

GENEVA

L.T. DeLoach Fri. Oct. 28-55

At Geneva, the proposal made by the Western Big Three was rejected immediately, today, by Molotov. Great Britain, France and the United States offering Soviet Russia - a "treaty of assurance" against possible German aggression. In exchange for German reunification next year. Molotov, in reply, told the western foreign ministers - that their program would not lead to European security.

Instead, the Soviets offer a plan of their own. A fifty year treaty for European collective security. Which would include the United States, and have Red China as an observer. The terms outlined by Molotov would in effect, <sup>include</sup> ~~utilize~~ western Europe, <sup>and mean the</sup> ~~with~~ scrapping - of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance.

The Moscow plan makes no mention of German unification. But Molotov said - he'll ~~make~~ make suggestions for German unity - at the appropriate time." Whenever that may be.

The west promptly rejected the Soviet scheme. All adding up to a deadlock.

EISENHOWER

President Eisenhower, today, was reading cablegrams
- from Geneva. ~~REF~~ Reports from Secretary of State ~~John~~ ~~Foster~~ Dulles - about how things were ~~gon~~ going at the Conference of the Foreign Ministers.

Getting better all the time - the doctors permitting the patient more and more work. →

FOLLOW EISENHOWER

→ ~~today,~~ <sup>T</sup>he President had an x-ray examination - walking to the ~~exama~~ examination room. The x-ray shows his heart of normal size, no enlargement.

FRANCE

Premier Edgar Faure's government got a vote of confidence, today; - ~~but~~ by a narrow margin. Winning in the National Assembly - by two-hundred-and-seventy-one to two-hundred-and-fifty-nine. A mere majority - of twelve.

Subject - the Moroccan crisis. In the background - the question of an election. Premier Faure intending to call the voters to the polls in December, six months ahead of schedule. Hoping - that a new election will produce a more stable majority in the National Assembly.

The narrow victory enables the Faure government to continue. Also - enables foreign Minister Pinay to rejoin the conference at Geneva. He flew to Paris, to be there - when the vote of ~~the~~ confidence came up. Vowing - that, if the Premier were defeated, he'd not go back to the Big Four Conference. But, now, he is returning - France represented - still, at the palaver of the Foreign Ministers.

ISRAEL

The western powers, we hear, have agreed on a policy - concerning Israel. At Geneva, Israeli Prime Minister Sharett has been urging - measures to offset the shipment of Communist arms to Egypt. He wants the western powers to provide Israel with similar amounts of armament. Or - a security pact. Under which the United States, for example - would guarantee Israel against Arab attack.

Today's dispatch from Geneva states that the western powers have ~~af~~ agreed - they'll stand by their former pledge to resist aggression by either side in the Middle East.

A pledge - given five years ago. But they'll go no further.

They will not ship arms to Israel. <sup>And</sup> They will not - sign a new security pact.

ISRAEL - BATTE

The Tel Aviv government states, outright - that the latest Israeli raid against the Egyptians was deliberate.

Based on a policy of - retaliation.

Israeli troops, in retaliation - raiding across the border. And capturing an Egyptian outpost in the southern desert. Tel Aviv reporting that ten Egyptians were killed, twenty others captured - and carried away as prisoners.

Egypt has handed an angry ~~complaint~~ complaint - to the United Nations Armistice Commission. Charging a "flagrant violation" of the truce agreement in Palestine.

CYPRUS

New trouble - on the island of Cyprus. Riots - flaring in five cities. Mobs on the rampage - clashing with British soldiers. At one place, troops of a ~~H~~ighland regiment ~~fi~~red into a raging crowd. Three rioters wounded. In all, today, fifty persons were injured - as the British used a strong hand, in ~~supper~~ suppressing disturbances.

Simultaneously, there were sympathetic riots in Athens, on the Cyprus issue. The Greek ~~pi~~ police - breaking up angry crowds.

ARGENTINA

In Argentina - a paralysis of business. Because of a drastic financial move by the government. Currency devaluation - as part of a plan to deal with desperate financial conditions. ~~Left~~ Left by Peron - under his "pie in the sky" policy.

Under Peron, the value of the Argentine Peso varied - sometimes five to the dollar, sometimes twenty-one to the dollar. An artificial scheme, relating to foreign exchange. The result - a boom in the cities. Depression - on the farm.

The policy announced, abruptly by the new government, is - to reverse that. Their principal motive - a comeback of Argentine agriculture. But the currency devaluation has a stunning effect on business. For example, the price of gasoline will go up two-hundred-and-sixty-percent. With the peso now fixed - at eighteen to the dollar.

Sounds like a desperate measure. But, then, under Peron - Argentina <sup>even</sup> had food shortages. After having been - ~~the gas~~ the greatest exporter of beef. So, maybe, desperate measures are needed.

ATOMIC

From the University of Modena ~~(accent on the first~~ ~~syllable)~~ in Italy, a report of something that happened sixty thousand ~~ft~~ feet high in Texas. An event of major consequence
- in the world of atomic science.

But what has the Italian city of Modena to do - with our own state of Texas? Well, it all goes back to an international agreement for an exchange of atomic information. Under which - the University of Modena requested - that photographic plates be projected high in the sky, above Texas.

The plates were sent up. Then shipped to Modena - where they were studied.

Today, a report from Professor Giuseppi Lovera, who states that one plate reveals - the collision of a proton and an anti proton.

Physicists have long known about protons. But the anti proton was discovered only recently at the California Institute of Technology - "Cal Tech."

So what about the collision of proton and anti-proton? What happened? On the plate - a flash. Indicating - ~~is~~ an - annihilation of matter.

The California scientists had predicted that, if a proton came together with an anti-proton, a positive charge colliding with a negative charge - they'd be annihilated. Now observed - at the University of Modena, on a photographic plate from Texas.

AUTOMATION

Congressional investigators are studying the subject of - automation. Witnesses called - for opinions about that increased use of automatic equipment on production lines.

One witness today was - Edwin Nourse, who was chief economic adviser to the Truman administration. He said - that the effect of automation may be felt next ~~ya~~ year. With industrial production - exceeding consumer demand. And - consequent unemployment. Automation, stepping up output and reducing jobs.

Another witness was Dr. Vandevan Bush, a top ranking scientist and now President of the Carnegie Institute in Washington. He said - automation will, eventually, provide more jobs. And - raise the standard of living. But - it can create local distress in a short run.

Dr. Vandevan Bush warned against, what he called, "half baked automation." Which would reduce employment - without producing benefits to compensate.

FARM

Another decline of agricultural prices - last month. A decrease of two percent. So, right now, farm prices are five percent below what they were a year ago. So says the Department of agriculture.

At the same time, the figures for last month show that the prices ~~of~~ farmers' pay for living and production supplies - rose one - third of one percent.

The farmers - in a squeeze. And today's report adds immediate fuel to the raging controversy over the ~~farm~~ farm policy of the ~~na~~ government.

STEVENSON

Adlai Stevenson - will soon launch his campaign for the Democratic nomination. By announcing - his readiness to enter the state ~~press~~ presidential primaries. Meaning - he'll make a fight for the ~~na~~ nomination - an all-out campaign.

It had been expected that Stevenson wo<sup>u</sup>ld make his declaration at the November Nineteenth meeting of the Democratic National Committee. But now we hear it will be sooner - much sooner. Maybe - as early as tomorrow.

LAUSCHE

Here's political comment from Washington, which says - look out for Lausche. United Press correspondent Lyle Wilson declares that the Ohio Governor may become a formidable competitor for the Democratic nomination for President.

Which follows unexpected support for Governor Frank Lausche - in the south. Senator Russell of Georgia praising the Ohioan as a "middle of the road" statesman.

Governor Allen Shivers of the Texas declaring - the Democrats would show "alertness and intelligence" if they nominated the Ohio Governor.

Well, John Frank Lausche is an enigmatic political figure. In Nineteen Fifty, as a Democratic governor, he favored Senator Taft. When - Mr. Republican sought re-election. This week in New York, Lausche referred to President Eisenhower in the following words: "He is a great military, and an even greater civilian, leader. The country needs him." Sounds like an Eisenhower Democrat, who might win pro-Eisenhower votes.

But the real surprise is the fact - that the Lausche boom is launched in the south. The point - religion. Governor Lausche - a catholic. Surprising indeed, when we recall - ~~we~~ how, in Nineteen Twenty eight, Al Smith lost the south - largely on the religious issue. But now - a presidential boom for a catholic, springing up in Dixieland.

Governor Lausche, himself, declares - it's all a dream of friendly persons. Adding - that he'll be in the political race next year, all right, running for election as Governor, or maybe for the Senate.

TRIAL

In Washington, today, Mrs. Katherine Ann Haynes was found - not guilty. The mother of four - acquitted on the ground, that she was temporarily insane. When - she shot and killed the young woman with whom her husband was having a love affair. Her husband gave testimony - that he had boasted, to his wife, of his infidelity.

So now the jury brings in a verdict of - acquittal.

The baseball world is paying tribute to Clark Griffith owner of the Washington Senators - who has died at eighty-five. Sports writers recalling - how he was one of the organizers of the American League, at the turn of the century. The boss of the Washington Senators - ever since Nineteen Nineteen. The most famous player under his command - Walter Johnson, hailed as the greatest of all pitchers.

Clark Griffiths career in the managerial office - so long, that few remember he was once a star ball player. Beginning - back in the eighties. For eighteen years  $\frac{2}{1}$  pitcher, and a good one.

CHURCHILL

Winston Churchill's nephew, today, denied - that he barked like a dog. John Spencer Churchill says - it was grand opera.

Several weeks ago, we heard how Churchill, an artist, and his wife, Kathleen - were arrested. Charged - with inebriation. Barking like a dog might seem to indicate - pickled as a mackerel. In addition to which - Mrs. Churchill meowed like a cat.

Today, in London's Bow Street Court, the official charge said "making dog noises." But Churchill said - he was actually singing "a dirge from the opera 'Fidelio.'" Sacréreligious, as "Fidelio" was written by Beethoven.

But Churchill explained: "I don't know the words very well and my voice is not at all good. And - some of the German words might have been interpreted as 'dog noises.'" Sounds reasonable, when you consider some German words, "ach", "sprach." ! unsawetter,

As for Mrs. Churchill, she wasn't singing opera at all. She admits - she did make "cat noises". But - she was addressing her husband. "It's a private way we have of talking to each other," said she.

The feminine conversation - catty.

SAMARITAN

In Milwaukee - the story of a good Samaritan.

"I just wanted to help those other guys," he says. Which, in more biblical form, might have been uttered by that other good samaritan, on the road to Jericho. — when "a certain man fell among thieves!"

Today, however, the judge said - "fine - twenty-five dollars." Which might ~~xxx~~ indicate that - charity doesn't pay.

The court record relates how John Sopinski stood beside a highway - flagging down motorists, one after another and - warning them of ~~an~~ danger ahead. Something like the traditional hero, giving the warning - of a washed out bridge.

Sopinski, flagging down the motorists, told them that - a radar speed trap was ahead. Traffic police - checking on the speed of automobiles, as they went through the trap.

John
~~Yes~~ he, "just wanted to help those other guys."

Hugh.
Costing him - twenty-five bucks, The fate - of a good samaritan in Milwaukee.
