritime Commission

stated

admitted that the production of ships is being impeded

deliberated.

by a deliberate slow-down and by loafing. Only a few men are doing it, he said, but, that senough to slow down the whole job. He added that there too infernally

much maxi loafing going on in the shipyards right now, and a good deal of it is being caused by uncertainty in the relationships between management and labor.

All this came up in a case brought by the family of Warren Eldreth Green, an Onondagan who was caught by the draft at Syracuse, New York. His mother sued for a writ of habeas corpus asking his release, and claimed that all the acts of Congress which made the members of the tribes into American citizens were unconstitutional.

itself obliged to rule against Green, but did so, as it said - "reluctantly." The Supreme Court today refused to interfere with that decision and that makes it final. They were the most highly organized of all today their descent today their descendants have to take their part in the world wide war far the fighting under same wars.

And now Hugh.
