

ARGENTINA

L.T. - Deleo. Thurs. June 16 - '55.

The latest on the Argentine revolt is a statement by Peron - that the rebellion has been crushed. Peron went on the radio late today, and made this announcement. He said - the revolutionary command had surrendered. Insurgent leaders - arrested.

Previously, the government made two similar declarations - that the uprising had been quelled. But, each time, the claim was followed by new attacks from the air.

The revolt was staged by the Argentine Navy and air force. With headquarters - in the naval ministry. Presumably, the Army remained loyal to the regime, and the government states - that the trouble was confined to the center of Buenos Aires.

It was featured - by bombs hurled on the Presidential Palace, ~~the Casa Rosada~~ ^{the Casa Rosada}, which, this morning, was seized by rebels - members of the Argentine Naval Air Force. Two hundred of them - invading the Casa Rosada. presumably Peron was in the building, when the outbreak began. It isn't clear what adventures he may have had. But, the Peron forces, it seems, were able to recapture the Presidential Palace.

Bombs fell in front of the Casa Rosada, and sharp fighting went on. Many casualties are now reported.

The Central Labor Union, backing Peron, ordered its members to the scene. Bidding them - to seize buses, and kill the drivers, if these refuse to obey. During the day, rebel airplanes bombed and machine gunned the headquarters of the Labor Federation.

Tonight, the situation is none too clear, although the official statement has come through - that Peron has crushed the rebellion. Later word is that rebel Argentine planes are landing in the neighboring Republic of Uruguay.

All this, of course, ties in with the struggle between the Peron government and the church - with all those anti-Church measures we've been hearing about. The religious aspect is underscored by a dispatch from Rome - proclaiming the official excommunication of Peron and all those followers of his, who have taken action against Roman Catholic ecclesiastics. Last night we heard - the excommunication was unofficial, automatic. Today, formal action was taken

- the ex-communication decree published at Vatican City.

against Bron

by the Church

η

η

Here's the latest. Refugees arriving in Uruguay say - the revolt failed, because of bad weather which prevented an amphibious landing of a force of Marines.

These failed to play their part in the insurrection -- which thereupon collapsed.

What happened - is not clear. There was an explosion of the stuff that propels a torpedo. The blast ripped open the bow of the submarine.

The undersized craft sank twenty minutes later and, in the meantime, thirty members of the crew were able to escape. Aided by the mother ship - alongside.

The bitterest part of the tragedy - was this. Rescuers, from the mother ship, hastened aboard the stricken submarine - to save the crew members trapped ⁱⁿ below.

Five of the rescuers, making their way in the iron hull. Trapped and lost - when the submarine sank. One of the victims

BRITISH SUBMARINE

In the British submarine explosion, thirteen lives were lost. That appears to be definite now - as the story of the disaster is related.

In the harbor of Portland, the submarine Sidon was lying alongside its mother ~~was~~ ship - when, suddenly, the conning tower hatch erupted, with a burst of yellow smoke and flame.

What happened - is not clear. There was an explosion of the stuff that propels a torpedo. The blast ripped open the bow of the submarine.

The undersea craft sank twenty minutes later and, in the meantime, thirty members of the crew ~~were~~ were able to escape. Aided by the mother ship - alongside.

The bitterest part of the tragedy - was this. Rescuers, from the mother ship, hastened aboard the stricken submarine - to ^vsave the crew members trapped ~~below~~ below.

Five of the rescuers, making their way in the iron hull. Another Trapped and lost - when the submarine sank. One of the victims

- a Navy doctor, Lieutenant C E Rhodes, who first gave medical aid to survivors. He went into the submarine, and brought out an injured sailor. Then he went back into the iron hull, to help others - and never came out.

The sunken submarine lies under thirty-six feet of water, and divers descended immediately - to ascertain if there was anyone alive. They wrapped on the steel hull - no response. Three officers and ten sailors, inside - must have perished.

MEETING

The meeting of the Foreign Ministers of the Big Three began in New York, today. British Foreign Secretary MacMillan, French Foreign Minister Pinay, and American Secretary of State John Foster Dulles - in talks, to prepare for a meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, in San Francisco next week - during the commemoration of the Tenth Anniversary of the U N the Foreign Ministers of the Big Four - then to arrange for the coming climax. The meeting - at the summit.

Today, Messrs MacMillan, Pinay and Dulles were deciding - on the line to take with Molotov at San Francisco.

The Geneva conference at the summit produced an argument in the Senate, today. Denounced - by McCarthy of Wisconsin, who said - the Eisenhower administration is preparing, what McCarthy called - "the worst defeat since the end of the second World War."

A reply was made by Senator Knowland of California - who, in the past, has differed with the President on points of international policy. Today, however, the Californian came to the defense of the "conference at the summit". Telling McCarthy "we are not bankrupt in our negotiating policies. We have the power to cause concern to the Soviet world."

MOLOTOV

This time, last year, the following news dispatch would have been impossible. Molotov - to appear on an American T V and radio program. To be questioned - by a panel of American newsmen! Which certainly is new evidence of that Soviet new look. So here's the way it happened.

When the word came that the Moscow Foreign Minister would attend the anniversary of the U N in San Francisco, the Columbia Broadcasting System sent him a cable in Moscow. Inviting him - to appear on the T V radio show "face the nation". One of those panel shows - in which the guest gets a going-over of questions from the reporters.

There was no reply, and then the news came that Molotov was on his way across the Atlantic, aboard the British liner, Queen Elizabeth. Whereupon, CBS addressed a radio message to the Soviet Foreign Minister, aboard the liner. Saying - they'd have a representative meet him, upon landing in New York.

That got no action, and CBS, thereupon sent a representative to go aboard at the Ambrose Lightship, as the Queen Elizabeth entered the harbor. A young woman, Beryl Denzer, a member of the staff of producer Ted Ayer. Aboard ship, Beryl tried to see Molotov. But - no dice.

However, while she was waiting. A message came to the New York office of CBS. Saying - yes, Molotov, accepting the invitation to appear on "Face the Nation". The date - Sunday after next, as the San Francisco commemoration ends.

The panel will be picked from top flight American newsmen, at the San Francisco ceremony. The moderator, presiding over the questioning, will be Ted Koop, who covers Washington for CBS.

This will be the first time a high Soviet official has ever gone on U.S. radio or television. Molotov, with a striking gesture, playing in the present Russian game - of, soft and easy.

ALERT

Civil defense administrator Val Peterson says

Yesterday's
~~that the~~ nationwide hydrogen bomb alert - has thus far, disclosed "mistakes and weaknesses." Faults - in the civil defense program. But he adds that the performance in the mock atomic blitz shows - a distinct advance over previous efforts.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower, at his emergency White House, declared theoretical martial law - after ten~~and~~ a half million fictional casualties, in the ~~■~~ simulated hydrogen bomb attack that struck sixty-one American cities yesterday.

VACCINE

President Eisenhower, today, asked Congress for thirty-five million dollars - to help the states give polio vaccine, free, to children. Previously, the President had intended to request - twenty-eight million. But the ~~figure~~ figure was upped. The federal government - to pay part of the ~~cost~~ cost for free vaccine. Individual states - to put up the rest of the money.

The Presidential request was sent on to Congress, from the White House. That is, from that emergency, mysterious

White House - the ~~secret~~ secret place from which the administration is conducting business, during the hydrogen bomb alert.

MARITIME STRIKE

There's a report in Washington, that President
A nationwide maritime strike has already begun - Stanhower has offered a post, as Federal Judge - to Governor with seamen quitting their jobs in Philadelphia and New Orleans.
Lausche of Ohio, which is interpreted as having - deep, hidden On the Atlantic Gulf and the Pacific Coast, strike votes are being taken - following the end of the contract between the Governor Lausche is a Democrat, who gets elected shipping companies and the union. The contract - expiring over and over in Ohio - which is normally Republican. Frank last night.

Lausche - serving his fifth term. Probably he could be Some twenty-eight thousand C I O seamen are involved reelected again in Nineteen Fifty Six - and the Republicans in this new labor dispute. Which might tie up the harbors would like to get him out of the election campaign. Figuring-of this country.
with Lausche out, they could elect a Republican Governor, and re-elect Senator Bender, now serving out the term of the late Senator Taft.

Gov. Lausche
One way would be - to elevate him to the Federal bench. The So the Republican administration in Washington has offered the Ohio Democrat a post on the U.S. Court of appeals. That's the story. Which goes on to say:- the political

OHIO

There's a report in Washington, that President Eisenhower has offered a post, as federal Judge - to Governor Lausche of Ohio. Which is interpreted as having - deep, hidden political meanings.

Governor Lausche is a Democrat, who gets elected over and over in Ohio - which is normally Republican. Frank Lausche - serving his fifth term. Probably he could be reelected again in Nineteen Fifty Six - and the Republicans would like to get him out of the election campaign. Figuring - with Lausche out, they could elect a Republican Governor, and re-elect Senator Bender, now serving out the term of the late Senator Taft.

One way would be - to elevate ^{Gov. Lausche} ~~him~~ to the Federal bench. ~~The~~ So the Republican administration in Washington has offered the Ohio Democrat a post on the U.S. Court of Appeals. That's the story. Which goes on to say:- the political maneuver won't work, ^{Because} - Lausche won't accept.

Well, it's a maneuver that has been used more than once. The Democrats - having worked it successfully, on various occasions. Democrats in office - getting rid of powerful Republican political figures. By - elevating them to the Federal bench.

Thus begins the first major phase of the huge renewal-power project. Pumping out water - to dry up a site for a great power house. The largest single transformation -

A two mile section of one channel of the river is being pumped dry. The channel - four thousand feet across at the widest. Thirty feet deep, in places. Which adds up to six-hundred-and-fifty million gallons of water.

ST LAWRENCE

At Cornwall, Ontario, giant pumps are working.

They began today - on the job of draining out six-hundred-and-fifty million gallons of water. Taking it - from the St. Lawrence River.

Thus begins the first major phase of the huge seaway-power project. Pumping out water - to dry up a site for a great power house. The largest single transformation - along the great St. Lawrence river,

A two mile section of one channel of the river is being pumped dry. The channel - four thousand feet across at the widest. Thirty feet deep, in places. Which adds up to six-hundred-and-fifty million gallons of water.

HARVARD

Honorary degrees were awarded at Harvard today - with interesting people on the list. German Chancellor Adenauer, former Harvard President Conant, now U.S. Ambassador to West Germany, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times. Atomic scientist Rabi of Columbia.

One woman - the first ~~one~~ ever to receive an honorary degree at Harvard. Helen Keller, deaf, dumb and blind since infancy. Now - seventy-five years old.

SHEEP

Out West, in the next few months, you'll be seeing - sheep, all dressed up. Flocks of sheep - wearing jackets, over the wool. No, not to keep the fleecy creatures warm. It's this way. —

The wind blows a lot of dust and sand into the wool.

Then, at shearing time, the ~~gi~~ clippers wear out, grinding through the grit.]

↙ The wool will contain from four to six pounds of dust and sand - per sheep. On which freight has to be paid, when the wool is shipped East - expensive.

So at the agricultural and mechanical college of New Mexico, wool expert Richard Stauder thought - put jackets on the sheep. He tailored some out of duck, a kind of canvas, then tried them out at the Victor Perex Ranch, Encino, New Mexico. Put the duck jackets on a group of sheep. The ram went - Bah. The ewe went - Bah! Probably the sheep felt foolish - all dressed up. But it worked.

After two and a half months, the sheep in ■■ jackets had four pounds less dirt in their wool - than the others.

Which meant a reduction of twenty-five cents per sheep - in the cost of marketing the wool.

So now, half a million sheep will be dolled up, come this autumn.

We've heard about the ~~man~~ wolf in sheep's clothing.

High we have Now ~~the~~ the sheep in duck jackets!