NIXON LT. Delas, Wed, aug., 5- 39.

Vice President Nixon got an enthusiastic welcome in Washington, today -- returning home from his visit behind the Iron Curtain. Thirty-five hundred people, including top dignitaries - get greeting him at the airport.

where he issued a max statement - referring to the courteous, friendly treatment he received in Soviet Russia.

Special of the forthcoming Khrushchev trip to the United States, and said:

"We should give him the same courteous treatment the the Soviet people gave me."

Last night, in Warsaw, the U.S. Embassy gave Nixon a reception. Which was attended - by three Roman Catholic priests. Members of the staff of Polish Cardinal Wyszinski

One of the priests - handing the Vice President a note from the Cardinal,

In which - the Primate of Poland REW conveyed his gratitude to the American people for the help they have given to the church in Poland. The Cardinal - also made it plain that he wanted to see the Vice President, But this had been ruled out because of the delicate man relations - between the Roman Catholic Church and the Communist regime.

The Nixon departure from Warsaw marked by another popular demonstration. Thousands po of people - lining the highway - from the U.S. Embassy to the Warsaw airport. The ovation - as great as the one when he arrived in the Polish capital.

The Geneva Conference ended with a surprise, today -- a point of agreement. Which was made public - after the talks had ended officially.

In their final session, the Foreign Ministers merely confirmed the deadlock - on Berlin. DEciding - they'll meet again, and renew their discussions. Possibly - after those Eisenhower-Khrushchev negotiations. Then, an hour later - a further announcement. Stating that they had made an agreement for new talks on disarmament.

In Nineteen Fifty-Seven, the Russians walked out on disarmament negotiations, which were being held in London under the auspices of the United Nations. The whole thing - left up in the air. But now they'll join the disarmament negotiations as again. Those former discussions - resumed.

In a big news conference at the Kremlin. Declaring - that, in his talks with President Eisenhower, he will seek nothing but international harmony and friendship.

Nikita, so a fancier of picturesque expression, and said - he was going to the United States as a "peaceful man".

Adding: "I am prepared to turn out maxe my pockets, and show I carry no weapons with me."

In other words, check your guns at the door.

Nikita putting that thought in the following words:-

"In former times", said he, "people used to leave their arms in the hall - before entering the conference room. We must come together," he declared, "to talk peace - without sabre rattling."

More to the practical point, he gave as an assurance.

Declaring - "there will be no change in the xx status of Berlin, as long as negotiations are in progress."

KHRUSHCHEV - 2

Confirming the impression - that the Khrushchev Eisenhower visits will bring about a period of quiet in the Berlin crisis.

KHRUSHCHEV-BLAIR HOUSE

Word in Washington is that the Soviet premier will make his residence at Blair House - during his three-day talks with President Eisenhower. Blair House - which has served as quarters for many distinguished guests. Including-Queen Elizabeth, when she was in Washington.

Blair House was occupied, likewise, by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov - when he made a secret trip to the United States in World War Two. The Molotov occupancy - evoking sad memories in Mrs. Victoria Geaney, the housekeeper for twenty years. Molotov - surrounded by agents of the Soviet Secret

Police. Who took security measures - that almost ripped Blair

House apart.

They pulled down the draperies in Molotov's bedroom. Ripped away furniture coverings - and took down pictures. The police agents even watched the chambermaid make the bed. To be sure - she didn't install bombs or microphones.

Mrs. Geaney sure hopes - the Khrushchev tenancy will not bring about anything like that. Because she has been renovating the Blair House - fixing it up real pretty. Hanging new draperies and valances of a pale blue brocade. Imagine a bunch of Soviet flat feet pulling down the pale blue valances!

radio and TV - arguing for the need of an effective labor bill.

Reform - to curb racketeering in unions. The President - in favor of a tough measure sponsored by Congressman Landrum of Georgia and Griffin of Michigan. The former - a Democrat - the latter - a Republican. The bill - backed by the G O P and some southern Democrats.

As against the Landrum-Griffin measure, the House labor committee has endorsed - milder legislation for labor union reform.

There are immediate repercussions in Congress.

Democratic leaders demanding - that equal time on the air be given to somebody supporting the milder bill. In the Senate, Mike Mansfield of Montana suggested - Senator John Kennedy of Massachusetts. Radio-TV - called upon to give him equal time to answer the President.

Just to complicate the picture, George Meaney,

President of the AFL-CIO-will go on the radio two hours after President Eisenhower. Meaney - objecting to both union reform bills under consideration. He wants a measure - even milder than the mild one. Or - no labor legislation at all.

The Senate Rackets Committee resumed its attack, today, we on James Hoffa, President of the Teamsters Union.

The committee - making public another installment of a report on corrupt labor practices. Hoffa - charged with using union funds in a pay-off to the Chicago underworld. This - in the form of an award of union insurance business. Waxw With - fat profits.

and now Dons

A Moscow dispatch, today, reports - violent antiAmerican denundations. But maybe we can keep cool about these diatribes. The are hurled - at abstract art. On display at the American exhibition.

Russians visiting the art gallery have a chance to write their comment - in a visitor's book. So here are a couple of examples.

"This abstract art," growls one Moscovite, "is an art of madness. It is really an outrage."

Amehor Another says: "We never expected to see such smears."

While a third remarks: "My daughter, three years old - paints better."

Blasts - against ultra modern American art. Does it make our blood boil? West, not exactly fittle bridge
There are some americans who agree with the boiling point. At least, for some Americans these Ruskies about abstract art.
