

GOOD EVENING EVERYBODY:

1 The tri-color of France is 2 waving <sup>gaily</sup> ~~brightly~~ tonight on the tennis 3 courts, <sup>of the world.</sup> But some people think it is not 4 fluttering quite as bravely and ~~as~~ 5 confidently as usual.

6 Yes, France won the Davis Cup, ~~it~~ again, 7 ~~right~~. But the tennis expert of the 8 New York Evening Post is of the opinion 9 that the power of France in tennis is 10 weakening.

11 The <sup>world's</sup> championship matches were 12 held in Paris yesterday, <sup>and America was only looking on.</sup> It was a cloudy, 13 wet day with a drizzling rain. A couple 14 of times a downpour held up proceedings, 15 but the battle for the Davis Cup was 16 fought out to the bitter end. The 17 French won two matches out of three.
18 Borotra polished off his English
19 antagonist, but only after a bitter
20 fight. The Britisher was giving him 21 a shellacing. <sup>to</sup> But in the end the 22 Frenchman summoned all his grit and 23 won out. Although Borotra won, they 24 say he looked bad, and some think he's 25 at the end of his magnificent tennis

1 career.

2 Then Cochet won, and that settled
3 the Davis Cup championship. Cochet
4 won in a brilliant, hard fought game.
5 He had to extend himself every inch to 6 win.

7 There was so much uncertainty
8 throughout the whole series of matches
9 that the spectators were kept in a 10 constant uproar. The French yelled 11 their heads off for their favorite 12 players.

13 The English were beaten, but 14 it is surprising that they were able 15 to give the Frenchmen such a battle, because 16 ~~and~~ John Bull has been mighty groggy at tennis in recent years. The prophecy is made that next 17 year the French may have to resign 18 their supremacy in tennis which they 19 have held so long. But still, next 20 year is a long way off, and it may 21 be a bit soon to start prognosticating.

1           Those disorders we have been 2 hearing about in Chile have come to a 3 dramatic and successful conclusion.

4           Tonight a new government is in 5 power in the South American Republic,
6 and Carlos Ibanez who was president
7 and dictator of Chile for five years,
8 has resigned and fled.

9           The Associated Press cables 10 that the week-end in Chile was one of 11 general rioting and disturbance. On 12 all sides the people rose against the 13 dictator, and finally Ibanez, who had 14 called himself the Man of Destiny,
15 realized that the country was too hot 16 to hold him. He handed in his 17 resignation to the parliament of the 18 nation, and then got out.

19           The feeling against him is 20 intensely bitter. He ruled with the 21 iron hand of military force, and that 22 provoked an increasing amount of 23 discontent. P It was the women of the 24 country who greased the toboggan for 25 him. A mass meeting of women who

1 denounced the dictator, was the 2 first revolutionary act. # And the 3 students of the country played a large 4 part in the revolt. I told the other
5 night how they ~~had~~ rose in rebellion
6 and seized the buildings of the University
7 of Chile and fought a battle.

8           There are clamors among the people 9 that Ibanez should be punished for his 10 acts while ruler of Chile. The new 11 government ~~xxx~~ to whom he handed over 12 the presidential power; promised him 13 that they would see to it that he got 14 safely out of the country.

15           President today — and in exile
16 tomorrow, and so it goes in South
17 America.

1 In Mexico the dispute between the 2 Civil and Religious leaders in the State
3 of Vera Cruz is dragging on. The Papal 4 Nuncio today instructed the priests of 5 the State of Vera Cruz to use their own
6 judgment as to whether they should obey
7 the law or leave the State.

8 The law in question is one which 9 limits the number of priests in the State
10 to eighteen. It decrees that only 18
11 priests shall carry on their religious 12 duties. The Church leaders are fighting 13 against that law and for weeks have 14 been carrying on in defiance of the 15 Governor of the State. But now the 16 representative of the Pope tells the 17 Priests to keep on attending to their 18 churches, or to leave, just as they please.

19 The Associated Press reports a riot
20 in which several people were injured.
21 There was a fight between the friends and 22 enemies of religion. And then there was 23 an attempt on the life of a Bishop. Two 24 men entered his house and tried to kill 25 him, but he escaped.

1 A visitor left the capital of 2 Germany today <sup>at</sup> ~~in~~ just about the same 3 time two other visitors arrived.

4 Secretary Stimson of the United 5 States, took a plane for London after 6 a couple of busy days, during which he 7 held long discussions with the German 8 ministers.

9 The International News Service
10 names the visitors who have just arrived
11 in Berlin as Prime Minister MacDonald, 12 and Foreign Minister Henderson of 13 Great Britain. And they are there for 14 that same purpose of discussing 15 financial and political matters with the 16 heads of the Berlin government. And 17 so the leaders of Europe are still busy 18 on that <sup>complicated</sup> ~~problem of the financial~~ 19 ~~situation of Central Europe.~~

20 ~~The Berlin correspondent of the~~ 21 ~~New York Evening Post sends word that~~ 22 ~~in spite of all the diplomatic activity,~~ 23 ~~the leading business men of Germany~~
24 ~~are not any too optimistic.~~

1 Well, there are plenty of people in 2 this country who are always ready to throw 3 a brick at the President. Mr. Hoover ~~is~~ 4 has plenty of critics. But here's a new 5 kind of brick thrown <sup>in the direction of</sup> the President. ~~is~~ 6 ~~head~~ It comes from Russia.

7 ~~A United Press dispatch tells us how~~ 8 Communist political experts interpret 9 President Hoover's moves in the attempt to 10 save Germany from financial disaster. The 11 Bolshevists ~~xxx~~ say it's an international 12 plot. One Soviet writer declares that 13 the Hoover Plan represents the most 14 important step in the preparation of a <sup>world-wide</sup> ~~at~~ 15 economic and political war against the 16 Soviet Union.

17 Another Communist genius declares
18 that the meaning of President Hoover's 19 international policy is that America ~~is~~ 20 begins to participate in the distribution 21 of forces for military intervention against 22 the Soviets. ~~Union.~~

23 Well, it looks as though no matter 24 what is done the Bolshevists are sure to 25 regard it as an international <sup>world-wide</sup> ~~at~~ plot.

HAWKS

From the Arctic North wireless messages have come flashing avals today. Germany's big dirigible, the G has been sending word of the progress of her flight polar seas.

The International service passes along a wireless from the Graf Zeppelin her present position as well above the Arctic Circle. The dirigible is already within about 800 miles of the North Pole. She was cruising over Barents Sea this afternoon. The water, as you will observe on your Literary Digest is a part of the Arctic Ocean directly north of the Gannet Peninsula. To the west of Barents Sea lies Novaya Zembla. To the north is Franz Josef Land, and to the northeast is Spitzbergen. And these are all far northern regions, barely habitable, icebound. A later report has just come in that the Graf Zeppelin has been sighted this evening over Franz Josef Land. And aboard the Graf are many scientists.

HAWKS

From the skies of the Arctic North wireless messages have come flashing at various intervals today. Germany's big dirigible, the Graf Zeppelin, has been sending word of the progress of her flight above the Polar seas.

The International News Service passes along a wireless from the Graf Zeppelin which gives her present position as well above the Arctic Circle. The huge dirigible is already within about 800 miles of the North Pole. She was cruising over Barents Sea this afternoon. This body of water, as you will observe on your Literary Digest Atlas, is a part of the Arctic Ocean directly north of the Scandinavian Peninsula. To the west of Barents Sea lies Nova Zembla. To the north is Franz Josef Land, and to the northeast is Spitzbergen. And these are all far northern regions, bare, inhospitable, icebound. A later report has just come in that the Graf Zeppelin has been sighted this evening over Franz Joseph Land. And aboard the Graf are many scientists.

But perhaps the most interesting flying story of the day comes from our own Country. Slim Lindbergh and his wife, Anne took off from Long Island late this afternoon - took off on their 7,100 mile jaunt to Japan. Tonight they are in Washington their first stop. Hardly anyone suspected they were going to start today and only about 200 persons saw them take off.

And then there's another bit of aviation news. A British woman flier took off today on a flight from England to Tokio. She is Amy Johnson, of England to Australia fame, and she intends to make stops at Berlin and Moscow, and then possibly some place in Siberia.

Well, I rather hesitate to talk about these flying matters, as there's some<sup>one</sup> ~~one~~ in the studio ~~here~~ who knows a lot more about aviation than I <sup>do.</sup> - I'll say he does! He is <sup>Capt.</sup> Frank Hawks, the speed demon of the air. But wait a minute. I'll take that back. <sup>Frank</sup> ~~Captain~~ Hawks claims he's not a speed demon, not a stunt man. He isn't merely after records. His purpose is to demonstrate the place of speed in modern transportation. So, he protests, he's not a speed demon. He's a salesman of speed.

I read this in a recent issue of the Literary Digest, which quoted an article by James Hopper in the American Magazine. Jim Hopper tells us that Frank Hawks frowns on the idea that he is some sort of a superman. He declares that if he makes a record here and there it isn't his fault. He just can't help it if his plane goes faster than any other plane.

We are told by Jim Hopper as quoted in the Literary Digest, that Hawks is not a rarin', tearin' wild man with a crazy glint in his eye and backward streaming hair. No, not at all. He's just a very practical young man who is out to show how practical speed is in aviation.

But, why should I be telling you about this? Here's the speed king in person, the travelling salesman of speed. Let's see what he has to say about it. What ho? Captain Hawks, why all this dashing thru the skies of America and Europe? What's the big idea? What's the hurry?

FOR CAPTAIN HAWKS

Why the speed? Well what else has the airplane to sell. I go fast because I want to have more time on the ground when I get there. Speed to an airplane doesn't necessarily mean any increase in danger. And it's just as easy to do 200 m.p.h. as it is to do 100. So why loaf?

If I could talk like you Lowell I would probably sell my subject of speed with a bang, and probably I would then become a radio ~~speech maker~~, instead of a would-be flyer. My latest jaunt was that flight down to Havana the other day.

Last Thursday I flew down to Havana, 1400 miles from here, and had ~~a grand~~ lunch with Harry Guggenheim, our flying Ambassador to Cuba. We traded books. I gave him a copy of mine on, Speed, - and he gave me his on, Statistics. We autographed each others copies, all of this time having consumed an hour and a half, and then I took off for New York. Back again over the same 1400 miles at an average of 206 miles per hour and I was home for dinner.

What did I encounter on the trip? I was going too fast to encounter much of anything alarming. The weather was fine going down, but my speed was reduced ~~by~~ head winds. The return was just the opposite. The winds were more favorable, but the weather had changed -- throwing incessant thunder showers in my path. I had made the round trip at an average speed of 197 miles per hour. 2800 miles had been covered so rapidly ~~on that day~~ that I don't recall ~~of~~ much to ~~ix~~ talk about.

I didn't do it, my friends. All the credit goes to my little ship, Texaco number thirteen, with her staunch and reliable motor. But Lowell, I'll fly, ~~now~~, you do the talking. How about it?

CAPONE

Well, Frank I wish I could talk like you can fly. So, that's the reason for all the hurry. Thanks for putting us wise. And now let's fly along - for a bit about Mr. Rose. Mr. Rose loves roses. He's a man of poetic moods and an artistic temperament. And his soul is captivated by the lovely beauty and delicate fragrance of the white rose, the pink rose, and the red rose.

Well, Mr. Rose has another name, a somewhat more famous name. His real monniker is "Scarface Al" Capone.

He's supposed to go to jail pretty soon, but meanwhile he's spending a sort of vacation at Benton Harbor, Michigan. They grow beautiful roses in those parts, and Scarface Al spends much time in enjoying the perfume and the loveliness of the flowers. In the hotel where he's stopping they have a banquet hall called the Rose room. And that's where the Big Shot loves to throw an occasional party. His devotion to roses is so great that he has adopted as an alias the name of Mr. Rose. In fact, Scarface Al seems to be having a rosy time just now.

Well, the King of the Underworld

1 has just staged a big party. It was a 2 farewell entertainment to celebrate 3 the fact that the Big Shot will soon be 4 on his way to jail. And naturally the 5 potentate of ~~the~~ gang <sup>dom</sup> wanted the Rose 6 Room. He appeared with a crowd of 7 guests, but when he started into the 8 Rose Room he found it was already taken.
9 A banquet was in progress there. And a 10 very fancy banquet it was. The Epsilon
11 Sigma Alpha sorority was holding a bit 12 of festivity. Now the Epsilon Sigma
13 Alpha sorority is quite a swagger
14 organization. At the big banquet table 15 were society ladies who are members of 16 the sorority, and also their husbands -- 17 business men, lawyers, bankers, and other 18 leading lights of the community.

19 It was obviously a bit of a clash
20 and a conflict, when Scarface Al Capone,
21 Chicago's Public Enemy Number One, wanted
22 the Rose Room and its garlands of roses, 23 when in fact the Rose Room was already in 24 the possession of the Epsilon Sigma 25 Alpha sorority.

1 Well, neither Epsilon, Sigma,
2 Alpha, nor any other letter of the Greek 3 alphabet mean much to the Big Shot. He 4 said he wanted the Rose Room and wanted
5 it right away. They say Capone is broke, 6 but he's spending a lot of money these 7 days for a poverty-stricken individual.
8 He ~~handed~~<sup>passed to</sup> the hotel management a large 9 and juicy handful of money. And that 10 was when things began to happen to the 11 banquet of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha 12 sorority. They were informed that the 13 Rose Room was wanted by the Great Capone 14 and that they would have to move. They 15 were just through the first course of the 16 dinner, but they moved all right. The 17 high-society banquet of the Epsilon
18 Sigma Alpha sorority was transferred to a 19 much smaller dining room, a bedroom which 20 had been converted into an eating place.
21 The International News Service
22 concludes the story by saying that after 23 the local Michigan aristocrats of the 24 Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority had been 25 moved, the Big Shot and his company of guests took their place in the Rose Room and had one of the gayest farewell parties on record.

1           There was an attempt in Pittsburgh 2 to assassinate an official of the United 3 Mine Workers of America. This comes 4 as a spectacular incident in the bitter 5 miner<sup>s</sup>' strike that is raging in the 6 coal sections of Pennsylvania. The R.P. tells 7 the story. The Union official is Patrick T.
8 Fagan. His doorbell rang. He answered
9 it. Two men were there. One of them 10 pointed a pistol at him and cried:

11           "I'm here from Kentucky, and 12 I've been sent to get you."

13           Fagan leaped at the man,
14 wrestled with him, and they rolled off a 15 porch on to the lawn. The mining 16 official wrenched the pistol out of 17 the hand of his assailant and then 18 there was a sound of shots. The Union 19 leader fired three times and killed the 20 man who had come to kill him.

21           The <sup>third man</sup> ~~other man~~ dashed away 22 and jumped into a taxicab, <sup>but</sup> just then 23 the police arrived and  <sup>nabbed</sup> ~~arrested~~ him.

24           Fagan is president of 25 District No. 5 of the Mine Workers of 1 America. He has been a prominent figure 2 in the miner<sup>s</sup> strike and also in recent 3 quarrels between the Mine Workers of 4 America and a rival organization, The 5 National Miners Union.

6 Another incident in that mining
7 strike came in a meeting of West Virginia
8 miners at Burnwell, West Virginia.
9 Somebody fired a shot and a bullet hit 10 Mrs. Martha Stanley who was attending 11 the meeting. She was injured.

12 The Associated Press interprets 13 these events as indicating that the 14 strike ~~was~~ war in the coal mining section 15 is growing more bitter and intense.

~~XXXXXXXXXX~~ MONKEYS

1 Holy Smoke, but they had an 2 exciting time in a big building at 3 Chicago. The Montgomery Ward Memorial
4 Dental and Medical School at Northwestern 5 University is a modern skyscraper. Forty 6 ~~monkeys~~ <sup>monkeys were there</sup> ~~were~~ in a big cage, and they 7 decided to cut a few monkey shins. One 8 of them managed to lift the latch and 9 open the gate, and then those 40 ~~monkeys~~
10 monkeys went scooting all over the place, 11 especially on the stairways. They found 12 that the endless stairways of the tall 13 building are a magnificent place for 14 monkeys to monkey around. They scampered 15 up and down the steps and perched on 16 the doors.

17 The employ<sup>e</sup>s of the building
18 started to chase monkeys. Pretty soon
19 they were <sup>all</sup> ~~all~~ played out, and the monkeys
20 were still monkeying around. The <sup>Chicago</sup> fire 21 department was called. The firemen may 22 be good at rescu<sup>e</sup>ing people from burning 23 buildings, but as monkey ~~catchers~~
24 catchers they're null and void.

25 Presently the students were called.

And according to the Associated Press story, those students were a real success at chasing monkeys. Forty undergraduates swung into action. They chased the monkeys up stairs and down stairs and back again, and finally caught every last one of them.

Well, I guess I've monkeyed around with that item long enough, and I'll say what those monkeys said when they left the cage --
