

WARSAW CONFERENCE LT-Deleo Mon. Sept. 15-58.

The talks for a settlement of the crisis on the China Coast - began in Warsaw, today. U S Ambassador Jacob Beam - negotiating with Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping Nam. The meeting - in the one-time palace of <sup>the</sup> Kings of Poland.

Not a word - of what was discussed at this first session of the ambassadorial conference. No communique - issued. No comment - from either of the Ambassadors.

But one significant thing - was noted. The discussion - lasted two-hours-and-forty-five minutes. Much longer - than had been expected. Normally, the negotiators in such a case - would begin with formalities, a brief exploratory talk. But, it's apparent that the Ambassadors, today, got down to business promptly.

Diplomatic circles at Warsaw seem optimistic - about the discussions. ~~Which~~ Which optimism, however, is not shared in other world capitals. Red China, today - repeating its determination to seize those off-shore islands. ~~In~~ Washington, another warning - that the United States will use force against any invasion attempt. Moscow propaganda, labeling the warsaw talks - "a clumsy maneuver", to justify U S aggression.

QUEMOY

In the battle of Quemoy, that artillery blockade - the Nationalists have been able to make two successful air drops in the last twenty-four hours. Supplies sent in by parachute - to the garrison on Little Quemoy island. Where they<sup>a</sup>re badly in need - of equipment and food. Planes got through, in spite of anti-aircraft fire - returning to their bases, undamaged.

But - not so much luck in sending supply convoys by sea. One L S T boat - landing on the beach of Big Quemoy. ■■ Successfully - putting its cargo ashore. But then, the boat was hit by shell fire -- and crippled. Taken in tow - and hauled back to Formosa.

Which was followed by another convoy attempt - but that had no success ■■ at all. The supply ships - driven off by that heavy ~~violent~~ artillery fire, ~~From~~ some four hundred guns, along the nearby shores - that form ■■ a semi-circle around the Quemoy islands.

( A U S military spokesman on Formosa discloses that U S planes have joined Nationalist aircraft - in flying air cover for the convoys. And U S naval vessels continue - escorting the supply ships. They still stop at the three mile limit - according to the spokesman.

Who added - that the job of getting supplies to the Quemoy is improving slowly.)

CONFERENCE

Soviet Russia tonight, accepted the American proposal for negotiations on ways of averting surprise attack.

A diplomatic note -- ~~handin~~ handed in at the U S Embassy in Moscow suggesting - that the conference ~~begin~~ begin in Geneva, November Tenth. A meeting of experts to deal with what the note calls -- "the problem of averting sudden attack."

PARIS

In Paris, a ~~damn~~ melodramatic assassination attempt - against General DeGaulle's chief aide. Jacques Soustelle - Minister of Information. He was driving near the Arc de Triomphe - when three Algerian terrorists opened fire.
Blasting - his automobile. Soustelle uninjured - except for cuts ~~from~~ from flying glass. His chauffeur - wounded by a bullet.

One terrorist killed by the police. Another shot and injured - and arrested. The third - escaping.

LONDON

In London, stern prison ~~xx~~ sentences - imposed on nine defendants. Convicted - of having incited those London race riots. They range from ~~xx~~ seventeen to twenty years old. Each getting - a four year sentence.

The nine admit that, ~~xxx~~ on the morning of August twenty-fourth, they went out - armed with iron bars and other weapons; On an expedition - against negroes in London. On the streets, they picked out victims at random. Battering five - on whom they inflicted serious injuries.

Today, Justice Cyril Salmon, imposing the prison sentences adding - that he'll be still more severe with anyone brought before him in the future; Guilty - of inciting race riots.

CONAN DOYLE

Soviet Russia - is being sued. A claim put in - for half a million dollars. That much - for royalties on books.
The lawsuit - entered in behalf of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes.

In the Communist ~~ant~~ Utopia, they publish foreign books and never dream - of paying royalties to foreign authors.
Millions of copies of the works of Conan Doyle, circulated.
~~The~~ The Russians - fascinated by Sherlock Holmes, as who isn't?
Sonow Adrian Conan Doyle, son of the author, thinks - the estate should get something out of the Russian sales.

But he's not suing for royalties - that would be futile. His case is based on an article of Soviet law. A proviso reading - "any person or organization which is unjustly enriched at the expense of another - is obliged to make restitution."

The suit is being entered against Soviet state publishing houses and the Ministry of culture. A Moscow lawyer - agreeing to file the ~~em~~ complaint.

Adrian Conan Doyle says - it will "test the integrity of the Soviet legal system."

LITTLE ROCK

All quiet - in Little Rock, today, as the four high schools remained closed. Not opening their doors - for the beginning of the school term. One of the four - a segregated ~~new~~ negro high school. Teachers - idle. Thirty-four-hundred-and-seventy ~~pp~~ pupils - staying home.

Governor Faubus - none too clear about when or if the high schools might open. He merely refers to the fact that he has called a special election in the school district - on October Seventh. The people - to vote on whether or not they want the schools to ~~re~~ reopen, on the basis of racial ~~int~~ integration. Faubus remarks - if they vote "yes" it's all right with him.

Today, there were no moves - against the closing. Federal officials, we hear, hope - that public opinion ~~will~~ will force a reopening. Because the students may lose a year of high school credits.

Today, parents were making inquiries at other high schools in the county - in towns not affected by integration orders. Wanting to have pupils transferred - to ~~the~~ schools, outside Little Rock. At one town, the statement is - that their high school is already over-crowded. Another place, forty miles from Little Rock - reports half a dozen inquiries. Little Rock parents willing - to have pupils travel that far to attend high school.

One suggestion is - that idle teachers give lessons by means of television. Holding classes, after a fashion, for pupils at home. The local TV stations ~~xxxx~~ reported - willing to ~~be~~ oblige.

( In Little Rock, meanwhile, there's a force of one-hundred-and-fifty U S Deputy Marshals - mobilized by federal authorities, Ready to preserve order - if trouble should arise, following the ruling of the Supreme Court. Which ordered - immediate integration of Central High.

Governor Faubus, today, declared - the people of Little Rock resent the presence of the crowd of Deputy Marshals. More than they did - the sending in of U S army troops, last year. Faubus declares the public is in what he calls - a "cold fury."

AUTOMOBILES

In the world of automobiles, the "Big Three" presented proposals to the Union today. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler - handing in simultaneous offers. Which was - a bit of surprise.

The Ford Company, facing a strike deadline on Wednesday, was expected to act alone. Submitting - its own proposal this afternoon. But G M and Chrysler ~~mak~~ made it unanimous - by presenting their own offers at the same time. Joint action - by the "Big Three."

RACKETS

At a Senate rackets committee hearing, today - shouting objurgations and a general uproar. The witness - James Hoffa, President of the Teamsters Union. The question at issue - what has Hoffa been doing to clean up the corruption in the Teamsters organization?

He told the committee - the "monitors" have been stealing his thunder. That is, the Board of Monitors appointed by a federal court - charged with supervising a teamster clean-up.

Hoffa said they try to take the credit - for ~~him~~ what he does. The monitors - learning about Hoffa's plans, Then - recommending that he take such action. Beating him - to the punch.

WRECK

There's no explanation, as yet - of the commuter train disaster in New Jersey, today. Railroad officials declare - that stop signals were set far down the track. Warning - that the drawbridge was open. Also that there was an automatic stop device, To check a train - if it ran through the warning signals. Nevertheless, two diesel locomotives and five passenger coaches, with a hundred people aboard - went speeding across the mile-long trestle on Newark Bay.

The drawbridge was up, to permit a passenger and oil tanker through. On the train, the brakes were applied at the last ■■■ moment. Too late, however - to prevent a catastrophe.

The two diesels - plunging over the end of the open drawbridge. Hitting the water - with a geyser of steam. The first two passenger cars rolling off, dropping into the water. The one - almost empty. The other -with thirty or forty passengers,

Submerged - under thirty-five feet of water. Some got out - breaking their way through doors and windows.

Others were taken out - by rescue boats that came swarming to the scene. Still others - trapped without hope, drowning.

The loss of life - as many as ~~twenty-five~~ <sup>forty</sup>.

Of the five coaches - two came to a halt in time.

Still another hung ■■ teetering at the edge of the drawbridge.

Half over - ready to plunge. Passengers removed - in the nick of time. Just out - when the coach slid into the bay.

BULL FIGHT

Over in Spain, a thing seldom seen - at a bull fight. The huge crowd of spectators - astounded. Then - breaking into a pandemonium of cheers. One veteran enthusiast - exclaiming with tears in his eyes: "This is the fight I wish to remember all my life."

The toreador - Ordonez, one of the greatest in Spain. One after another, in superb style - he fought and killed three bulls. Then - the fourth.

Ordonez - playing the bull with his cape. Time and again, El Toro charged - with a slash of deadly horns. The crowd, wild with excitement - at the courage of the matador. Which was truly spectacular - because of the ferocity, the strength, the savage fighting spirit, of the bull. El Toro - putting up a tremendous battle.

Then came the supreme instant - the moment for the kill. Ordonez - in the maneuver for lunging with the sword.

Once again El Toro charged the matador. Ordonex - flashing his red cape. Closing- with the bull. His sword hand reaching out. But the hand - is empty. Ordonez - having dropped the sword. Instead of killing - he simply touched El Toro's shoulder with his fingers. Patting - the charging bull on the back.

The crowd , in stunned silence for the moment. Then - a thundering cheer. The matador - had spared the life of a brave bull.

All - in accordance with tradition. Sometimes done but not often. A bull, so courageous, ■■ so noble in combat - that the matador gives El Toro his life.

So now the brave bull will fight no more. He'll spend the rest of his life in comfort on a ranch. To be the ancestor of more brave bulls.

SHIP

Shakespeare asked - "what's in a name?" Reed Whitney, of Gloucester, Massachusetts, replies - "enough to keep a ship from going to sea."

The ship - a sailing vessel, a brigantine. Of which - Reed Whitney is the skipper. The name of the windjammer - The Yankee.

~~A couple of years ago~~, Skipper Whitney bought the Yankee - which ~~he~~ has been using for ~~student~~ cruises. But now says the dispatch the Coast Guard has stopped that. One reason - a legal technicality, because the brigantine was built in a foreign country, Germany.

However, a bill was introduced in Congress - to make an exception in the case of the Yankee. The measure - now held up, through the ~~inf~~ influence of Congressman Herbert Bonner, who hails from North Carolina. The allegation being that he's against the name of the Brigantine.

Skipper Whitney puts it in these words: "He doesn't like the name of the vessel - the Yankee. If the name of the ship were the "Dixie" - we wouldn't have any trouble at all."

Son - let's wave that old confederate flag.

Fish

The weekend saw the termination - of the annual tuna tournament, off the coast of Nova Scotia. Teams representing four nations - in that classic of deep sea fishing. The United States, Britain, Mexico, Cuba - participating. So which country won out?

Well, it was a draw. A tie score - all around. Each team catching exactly the same number of tuna none at all. The tuna tournament - ending in a series of goose eggs.

For three days, the international teams - ~~ifished~~ fished and fished. But - not even a single strike. ~~They~~ <sup>not</sup> ~~didn't even get~~ a bite. So, they called it off.
