Symposium Held On FDR

By Gigi Birdas

"FDR: The New Deal and The American Economy," the eighth symposium on the era of Franklin Delano Roosevelt sponsored by Marist College in association with the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library was held Saturday, October 4 in the Campus Center. This symposium dealt with the Roosevelt Administration and how it handled the economic collapse during the 1930's.

Dr. Eugene V. Rostow, Sterling Professor of Law at Yale University Law School gave the morning address. Dr. Rostow is well known for his support of the Japanese - American people during World War II. Dr. Rostow spoke of the New Deal Programs and the changes they produced.

The afternoon panel discussion began at 2:30 p.m. and centered on the economic issues which are of concern today. Dr. Rostow's previous remarks were used as an initial focus. John J. Griffin, Assistant Professor of Economics at Marist College was the moderator during this discussion. Panelists included: William J. Barber, Professor of Economics at Wesleyan University; Ellis W. Hawley, Professor of History at the University of Iowa; Robert F.

Himmelberg, Associate Professor of History at Fordham University.

The symposium ended with a visit to the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park. As Mr. Toscano states, this symposium "Blends the past and present together in a continuing search for understanding and inspiration."

The planning committee includes Dr. William D. Emmerson and William J. Stewart, director and assistant director of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library respectively, Joseph Marshall, John Griffin, and Vincent L. Toscano, director.

The Roosevelt Symposium is a semi-annual event which studies certain aspects of the Roosevelt era in history. Symposia in the past have dealt with such themes as "Franklin D. Roosevelt as Politician and Campaigner," "The Court Packing Plan of 1937 Re-examined" and "Eleanor Roosevelt and the Struggle for Women's Rights."

In sponsoring the symposium Marist College associated itself with the historic traditions of this area. This symposium Mr. Toscano feels, is a result of the belief that "continued attention to our past can enrich our understanding of the world in which we live."

Quarterly Announces Publication Date

By Barbara Magrath

On December 1, The Academic Quarterly will issue its first edition for this year. Designated last year to succeed Mary Snyder as Editor - In - Chief, is Jeff Burdick, a senior. Junior editors include two sophomores, Pat Huseman the Fall editor and Steve Blenk, the Spring editor. Another sophomore, Debi Dahlgren, is also a new addition to the editorial staff.

The Academic Quarterly has been in publication for four years. However, there are people in the college community who remain unaware of what it is and the purpose behind it. For this reason, the editors have drawn up a statement to make these intentions clear:

The purpose of The Academic

Quarterly is the publication of the outstanding current research and scholarship of students and faculty. The judgment of the editor will be based only on the quality of the work submitted. Thus, students and faculty have equal chances of receiving recognition in publication. Our purpose is not, however, to set up a competition between faculty and students. Hopefully, just the opposite will occur: a spirit of cooperation, a deeper sense of academic community, and a universal enrichment of the sharing of thoughts. To this sense of community The Academic Quarterly is committed, and it is with the hope of furthering the cause of this communion of minds that this publication is produced.

The Academic Quarterly began in 1972, when an ambitious senior, Tom Rabbitt, took it upon himself to create such a publication. He believed there should be a place for academically creative work for both students and faculty. Since Tom graduated, Dr. George Sommer of the English Department has kept the publication alive. He, along with the previous editors, choose the staff for the coming year and see that the work is accomplished.

This is the first year The Academic Quarterly will have two publications. At present, nothing has been submitted for the Spring edition. Papers will be accepted up to February 1. Students or faculty members wishing to submit a paper may contact either Dr. Sommer or any of the editors.

Editor Resigns

CIRCLE co-editor, Julie Schott resigned from her position last Tuesday night, after preparations were completed for the third issue.

The announcement came as a surprise to everyone, including co-editor David Livshin. "I'm sorry to lose such a hard worker as Julie, but I hope that things will turn out for the best, and we hope to retain her as a reporter."

Julie's reasons for leaving the CIRCLE were that she was falling behind in all of her courses, and that she didn't have any time to herself for other things she wanted to do.

"When they offered me the job last spring, I was really excited. Working on a newspaper is something I've always wanted to do, but this time, I guess I just took on more than I could handle. If I didn't resign, I think my grades would have really suffered."

Last Thursday night, the CIRCLE staff held a meeting to install Mary Beth Pfeiffer as new co-editor. Georgene Birdas will work under them as associate editor.

Mary Beth, a senior English major, has worked for the past year as Layout Editor, and has worked as a reporter in the past.

Junior Communications major Georgene Birdas, also worked on the CIRCLE last year as a reporter. As Associate Editor, she will be working directly with the journalism class.

Workshop Slated

In the spirit of the Columbus Day celebration, the Modern Language Department is sponsoring a Puerto Rican Cultural Workshop. We all know that Columbus discovered America, but how many of us are aware that on his second visit to the New World, he set foot on Puerto Rico?

Yes, on November 19, 1493, Christopher Columbus was the first European to land in Puerto Rico. There he encountered the Taino Indians who were the original inhabitants of Puerto Rico. Spaniards then came to settle on the island, bringing over African slaves. Thus, today

Puerto Ricans make up a beautiful mixture of those three groups: Indians, Africans and Spanish. The culture of Puerto Rico is equally as varied.

There is a lot more one can learn about Puerto Rico's rich culture and heritage by attending the Puerto Rican Cultural workshop to be held in the Fireside Lounge on Wednesday Oct. 15, between 11:30 - 1:30. It will be presented by Maria Uyehara, Director of Caribbean Studies of the American Museum of Natural History, and other staff members of the Museum.

Artist Finds Painting "Like Breathing"

By Claudia Butler

To artist Lillian Manney, "painting is like breathing, I feel very depressed when I don't paint - it's part of living to me."

Lillian Manney's paintings are currently being shown in Champagnat Hall gallery.

Mrs. Manney grew up in New York City. She and her husband, a retired school principal, moved to New Paltz four years ago. "I wanted to live where it was beautiful and near a college." Mrs. Manney teaches occasionally at S.U.N.Y. at New Paltz.

Inspired by her junior high school teacher, Mrs. Manney began painting when she was thirteen. When she graduated from high school she was awarded the Saint Gauden medal for excellence in art. She won a scholarship to Parsons School of Design where she studied art and interior design.

Mrs. Manney taught art in New York City for 25 years. She was chairman of the art department of her school.

"I like so many artists but Nicholas DeStael is my most favorite. I've been influenced greatly by Picasso and Braque." She studied under Rueben Tam, Moses Soyer and William Kienbusch in New York. Later, she studied under Hans Hoffman in Provincetown, Ma.

Besides painting, she also likes to look at paintings. "Pictures are like food and drink to me. They nourish my soul." When not painting she likes to play tennis and garden.

When her two grown daughters were younger it was sometimes difficult for her to pursue her passion for painting. "When I was a wife, mother, teacher and artist all at the same time it was hard for me to find time to paint. I used to set aside one day a week just for painting."

"If students want to be artists, that's my advice to them. Keep painting. Don't get discouraged. Do whatever else you have to do but don't forget to paint."

Painting is a joy for Mrs. Manney. "I never want to paint for an income because then you paint for the public. Then it would be a chore."

Her current show consists of non - objective and figurative abstract oil paintings. "I love color - intense color. I have a passion for color!"

Abstract art is only one aspect of Mrs. Manney's work. She also paints watercolor land and seascapes of Cape Cod and pen and ink drawings.

Deposit No Return?

When a student of Marist College commences his 4 year (or thereabouts) habitation of the dormitories on campus there is what is known as the DORM LIABILITY DEPOSIT which must be paid. Upon handing that $50 piece of paper over to the office of Fred Lambert one most assuredly kisses it goodbye forever (at least in its entirety). When said student decides to move out, either to go home or off-campus, said student goes about trying to get his or her Dorm Liability Deposit back. Many, many off-campus and past students will testify to the fact that it is not a very easy thing to do.

For those who have decided to move off-campus, all that is necessary to release the deposit is a formal letter stating their intentions to move off and an address where residence will be taken up, or so we are told. The elusive check then supposedly goes into the mail. However for some undefined reason many students fail to receive it. It usually takes at least one visit to the office of Fred Lambert to get one's card which then must be brought over to the Business Office where the check is to be made out.

The 5 x 8 index card which one receives from the files of the Office of Campus Life is the record which has been kept of all deductions made by that office during one's stay on campus. Vague dates, abbreviated deductions and a general mass of hieroglyphics covers the face of the card and a figure usually somewhere in the mid-thirties is circled at the bottom. It is understood that although said student may not have thrown any lounge furniture out the window in 11-74 or broken the elevator in 2-75, we all must pay. That is the unfortunate reality. However, the Circle is asking where the $10 interest goes that 50 dollars earns one after 4 years. Isn't it only fair that the students should be credited for interest on their money banked in the name of Marist College? If it sounds absurd then it's just as absurd as taking 65 cents out for an elevator repair.

The Circle would like to see the Office of Campus Life develop a more efficient system of handling refunds of deposits. We, feel that a stricter account should be made of deductions with interest taken into consideration. Until such time as these steps are taken the Dorm Liability Deposit can be called anything BUT a deposit.

Clean It Up

During the last couple of weeks the Champagnat parking facility has been turned into a garbage dump by some uncaring students on this campus. Last week alone over ten garbage bags full of beer cans and beer bottles were removed from that lot. Some of the beer bottles have been broken in the lot, which has caused a large number of unnecessary flat tires on student automobiles.

The CIRCLE would like to take this opportunity to urge all members of the Marist community to make a special effort to keep that parking area free of discarded trash, and to use the garbage cans that have been placed throughout the lot by the maintenance department. The parking areas here at Marist are as much a part of our campus as anything else, and with Parents Weekend almost here, let's get moving now, and begin cleaning up our community.

It's Your School

To the Students of Marist College:

It has been brought to the attention of the Security Department by the Marist students that the following problems exist: Beer cans, bottles, and trash has been thrown around the Parking lots; due to the broken bottles causing glass to be strewn about, students have been complaining of cuts and slashes in their tires.

The responsibility of keeping the campus clean not only rests with the Maintenance Department, who, I might add, is doing its best, but also with the student body. There are some students who show sheer disregard for the rights of others and their property.

The College as a whole is proud of the students here and we want to keep it that way. Over the past weekend 10-5-75, there was vandalism to the elevator in Leo dorm and to cars parked in the Sheehan lot. Through the initiative of some students who took pride in their college and came forth with information that resulted in the apprehension of those who were involved in the car damage and the elevator damage. They are to be commended for their efforts. This also has been done with two departments working together - Dean Lambert's office and the Security office.

Because there are the few exceptions of students who disregard the rights and property of others, as the Director of Safety and Security I call upon the student body to report to me any acts of vandalism, etc. and whatever information is given will be held in the strictest of confidence either by letter, telephone or verbally.

Because of the construction going on at the College there are some inconveniences that we must put up with until it is over.

The maintenance department will put trash receptacles on campus and the parking lot for the students to use. Let's keep our campus clean so that we can always be proud to say we have the best there is.

Some person or persons within the past two weeks removed the U.S. flag from the flag pole. Everyone knows what the flag stands for and we are proud to display it. This is the second time this flag has been removed. They do cost a considerable amount of money. When this happens along with acts of vandalism, etc. and those responsible are not caught and made to pay, then up goes tuition which then rests upon the students. Let's get the flag back without any questions asked.

SAC News

Report from the English Department:

Tentative plans for the semester include:

1. Periodically people from the support services will speak to the department to fill them in on what is being offered on campus. These services include: HEOP, Office of the Disadvantaged, Career Counseling, Office of Special Programs, and Centers for Integrated Learning.

2. A grant proposal (title 3) will be submitted to strengthen the Communications Arts Program. This is being prepared by: Dr. Lanning, Dean Cox, Mr. R. Norman, and Mr. A. Nolan.

3. There will be a re-evaluation of the college's composition program, specifically trying to work out a program of writing skills for majors and non-majors. This is being investigated by: Dr. M. Teichman, Mr. R. Lewis, and Mr. D. Anderson.

During the semester the department plans to "re-think" the aims and objectives of the English and Communication Arts Program. Plans for this semester:

Dec. 1 and 2: There will be a modern language conference involving the Associated Colleges of the Mid Hudson Area. This is under the direction of Dr. G. Sommer and Mr. A. Nolan. Dec. 9 A Communications Career Day will be held in association with the office of career counseling. It is to be co-ordinated by Mr. L. Snyder, Mr. R. Norman and Dr. J. Lanning.

Announcements

Applications and detached information on the PACE exam given by the Federal Government are available in the Office of Career Development. This exam is geared toward college graduates entry level positions with the government.

Larry Snyder is keeping an active list in his office of those students who are looking for off-campus part-time jobs. While there can be no promise that everyone who applies will be placed, it will help if you are able to pinpoint all those hours you are available to work.

Juniors should apply by October 10, 1975 for application to the Secondary Teacher Education Program. Applications can be picked up at the Teacher Education Office, Donnelly Room 218.

Represent Marist College in the 1975 American Heart Association Cyclethon on Sunday October 12. For further information call the Heart Association at 454-4310.

The Mid-Hudson Equal Rights Coalition announces the presentation of two films about the changing roles of women in modern society. "Eleanor Roosevelt" and "Emerging Woman" will be shown on Friday, October 10 at 8 p.m. in Blodgett Hall, Vassar College. Following the films, members of the coalition will be available to answer questions concerning the New York State Equal Rights Amendment, which will be on the ballot in November.

If this Amendment is passed, New York will be the fifteenth state in the nation to adopt an Equal Rights Amendment.

A donation of $2.00 is requested to help cover the cost of printing educational material for the public.

New Faces

Lee M. Meringoff
By Gigi Birdas

Mr. Lee M. Meringoff, a native of the Poughkeepsie area is new to the staff of the History and Political Science Department at Marist College this year.

Mr. Meringoff graduated from Arlington High School and completed his undergraduate studies at Clark University in Worcester, Massachusetts. He received a Bachelor of Arts in government and economics from Clark and attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he is a doctoral candidate.

During his junior year at Clark, Mr. Meringoff served his internship in Congress as part of the Washington Semester Program. Speaking of his experience in Congress Mr. Meringoff said the opportunity to intern in an actual working government along with independent research was rewarding. In participating in seminars with government officials, Mr. Meringoff watched his "books come alive."

Because he enjoyed living and growing up in this area, Mr.

Meringoff was very interested in coming to Marist. His first experience working on campus was in 1968 when he was involved with a summer program. Mr. Meringoff is very impressed with the atmosphere on campus. He views college as meaningful, academically as well as morally and believes what he can contribute in both respects will be well received.

Mr. Meringoff enjoys teaching. He said, "I have recently been a student and saw things I didn't like." He strongly believes teachers should express some excitement to students. Mr. Meringoff feels students are receptive to interested faculty who want to give that "little extra." He did state he would not want to teach in a school with a very large faculty. He feels "individuality and what you have to say as an individual matters." For this reason Mr. Meringoff was attracted to Clark University as it is similar in size to Marist.

Mr. Meringoff is teaching American government and public administration. He is also directing the Political Science Work-Internship Program. This program is involved with placing students in the community to gain actual work experience. Right now Mr. Meringoff says he is "very busy meeting students and faculty."

Admission will be $1.

The workshop will include slides, lecture, exhibit, dance and costume demonstration, and a question and answer period.

For further information please contact Mrs. Malave - Stoiber, at extension 208.

Career Insight Given By Professionals

There are a number of practicing professionals teaching at Marist College this year in the Communications department and the Paralegal Studies Program.

The professionals teaching in the Communications department are Mrs. Mimi McAndrew, a reporter for The Poughkeepsie Journal, who teaches Journalism, Mr. Louis Pells, President of WEOK, who teaches a radio course, and Mr. James Gatto, director of Cablevision, who teaches Visual and Aural Technique and who is also working with Special Topics in the Communications advanced studies project.

According to department chairman, Dr. Jephtha Lanning, these people are beneficial to students because they give their classes a working knowledge that cannot be provided by those who are only theoretically and academically trained. "These people are individuals who are practicing professionals, they are in a position to give students insights to the craft of their choice," Dr. Lanning says.

In addition to these people there are professional supervisors in the mid Hudson area who oversee Marist communication students in senior seminar. Marist students are interning at various places in the area such as WHVW, Dwelly and Bolger advertising in Poughkeepsie, The Poughkeepsie Journal, Hudson Valley Newspapers Inc., Wappingers School Media Center, and Community Children's Theater of Poughkeepsie.

Dr. Lanning says that working with professionals enables students to get contacts and leads for their careers. "Professionals bring in their background and their present experiences that are invaluable to those pursuing a career in that field," he adds.

The professionals teaching in the Paralegal Studies program are Mr. Robert Ostertag, an attorney who is teaching Introduction to Law and Paraprofessionalism, Mr. Robert Buchner, another attorney who is teaching Business Law, and Mr. Jack Economou, an attorney and the former mayor of Poughkeepsie, who is teaching Issues in Constitutional Law.

Dr. William Olson, chairman of the department says he is getting positive feedback so far about the presence of these professionals. "They bring a unique expertise to the campus," says Dr. Olson. He also adds that this is a way of opening the campus to the community and the community to the campus.

rock. Henry Paul, Billy Jones, and Hughie Thomasson combine the vocals well with "There Goes Another Love Song" and "Song In The Breeze". When Billy Jones sings "It Follows from your Heart" he sounds like Neal Young. Side two picks up the tempo with "Waterhole", which is an instrumental. The number one song on the album is "Green Grass and High Tides" which is where the Outlaws display their ability to rock and roll. This album gets a 1/2 volume. Doobie Brothers, "Stampede" (Warner Bros.)

This is the fourth album for the Doobie Brothers. All three of their prior albums hit number one and "Stampede" is no exception. The album consists of eleven arrangements all of which justify the success of the Doobie

Brothers. There are a total of 14 guest artists on the album. A few notables are Maria Moldaur who sings "I Cheat the Hangman" and Curtis Mayfield who arranged the strings and horns on "Music Man."

A new Doobie Brother is Kieth Knudsen, drummer. This makes a grand total of six Doobies. Side one starts off with "Sweet Maxine" which sets the mood for the remaining tunes which include "Texas Lullaby" and "Music Man". Side two is equally good with "Take Mr In Your Arms" and "Double Dealin' Flour Flusher".

Some of the elements that make the Doobie Brothers good is that they are tight and devote equal time to lyrics and song writing. This is a recommended album and rated at full volume.

Vikings Win 34-28

By Thomas McTernan

The Marist Vikings took advantage of four Siena fumbles to build a 28-0 lead midway through the second quarter, but had to struggle to hold off the surging Indians 34-28 in a non-league battle at Loudonville Saturday.

Siena, winless in three outings, went to the air late in the first half, after failing to generate a rushing attack. With quarterback Skip Caark riddling the Marist secondary for 21 completions and 191 yards on 46 attempts, the Indians outscored the visitors 21-6 in the second half and fell short by just one TD.

"We scouted them beforehand and found nothing that indicated they would go to a passing formation," coach Ron Levine conceded. "It was a difficult proposition. We made some adjustments but we had to be conservative to protect our lead." Indeed, Siena had averaged just 66 yards passing in their two previous defeats.

For the first time this season, Marist did not lose a single fumble. Instead it was the Indians who were hit with fumbles, losing the ball on each of their first three series. Viking lineman Art Ozols pounced on the first, on the second play of the game. Fullback Dave Pilon then accounted for 31 of the 40 yard scoring drive that ended with Brian Hilliker, who replaced Nick Mancuso in the backfield, scoring from the two. Pilon booted the point - after to give Marist a 7-0 lead.

On the next series, Siena moved the ball 37 yards to the Marist 43 before they fumbled again; Jim Pagano recovering for the Vikings. With Mike Altomare rushing for 35 yards of three carries the Vikings moved down to the home 4 - yard line as the quarter ended. Quarterback Phil Colangelo opened the second session with his first TD pass of the year to Jim Van Voorhis for a 13-0 lead as the PAT attempt was blocked.

Marist recovered a third fumble on the ensuing kickoff and Colangelo hit Van Voorhis on a 30 - yarder on the next play for the score. Hilliker then ran around left end for the conversion and it was 21-0. Six minutes later Indian punter Dan Fruscio dropped the snap on fourth down and Marist took over on the Siena 36. Five plays later Pilon scored on a nine - yarder and then kicked the extra point giving Marist a 28-0 bulge.

It was at this point that Siena switched strategy and Caark culminated a 68 - yard scoring march with an 18 - yard pass to Bob Denman. Cosmo Crupi's kick made it 28-7 just before intermission.

Marist opened the second half by marching to the Indian 7 but failed on four tries to score.

However, they got a break when Caark's attempted pass from the end zone was deflected into the hands of Mike Schlitte at the goal line. This proved to be the winning touchdown after the extra point was blocked and Marist led 34-7.

The Indians got on the board again at the end of the quarter when lineman Tom Burns blocked Mike Laffin's punt and fell on it in the end zone. In the final period, Denman made it 34-21 on a plunge from the one with four minutes left. After Marist was forced to punt Caark moved Siena 80 yards to paydirt hitting Fruscio from the 17 with 39 seconds left. The Indians then tried an onside kick but Marist recovered and ran out the clock.

"I was happy the way we played in the first half, but in the second half, we always got the ball inside the ten and could not move the ball without taking risks," Levine noted. "The only way to stop their spread offense is with a 4-3 defense, something we haven't used this year."

He did add that they are working on such a defense in preparation for Saturday's big game in Teaneck with Farleigh Dickinson (kickoff 2 p.m.). FDU is 2-1 overall coming off a 12-6 loss to Iona after their surprise 13-12 upset over Pace two weeks ago.

FIRMINO NAITZA NAMED ATHLETE OF WEEK

Firmino Naitza, a freshman from the Bronx, N.Y. has been named Marist College Athlete of the Week for the week ending October 4.

Firmino, a center - forward on the undefeated soccer team, scored both goals in the team's 2-1 win over Kings last Wednesday. He also scored Saturday's 3-2 win over Fairfield and has five goals this season.

NOTES FROM THE SPORTS DESK:

Most people didn't know it but the Vikings were ranked number 1 among the nation's club teams by the National Club Sports Association before its 29-7 loss to Brooklyn two weeks ago. Marist was ranked sixth before Saturday's 34-28 win over Siena. . . Met-8 stats show Mike Altomare first in scoring and fourth in rushing . . . Mike Laffin's four interceptions are top in NCSA . . .

Soccer game with New Paltz that was postponed twice has been rescheduled for Monday, Oct. 13 . . . Scores of Intramural football Men's league last week: "Goobers Tool" held off "The Bearded Clams" 12-8, and Leo 4th and "Silver Dollars" played to a scoreless tie . . . In coed volleyball "Third Time Around" beat 9th Floor and "Rudolph's Reindeer"; the "Reindeer" also lost to the "Hemorrhoids"; "Walter's Volleyers" defeated House I but were trounced by "Ms.'s"; and "EM's" outplayed "E.M.H.O." . . . "Yo-Yo's All-Stars" claimed a forfeit over "Penthouse" in coed football. . .

All candidates for women's basketball will meet in the gym Monday, October 20, at 3 p.m. . . Goldman on Naitza twins, "They have to be the best in soccer skills ever to come to this school." If only Ludovico Aprigliano hadn't gone abroad, we would have had our own version of the "Italian Connection". . . Women's crew team was defeated by Trinity here Saturday . . . Finals of intramural tennis tournament sponsored by CUB and the athletic department will take place Tuesday, Oct. 14 . . . The latest sport to be organized at Marist appears to be baseball, only 138 years after Abner Doubleday called "Strike three."

THIS WEEK IN MARIST SPORTS (Oct. 9-15)

Saturday, Oct. 11 - Football: at Farleigh Dickinson - 2 p.m. Soccer: Dowling at Leonidoff Field - 2 p.m. Cross Country: Maritime , Brooklyn, York at Van Cortlandt - 11 a.m.

Monday, Oct. 13 - Soccer: New Paltz at Leonidoff Field - 4 p.m.

Wednesday, Oct. 15 - Cross Country: CACC Championships (also Baptist Bible, E. Conn. St.) at Nyack - 4 p.m. Soccer: at Ramapo 3:30 p.m.

Booters "Best Ever"

By Thomas McTernan

The team that coach "Doc" Goldman has termed "potentially our best ever" concluded a perfect week Tuesday with a 4-0 shutout over N.Y. Maritime at Leonidoff Field. The win gives the Red Foxes a 5-0 record, marking their best start ever. They are also just three victories short of last year's total with eleven games yet to play.

A three-goal outburst early in the second half broke open the Maritime contest. Marist had a 1-0 halftime lead on Zahone Naitza's ninth goal of the season. John McGraw made it 2-0 by converting a rebound in front with 4:58 gone by in the second half. Within the next three minutes, Al Robinson headed one home and Fermino Naitza scored his fifth goal off his own rebound. Goalies Jay Metzger and Biff Daino shared the shutout for Marist.

"I thought we played very well and controlled the game with good passing," said Goldman. "We came out real strong in the second half, which is a tribute to our conditioning and confidence."

Last Wednesday the Foxes opened their CACC schedule with a 2-1 win over Kings as Firmino Naitza scored both goals, the winner coming with just 3 minutes left in the game.

Saturday Marist met a rough team on a rough field but were able to come away with a 3-2 win over Fairfield. Firmino Naitza, John McGraw and Kevin McGhee all connected for the victors.

"We have a very exciting offense and have been playing very well together," points Goldman. He warns, however, "It's too early to get excited about the NCAA. We still have some tough games coming up." He also singled out the strong, steady play of fullback Jim Titone. "Jim has been outstanding on defense despite playing with a young team."

The team has three home games this week. They will face Dowling on Saturday, New Paltz on Monday and Ramapo on Wednesday. All games will be at Leonidoff Field.

Foxes Place Second

The Marist cross country team placed second in both the JV and Varsity races in the 3rd Annual Southeastern Massachusetts University Invitational, missing first place in both races by a mere three points to host SMU. Last year Marist placed third. The Running Red Foxes had all 11 runners who made the overnight trip come back with awards from the meet and also won the second - place trophy for the team. Marist was the only school of the 11 entered to have its entire team of seven varsity runners come in the top twenty, thus all seven winning trophies. Fred Kolthay led Marist with a fourth place finish in a new Marist course record of 24:50. Brian Costine, Marist's Most Valuable and Most Improved Runner for the meet, ran a great race in placing sixth, just two seconds behind Kolthay. Bob Coufal set a Marist frosh record for the course in 25:15 as he placed tenth. Adding strong depth for the Marist harriers were Tom Luke who placed 15th in 25:41, Jeff Blanchard, 16th in 25:43, George McCutcheon, 18th in 25:50, and Ric Bond, 20th in 26:00. "It was a tremendous team effort," said

Marist Coach Rich Stevens. "Everyone ran 26:00 or better - fantastic!"

Charles Gysin led the Marist JVs as he came in third place in the JV race with a 26:39 clocking. Marist showed good balance and depth as Gysin was closely followed by Dave Schools, 4th in 26:42, Steve Meier, 5th in 26:53, and Tom Gibbons, 7th in 27:04. All received ribbons for their performances. SMU scored 9 points in the three - man scoring while Marist had 12. In the varsity race SMU had 48 to Marist's 51.

Marist puts its 10-1 season record and nine team win streak on the line this Saturday at VanCortlandt Park as they take on always - tough William Paterson College (1-4 lifetime vs. them with a 28 - 29 loss last year as one of only three teams to beat the Long Red Line in 1974), New York Maritime, York, and Brooklyn College at Van-Cortlandt Park at 11 a.m. Marist has won 13 straight at "Vanny" with the last loss coming in 1972 to Queens College.

Next The Running Red Foxes try to dethrone 1974 champion Nyack College next Wednesday in the Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference Championships at Nyack. Marist will be looking for revenge of the team, which upset them on the Marist course a year ago.
